World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality And Development:

World Development Report 2012 World Bank, 2011-09-01 This year's World Development Report looks at facts and trends regarding the various dimensions of gender equality in the context of the development process World Development Report 2012 The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank, 2011-09-28 The lives of women around the world have improved dramatically at a pace and scope difficult to imagine even 25 years ago Women have made unprecedented gains in rights education health and access to jobs and livelihoods More countries than ever guarantee equal rights in property marriage and other domains Gender gaps in primary schooling have closed in many countries while in a third of all countries girls now outnumber boys in secondary school And more young women than men attend universities in 60 countries Women are using their education to participate more in the labor force they now make up for 40 percent of the global labor force and 43 percent of its farmers Moreover women now live longer than men in every region of the world Despite the progress gaps remain in many areas Women are more likely to die relative to males in many low and middle income countries than their counterparts in rich countries especially in childhood and during their reproductive years Primary and secondary school enrollments for girls remain much lower than for boys in many Sub Saharan African countries and some parts of South Asia as well as among disadvantaged populations Women are more likely than men to work as unpaid family laborers or in the informal sector to farm smaller plots and grow less profitable crops operate in smaller firms and less profitable sectors and generally earn less Women especially poor women have less say over decisions and less control over household resources And in most countries fewer women participate in formal politics than men and are underrepresented in the upper echelons The World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality and Development argues that closing these persistent gender gaps matters It matters because gender equality is a core development objective in its own right But it is also smart economics Greater gender equality can enhance productivity improve development outcomes for the next generation and make institutions more representative Building on a growing body of knowledge on the economics of gender equality and development the Report identifies the areas where gender gaps are most significant both intrinsically and in terms of their potential development payoff and where growth alone cannot solve the issues It then sets forth four priorities for public action Reducing excess female mortality and closing education gaps where they remain Improving access to economic opportunities for women Increasing women's voice and agency in the household and in society Limiting the reproduction of gender inequality across generations World Development Report 2012 World Bank, 2011-09-22 The WDR 2012 Gender Equality and Development will focus on the evolution of gender equality across the world in the context of the development process The report will consider gender equality as a core development goal in itself and will argue that gender equality matters for the pace of development Improvements in gender equality can generate gains in economic efficiency and improvements in other development outcomes And gender equality has consequences for the quality and representativeness of the institutions a society develops For key dimensions of gender equality the report will show that although many women around the world still continue to struggle with gender based disadvantages much has changed for the better and at a more rapid pace than ever before But the report will also show that progress needs to be expanded protected and deepened In order to understand why progress has varied across dimensions of gender equality and between countries the report will look at how markets interact with formal and informal institutions to influence household decision making by providing incentives shaping preferences or imposing constraints Markets and institutions can combine to provide strong incentives for greater gender equality but can also fail to do so if they treat males and females differentially Policymakers and practitioners still face gaps in knowledge both in how gender equality matters for development and how best to incorporate these links in policy design This WDR aims to bridge these gaps by building upon the growing body of multidisciplinary theory evidence and data on these links while highlighting the knowledge gaps that remain World development report 2012 World Bank,2011 Gender Equality and Development World Bank,2011 Gender equality is at the heart of development

The International Handbook on Gender, Migration and Transnationalism Laura Oso,Natalia Ribas-Mateos,2013-01-01 The highly unique International Handbook on Gender Migration and Transnationalism represents a state of the art review of the critical importance of the links between gender and migration in a globalizing world It draws on original largely field based contributions by authors across a range of disciplinary provenances worldwide This unprecedented and ambitious Handbook addresses core debates on issues of gender migration transnationalism and development from a migrationdevelopment nexus Using an analytical approach it explores the influence of global changes namely the analysis of transnational migration flows from the perspective of the articulation of production and reproduction chains Particular attention is paid to so called global care chains with new models developed around the emerging trends played out by women in contemporary mobility flows This path breaking Handbook will provide a thought provoking read for a multidisciplinary audience of academics researchers and students of social science disciplines encompassing economics sociology geography demography political science and political sociology migration studies family and gender studies and labour markets The Handbook will also be of major interest to and importance for local and national governments international agencies and their policymakers and administrators Handbook on Gender in World Politics Jill Steans,Daniela Tepe-Belfrage,2016-07-27 The Handbook on Gender in World Politics is an up to date comprehensive multi disciplinary compendium of scholarship in gender studies The text provides an indispensable reference guide for scholars and students interrogating gender issues in international and global contexts Substantive areas covered include statecraft citizenship and the politics of belonging international law and human rights media and communications technologies political economy development global governance and transnational visions of politics and solidarities Human Capital in Gender and Development Sydney Calkin, 2018-05-11 Human Capital in Gender and Development addresses timely feminist debates about the relationship between feminism neoliberalism and international development The book engages with human capital theory a labour economics theory associated with the Chicago School that now animates a wide range of political and economic governance The book argues that human capital theory has been instrumental in constructing an economic vision of gender equality as a tool for economic growth and girls and women of the global South as the quintessential entrepreneurs of the post global financial crisis era The book s critique of human capital theory and its role in Gender and Development gives insights into the kinds of development interventions that typify the Gender Equality as Smart Economics agenda of the World Bank and other international development institutions From the World Bank to NGOs and private businesses discourses about the economic benefits of gender equality and women s empowerment underpin a range of development interventions that aim to unlock the untapped potential of the world s women Its implications are both conceptual and material producing more interventionist forms of development governance increased power by private sector actors in development and de politicization of gender equality issues Human Capital in Gender and Development will be of particular interest to feminist scholars in Politics International Relations Development Studies and Human Geography It will also be a useful resource for teaching key debates about feminism neoliberalism and international development

