Will Work For The Untold Stories Of Homelessness:

Will Work For David Robeck, 2014-07-06 Homeless: The Untold Story of a Mother's Struggle in Crazy Rich Singapore Liyana Dhamirah, 2019-09-30 Ten years ago Liyana Dhamirah was in a precarious situation at 22 she was heavily pregnant and had no place to call home For Liyana home was often unstable Once a bright teenager full of optimism she faced uncertainty and found no support from family government agencies and welfare groups She had nowhere to go no one to turn to When she started living on a beach in Sembawang she discovered a community of people families who were homeless just like her They stuck together and watched out for each other even when there were raids She learned that in prosperous Singapore the homeless are not always identifiable by appearance alone Months later journalists eventually uncovered Liyana's story and how she navigated a bureaucracy of obstacles Today she is a successful entrepreneur and this is her memoir

Who Needs Experts? John Schofield, 2016-02-17 Taking the significant Faro Convention on the Value of Cultural Heritage for Society Council of Europe 2005 as its starting point this book presents pragmatic views on the rise of the local and the everyday within cultural heritage discourse Bringing together a range of case studies within a broad geographic context it examines ways in which authorised or expert views of heritage can be challenged and recognises how everyone has expertise in familiarity with their local environment The book concludes that local agenda and everyday places matter and examines how a realignment of heritage practice to accommodate such things could usefully contribute to more inclusive and socially relevant cultural agenda
