The War Romance of the Salvation Army Evangeline Booth, Grace Livingston Hill, 1919 The War Romance of the Salvation Army Evangeline Booth, Grace Livingston Hill, 2015-06-01 In presenting the narrative of some of the doings of the Salvation Army during the world's great conflict for liberty I am but answering the insistent call of a most generous and appreciative public When moved to activity by the apparent need there was never a thought that our humble services would awaken the widespread admiration that has developed In fact we did not expect anything further than appreciative recognition from those immediately benefited and the knowledge that our people have proved so useful is an abundant compensation for all toil and sacrifice for service is our watchword and there is no reward equal to that of doing the most good to the most people in the most need The War Romance of the Salvation Army Grace Livingston Hill, 2015-06-18 A Different Sort of Christian Romance from Grace Livingston Hill The War Romance of the Salvation Army by Grace Livingston Hill is a romance novel but one unlike her other books Instead of focusing on the developing love between a man and a woman this book features the romance between the U S Army and the Salvation Army This book features a collection of stories about the women who traveled to the front lines during World War I This Xist Classics edition has been professionally formatted for e readers with a linked table of contents This eBook also contains a bonus book club leadership guide and discussion questions We hope you'll share this book with your friends neighbors and colleagues and can't wait to hear what you have to say about it Xist Publishing is a digital first publisher Xist Publishing creates books for the touchscreen generation and is dedicated to helping everyone develop a lifetime love of reading no matter what form it takes The War Romance of the Salvation Army Evangeline Booth, Grace Livingston Hill, 2003-07-01 The War Romance of the Salvation Army Evangeline Booth, 2018-08-14 The War Romance of the Salvation Army by Evangeline Booth In presenting the narrative of some of the doings of the Salvation Army during the world's great conflict for liberty I am but answering the insistent call of a most generous and appreciative public When moved to activity by the apparent need there was never a thought that our humble services would awaken the widespread admiration that has developed In fact we did not expect anything further than appreciative recognition from those immediately benefited and the knowledge that our people have proved so useful is an abundant compensation for all toil and sacrifice for service is our watchword and there is no reward equal to that of doing the most good to the most people in the most need When our National Armies were being gathered for overseas work the likelihood of a great need was self evident and the most logical and most natural thing for the Salvation Army to do was to hold itself in readiness for action That we were straitened in our circumstances is well understood more so by us than by anybody else The story as told in these pages is necessarily incomplete for the obvious reason that the work is yet in progress We entered France ahead of our Expeditionary Forces and it is my purpose to continue my people's ministries until the last of our troops return At the present moment the number of our workers overseas equals that of any day yet experienced Because of the pressure that this service brings together with the unmentioned executive cares incident to the vast work of the Salvation Army in these United States I felt compelled to requisition some competent person to aid me in the literary work associated with the production of a concrete story In this I was most fortunate for a writer of established worth and national fame in the person of Mrs Grace Livingston Hill came to my assistance and having for many days had the privilege of working with her in the sifting process gathering from the mass of matter that had accumulated and which was being daily added to with every confidence I am able to commend her patience and toil How well she has done her work the book will bear its own testimony We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience

The War Romance of the Salvation Army Grace Livingston Hill, 2014-12-30 Into the heavy shadows that swathe the feet of the tall buildings in West Fourteenth Street New York late in the evening there slipped a dark form It was so carefully wrapped in a black cloak that it was difficult to tell among the other shadows whether it was man or woman and immediately it became a part of the darkness that hovered close to the entrances along the way It slid almost imperceptibly from shadow to shadow until it crouched flatly against the wall by the steps of an open door out of which streamed a wide band of light that flung itself across the pavement

Ontario Library Review and Book-selection Guide, 1916 Quarterly Booklist, 1918 The Open Shelf, 1917 Female Philanthropy in the Interwar World Eve Colpus, 2018-02-08

Female philanthropy was at the heart of transformative thinking about society and the role of individuals in the interwar period. In Britain, in the aftermath of the First World War, professionalization, the authority of the social sciences, mass democracy, internationalism and new media sounded the future, and for many, the death knell of elite practices of benevolence. Eve Colpus tells a new story about a world in which female philanthropists reshaped personal models of charity for modern projects of social connectedness and new forms of cultural and political encounter. Centering the stories of four remarkable British-born women—Evangeline Booth, Lettice Fisher, Emily Kinnaird, and Muriel Paget—Colpus recaptures the breadth of the social, cultural and political influence of women's philanthropy upon practices of social activism. Female Philanthropy in the Interwar World is not only a new history of women's civic agency in the interwar period but also a study of how female philanthropists explored approaches to identification and cultural difference that emphasized friendship in relation to interwar modernity. Richly detailed, the book's perspective on women's social interventionism offers a new reading of the centrality of personal relationships to philanthropy that can inform alternative models of giving today.