Age of Discovery Ian Goldin, Chris Kutarna, 2024-03-26 A study of how to address our contemporary renaissance by examining similarities with the original Renaissance The present is a contest between the bright and dark sides of discovery To avoid being torn apart by its stresses we need to recognize the fact and gain courage and wisdom from the past Age of Discovery shows how Now is the best moment in history to be alive but we have never felt more anxious or divided Human health aggregate wealth and education are flourishing Scientific discovery is racing forward But the same global flows of trade capital people and ideas that make gains possible for some people deliver big losses to others and make us all more vulnerable to one another Business and science are working giant revolutions upon our societies but our politics and institutions evolve at a much slower pace That s why in a moment when everyone ought to be celebrating giant global gains many of us are righteously angry at being left out and stressed about where we re headed To make sense of present shocks we need to step back and recognize we ve been here before The first Renaissance the time of Columbus Copernicus Gutenberg and others likewise redrew all maps of the world democratized communication and sparked a flourishing of creative achievement But their world also grappled with the same dark side of rapid change social division political extremism insecurity pandemics and other unintended consequences of discovery Now is the second Renaissance We can still flourish if we learn from the first Praise for Age of Discovery A bold mega analysis of global education health prosperity and technology incisive and rich in context and granularity Nature Essential reading to navigate the waves of innovation we face today Garry Kasparov 13th World Chess Champion and Chairman of the Human Rights Foundation The Politics of Global Competitiveness Paul Cammack, 2022-02-03 Marx predicted in Capital 1867 that as capitalism became global patterns of work would be transformed and workers would need to develop versatility flexibility and mobility This general law of social production as he called it is now in evidence all around us in global value chains zero hours contracts and contract work organised through digital platforms It results from competition between capitalists scientific and technological revolutions in production and incessant advances in the division of labour as production processes are broken down into ever smaller steps This book documents the leading roles of the Paris based Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and the Washington based World Bank as advocates of these developments They do not as generally supposed simply represent the interests of the advanced economies or the West and their transnational corporations They promote a single global model of capitalist development without limits and on a genuinely global scale It calls upon all states to adjust continually to the structural and social demands of competitiveness which they see as essential to the global hegemony of capital over labour The OECD and the World Bank propose policies that give girls and women equal access to education and paid work reform welfare to make work pay introduce flexible labour contracts that make hiring and firing easier focus education on skills that boost employability and draw workers in the developing world from the informal sector into the formal sector where they can be more productive This is the politics of global competitiveness From "Climate-Smart" to "Climate-Just Agriculture" Anthony Pahnke, 2025-07-03 Combining innovative social theory with ongoing policy discussions on climate change this book analyzes past and present efforts at challenging global poverty through reforming the dynamics of worldwide agricultural production Focusing on the efforts of the World Bank and CGIAR research centers particularly through research and projects that have been launched by the International Maize and Wheat Improvement Center CIMMYT and the International Food Policy Research Institute IFPRI Climate Smart to Climate Just exposes how neoliberal principles of limited government and individual entrepreneurship have expanded through the development of Climate Smart Agriculture At the same an alternative Climate Just Agriculture is becoming possible as rightwing populists have disrupted international free trade orthodoxy and social movement demands for food sovereignty gain traction in key international spaces As Pahnke explains in this innovative account Climate Just Agriculture includes structural changes to free trade agreements that would build from local and regional food systems to make them resilient in the face of the adverse effects of climate change This resiliency moreover allows marginalized groups the capacity to create and participate in markets that allow for greater self sufficiency to push back on colonialism and imperialism Written in a clear and accessible style this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of sociology environmental studies and politics as well as for policymakers and professionals involved in climate change policy and the agriculture and food industry Getting to Equal World Bank, 2011 Mainstreaming Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment Into Ghana's Development Efforts, 2015 Measuring Gender Equality Josefina Posadas, Pierella Paci, Zurab Sajaia, Michael Lokshin, 2017-04-10 Gender equality is a core development objective in its own right and also smart development policy and business practice No society can develop sustainably without giving men and women equal power to shape their own lives and contribute to their families communities and countries And yet critical gender gaps continue to exist in all countries and across multiple dimensions The gender module of the World Bank's ADePT software platform produces a comprehensive set of tables and graphs using household surveys to help diagnose and analyze the prevailing gender inequalities at the country level and over time This book provides a step by step guide to the use of the ADePT software and an introduction to its basic economic concepts and econometric methods The module is organized around the framework proposed by the World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality and Development It covers gender differences in outcomes in three primary dimensions of gender equality human capital or endowments economic opportunities and voice and agency Particular focus is given to the analysis and decomposition techniques that allow for further exploring of gender gaps in economic opportunities

