What Has Passed and What Remains Peter Friederici,2016-12-15 Ferrell Secakuku remembers the ancient farming rites of his Hopi people but saw them replaced by a cash economy Sheep rancher Joe Manterola recalls watching hard scrabble farms on what is now tree studded grassland on Garland Prairie Navajo Rose Gishie once saw freshly dug holes fill with clean drinkable water where none rises today All over northern Arizona people have seen the landscapes change and livelihoods with them In this remarkable book they share their stories Thirteen narratives from ranchers foresters scientists Native American farmers and others tell how northern Arizona landscapes and livelihoods reflect rapid social and environmental change The twentieth century saw huge changes as Arizona's human population swelled and vacation home developments arose in the backcountry Riparian areas dried up cattle ranching declined and some wildlife species vanished while others thrived The people whose words are preserved here have watched it all happen The book is a product of Northern Arizona University's Ecological Oral Histories project which has been collecting remembrances of long time area residents who have observed changes to the land from the 1930s to the present day It carves a wide swath from the Arizona Strip to the Mogollon Rim from valleys near Prescott to the New Mexico line It takes readers to the Bar Heart Ranch north of Williams and to the Doy Reidhead Ranch southeast of Holbrook to the forests of Flagstaff and the mesas of Indian country Enhanced with more than fifty illustrations this book brings environmental change down to earth by allowing us to see it through the eyes of those whose lives it has directly touched What Has Passed and What Remains is a window on the past that carries important lessons for the future Technical Bulletin, 1997 The Beast in the Garden David

M R O Connor explores the extreme measures scientists are taking to try and save them from captive breeding and genetic management to de extinction Paradoxically the more we intervene to save species the less wild they often become In stories of sixteenth century galleon excavations panther tracking in Florida swamps ancient African rainforests Neanderthal tool making and cryogenic DNA banks O Connor investigates the philosophical questions of an age in which we play god with earth s biodiversity Each chapter in this beautifully written book focuses on a unique species from the charismatic northern white rhinoceros to the infamous passenger pigeon and the people entwined in the animals fates Incorporating natural history and evolutionary biology with conversations with eminent ethicists O Connor s narrative goes to the heart of the human enterprise What should we preserve of wilderness as we hurtle toward a future in which technology is present in nearly every aspect of our lives How can we co exist with species when our existence and their survival appear to be pitted against one another

Landscapes of Fraud Thomas E. Sheridan,2016-05-26 From the actions of Europeans in the seventeenth century to the real estate deals of the modern era people making a living off the land in southern Arizona have been repeatedly robbed of their way of life History has recorded more than three centuries of speculative failures that never amounted to much but left dispossessed people in their wake This book seeks to excavate those failures to examine the new social spaces the schemers struggled to create and the existing social spaces they destroyed Landscapes of Fraud explores how the penetration of the evolving capitalist world system created and destroyed communities in the Upper Santa Cruz Valley of Arizona from the late 1600s to the 1970s Thomas Sheridan has melded history anthropology and critical geography to create a penetrating view of greed and power and their lasting effect on those left powerless Sheridan first examines how O odham culture was fragmented by the arrival of the Spanish telling how autonomous communities moving across landscapes in seasonal rounds were reduced to a mission world of subordination Sheridan then considers the fate of the Tumac cori grant and Baca Float No 3 another land grant He tells the unbroken story of land fraud from Manuel Mar a G ndara s purchase of the abandoned Tumac cori grant at public auction in 1844 through the bankruptcy of the shady real estate developers who had fraudulently promoted housing projects at Rio Rico during the 1960s and 70s As the Upper Santa Cruz Valley underwent a wrenching transition from a landscape of community to a landscape of fraud the betrayal of the O odham became complete when land that most elemental form of human space was transformed from a communal resource into a commodity bought and sold for its future value Today Mission Tumac cori stands as a romantic icon of the past while the landscapes that supported it lay buried under speculative schemes that continue to haunt our history
