

Think Through Math Games

TTM games prime students for the lesson by allowing them to practice procedures and recall facts that may be helpful in the lesson. TTM games build fluency and skills so students can better see relationships in new content. TTM games are designed so that success in the game is based on success with the math, not just success in mastering the game play.

Games are included as warm-up activities in most TTM lessons. These activities serve to engage students and ready them to learn new content.

There are 15 unique game types listed below. Each type of game has between 2 and 5 skins, which changes the appearance, but not the functionality of the game. Each of the 15 game types is designed to address specific content goals. As students play the games, they receive in-game, dynamic feedback to address errors and misconceptions.

The Work of Mathematics Teacher Educators

Kathleen Lynch-Davis, Robin L. Rider, 2015-10-01 Originally published in 2004 A major focus of teacher education is the development of preservice teachers However it should not be the only focus of those who work in teacher education Educating inservice teachers is equally important and the conversation among those involved in mathematics teacher education needs to include discussion of this group as well This conversation also highlights a need for professional development for teacher educators and research on the development of teacher educators This monograph discusses issues in educating all of these groups of individuals in an effort to continue the conversation among those involved in mathematics teacher education
