Wartime Shipyard Katherine Archibald, 2022-05-27 This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1947 Embattled Dreams Kevin Starr, 2002 This volume deals with the years of World War II and after In the 1940s California changed from a regional centre into the dominant economic social and cultural force it has been in America ever since Ain't Got No Home Erin Royston Battat, 2014-03-17 Most scholarship on the mass migrations of African Americans and southern whites during and after the Great Depression treats those migrations as separate phenomena strictly divided along racial lines In this engaging interdisciplinary work Erin Royston Battat argues instead that we should understand these Depression era migrations as interconnected responses to the capitalist collapse and political upheavals of the early twentieth century During the 1930s and 1940s Battat shows writers and artists of both races created migration stories specifically to bolster the black white Left alliance Defying rigid critical categories Battat considers a wide variety of media including literary classics by John Steinbeck and Ann Petry lost novels by Sanora Babb and William Attaway hobo novellas images of migrant women by Dorothea Lange and Elizabeth Catlett popular songs and histories and ethnographies of migrant shipyard workers This vibrant rereading and recovering of the period's literary and visual culture expands our understanding of the migration narrative by uniting the political and aesthetic goals of the black and white literary Left and illuminating the striking interrelationship between American populism and civil rights Prologue, 1991 The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science American Academy of Political and Social Science, 1947 The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, 1947-09 Black San Francisco Albert S. Broussard, 1993 This work explores race relations in the city of San Francisco where whites for the most part were outwardly civil to blacks while denying them employment opportunities and political power The author argues that it is essential to understand the nature of the racial caste system Bitter Fruit Maureen Honey, 1999 Publisher Fact Sheet This anthology corrects the distorted picture of African American women's roles in World War II through photos essays fiction poetry Women at work, 1941-1945. Wartime employment in the San Francisco Bay Area Sheila Tropp Lichtman, 1981 Continuity During Change in World War II Berkeley, California as Seen Through the Eyes of Children Natsuki Aruga, 1996 Class Arthur Marwick, 1980 A provocative and wide ranging historical overview of this vital social subject of class distinctions The author compares American French and British society since the Depression and concludes that in all three class is still an important factor American Labor in the Era of World War II Sally M. Miller, Daniel Cornford, 1995-04-25 The 1940s were a pivotal decade in the history of the American labor movement Large migrations significantly changed the composition of the industrial work force while simultaneously the organized labor movement sought to consolidate its base These essays examine topics including aspects of the institutional development of the labor movement at the national level while west coast case studies explore the conflicts generated at the workplace and in communities by the increased presence of women and minority workers American labor historians and labor studies specialists will find this collection fills a major void in the research on American labor
