Rethinking Education in the Age of Technology Allan Collins, Richard Halverson, 2018-04-13 How can schools make the most of both the technology and the learning potential of today's born-digital students? Allan Collins and Richard Halverson argue that new technologies have transformed our workplaces, our lives, and our culture, and it is time that we take the next step to transform learning in and out of schools. This book explains why and how today's educators, policymakers, and communities must adapt to provide all learners with access to the new learning tools of the 21st century. From publisher's description.

Student Activities in Today's Schools Edward J. Klesse, 2004-04-09 What are student activities? Why do schools have student activity groups? What are the benefits for students, schools, and communities? These are some of the questions that Student Activities in Today's Schools addresses. Klesse has reviewed relevant educational research to provide an overview of the essential learning for all youth that is available from participation. What are those benefits, and who benefits? Why don't all young people participate? Are there ways to make student activity programs in schools more inclusive? What will these programs look like in 5, 10, and 15 years? Schools must educate and develop our youth to meet the challenge of participation and survival in a global economy. The skills learned through student activities provide the foundation for adult participation as citizens of our democracy. So how do we best prepare our young people for the future? Read this book to find out.

Handbook of Research on Adapting Remote Learning Practices for Early Childhood and Elementary School Classrooms Courtney Dattola,

Ashley, 2021-12-17 Teaching is a demanding profession as there is constant fluctuation and evolution. A portion of teaching is the ability to be able to adapt to various environments especially shifting from in person instruction to online practices. Over the last few years early childhood and elementary school classrooms have been thrust into hybrid and remote learning environments and it is vital that educators and institutions adapt to new practices and create various outlets for teachers to be able to more adequately reach their young audience. The Handbook of Research on Adapting Remote Learning Practices for Early Childhood and Elementary School Classrooms is a critical resource to assist teachers as they develop online teaching practices and work to cater to young students so that they can receive the strongest benefits from their education. Through coverage of topics such as hybrid learning and parental involvement paired with sample lesson plans, course formats, concepts, ideas, and additional components to further the body of research pertaining to remote learning, this book is tremendously beneficial to administrators, researchers, academicians, practitioners, instructors, and students.
