Thinking Architecture Peter Zumthor, 1999-01-01 In order to design a building with a sensuous connection to life one must think in a way that goes far beyond form and construction In these essays Peter Zumthor expresses his motivation in designing buildings which speak to our emotions and understanding in so many ways and possess a powerful and unmistakable presence and personality This book whose first edition has been out of print for years has been expanded to include three new essays Does Beauty Have a Form The Magic of the Real and Light in the Landscape It has been freshly illustrated throughout with new color photographs of Zumthor's new home and studio in Haldenstein taken specially for this edition by Laura Padgett and received a new typography by Hannele Grönlund

Michael Bay Lutz Koepnick, 2018-02-05 If size counts for anything Michael Bay towers over his contemporaries His summer defining event films involve extraordinary production costs and churn enormous box office returns His ability to mastermind breathtaking spectacles of action mayhem and special effects continually push the movie industry as much as the medium of film toward new frontiers Lutz Koepnick engages the bigness of works like Armageddon and the Transformers movies to explore essential questions of contemporary filmmaking and culture Combining close analysis and theoretical reflection Koepnick shows how Bay's films knowingly or not address profound issues about what it means to live in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries According to Koepnick's astute readings no one eager to understand the state of cinema today can ignore Bay's work Bay's cinema of world making and transnational reach not only exemplifies interlocking processes of cultural and economic globalization It urges us to contemplate the future of moving images of memory matter community and experience amid a time of rampant political populism and ever accelerating technological change An eye opening look at one of Hollywood's most polarizing directors Michael Bay illuminates what energizes the films of this cinematic and cultural force