How Does Gender Equality Drive Human Capacity Training and Leadership Development in Organizations? Biliamin Adeyeye, 2019-02-05 Master's Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Pedagogy Job Education Further Education grade 3.0 Tai Solarin University of Education course Educational Management language English abstract The following work examines the gender equity and gender equality amongst training staff of local government education authorities in Lagos State Nigeria Organizational building of human capacity development continues to become a major factor and issue of discourse because of the fundamental role it plays in the economic growth and development of countries in the world It drives the employment of personnel and the movement towards achieving the organizational goals It is an undeniable fact that organizational goals are achievable because of the type of staff list of an organization It is therefore imperative to assess how gender equity drives human capacity training in organizations In this work the Local Government Education Authority LGEA of Lagos acts as a field work A survey research design was used for the study The sampled population consisted of 1 314 senior members of staff of twenty LGEAs in Lagos State Five of these LGEAs which is twenty percent were selected at random using simple random sampling procedure Then stratified sampling procedure was used to select the sample size from the chosen LGEAs The Bowley's formula was used to calculate the sample in order to have an empirically backed up data The research employed the human capital theory to assess the gender factor among male and female workers and if they are open to the same opportunities in the organizational structure It was found that gender equity existed among staff of Local Government Education Authority in Lagos State in the aspect of opportunities open to women and men in the area of human capacity training and leadership development except that the degree of association for women is at a lower percentage compared to men It is therefore recommended that the use of eclectic mixture of the equity theory and human capital theory gives not only a better understanding of how equally men and women are treated when given the same opportunities but also in clearly measuring the extent to which men and women perform on their job towards the achievement of organizational goals given the same training The State of Gender Justice in the Arab Region Leila Hanafi,2017 This study maps the current state of gender justice in the Arab region documenting barriers as well as opportunities the study provides insight into the state of gender justice through a legal or de jure perspective as well as a de facto perspective It achieves this by reviewing significant legislative political and social changes that have taken place between 2004 and 2016 Page 4 of cover

Economic Report on Africa 2012 United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa,2012 This publication assesses long term trends in Africa s growth analyses the factors behind the recent growth momentum and provides global perspectives on the key challenges to be addressed which are critical to unleashing the role of Africa as a global growth pole The main aim of this publication is to facilitate discussion on concrete policy directions and actions at both national and regional levels that would help Africa realize its growth potential As in previous editions the first part of the report examines recent economic and social developments as well as some selected current and emerging development issues in Africa The second part focuses on the question of how to address key constraints and unleash the potential of the continent as a new pole of global growth The World Bank Research Observer ,2013 UCLA Journal of International Law and Foreign Affairs ,2013

National Human Development Report 2014 - Ethiopia United Nations Publications,2015 Over the 15 years since the countrys last National Human Development Report NHDR was published Ethiopia has undergone significant economic and social changes and has recorded some of the highest growth rates in the world over 10 per cent in some years However Ethiopias Human Development Index HDI and its relative ranking have not moved appreciably during the past decade Even though Ethiopia is one of the 10 countries globally that has attained the largest absolute gains in its HDI over the last several years it still ranks 173rd out of 186 countries in the latest UNDP Human Development Report It is this development challenge that underlines the fact that the preparation of the NHDR is so opportune now and why the focus of the report on inclusive growth for sustainable human development is so apposite In 1998 when the last NHDR was written the development challenges facing the country were considerably different

Embracing the Beat of Expression: An Emotional Symphony within World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality And Development

In some sort of eaten by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous interaction, the melodic beauty and mental symphony developed by the prepared word usually disappear in to the background, eclipsed by the persistent sound and disruptions that permeate our lives. However, located within the pages of World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality And Development a marvelous literary prize full of organic feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a wonderful musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on a mental trip, well unraveling the concealed tunes and profound affect resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths of this touching analysis, we shall discover the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing fashion, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
