Niemandt, Jerry Pillay, Corneliu C. Simut, Andries G. van Aarde, Attie S. van Niekerk, Daniël P. Veldsman, Casparus J. (Cas) Wepener, Tanya van Wyk, 2017-12-01 In this scholarly book a century's theology presented by the Faculty of Theology at the University of Pretoria is celebrated. All authors are academics or research associates of the University of Pretoria. A historical and futuristic overview with perspectives from the past, present and future are examined. The past is not only portrayed by means of societal and scientific contributions and achievements but the authors also reflect on malfunctions, ill behaviour and disappointments of church and theology presented at the University of Pretoria within the South African context over 100 years. The book commences with a chapter in which institutional transformation is discussed as well as the changes that demonstrate the role of the Faculty of Theology within a secular state university. It includes an explanation of the importance of research impact, research productivity and research reputation. Among various discipline indicators, the category Theology and Religion Studies plays a significant role in the measurement of world university rankings of universities. With regard to scientific and encyclopaedic content, the book focuses on the theological disciplines presented in the academic curricula: first the biblical sciences (Old and New Testament Studies), then the historical disciplines (Systematic Theology, Church History and Church Polity) and finally the practical disciplines (Practical Theology, Science of Religion and Missiology). The role of Religion Studies in a newly established Faculty of Theology and Religion not only enhances the diversity of interreligious tolerance and an atmosphere of dialogue but it serves as a platform to interconnect with the fields of Humanities, Social and Natural Sciences and other academic disciplines. In the conclusive part of the book, contributions highlight the role of the centres in the Faculty: Centre for Contextual Ministry and Centre for Sustainable Communities, as well as the continental and international footprints of the two theological journals whose title ownership is attached to the Faculty of Theology of the University of Pretoria, namely HTS Theological Studies and Verbum et Ecclesia. The methodology comprised in all the chapters amounts to a literature and contextual study. Since the book describes the histories of formal academic departments, these texts are of a descriptive, interpretative and critical character. Reference is made in some chapters to exegetical methods like the historical critical methods. The target audience of the book is academic scholars and theologians who specialise in the different fields of Theology, the Humanities and other Social Sciences. The book is also accessible to scholars of other academic disciplines outside these disciplines. The book comprises original research by several authors and is not plagiarised from other scientific publications of this nature.

The Shaping Shaikh Dejan Aždajić,2020-01-20 Islam is more than a system of rigid doctrines and normative principles It is a diverse mosaic of subjective often contradictory interpretations and discrepant applications that prohibit a narrow one dimensional approach This book argues that to uncover this complex reality and achieve a more accurate understanding of Islam as a lived religion it is imperative to consider Islam from the point of view of human beings who practice their faith Consequently this book provides an important contribution through a detailed ethnographic study of two contemporary Sufi communities Although both groups shared much in common there was a fundamental almost perplexing range of theological convictions and ritual implementations This book explores the mechanism that accounts for such diversity arguing for a direct correlation between Sufi multiformity and the agency of the spiritual leader the Shaikh Empirical research regarding the authority by which Shaikhs subjectively generate legitimate adaptations that shape the contours of religious belief are lacking This study is significant because it focuses on how leadership operates in Sufism highlighting the primacy of the Shaikh in the selection and appropriation of inherited norms used to come to terms with the phenomenon of contact as the dynamizing element of the history of religions Buddhist World Glen Valentine, 2018-01-16 Buddhism is a religion practiced by an estimated 495 million in the world as of the 2010s representing 9% to 10% of the world's total population. China is the country with the largest population of Buddhists, approximately 244 million or 18.2% of its total population. They are mostly followers of Chinese schools of Mahayana, making this the largest body of Buddhist traditions. Mahayana, also practiced in broader East Asia, is followed by over half of world Buddhists. The second largest body of Buddhist schools is Theravada, mostly followed in Southeast Asia. The third and smallest body of schools, Vajrayana, is followed mostly in Tibet, the Himalayan region, Mongolia, and parts of Russia, but has been disseminated throughout the world. Buddhism was almost entirely unknown in western countries until the 19th century. European diplomats and scholars who travelled and lived in Asia collected Buddhist texts to have them translated into English, German, and French. Awareness of Buddhism arrived in the United States around the 1840s when the first Chinese immigrants settled in the western part of the country. Still, in general, Buddhism remained poorly understood in the west until the 1960s when the first Buddhist teachers started arriving and quickly found thousands of followers. However, curious westerners without serious study tended to view Buddhism as more of a mystic movement rather than an encompassing spirituality involving meditation. Buddhism gained more popularity across Western culture by the end of the 20th century when celebrities and other well-known people like Steve Jobs, Richard Gere, or Phil Jackson openly talked about the positive influence Buddhism has had on their lives. The author of this book has joined the debate and examines the issues bringing fresh insights on the subject. In this book, the author seeks to prove that the consciousness of the individual and individuality, which at the empirical level involves the rise of private property, family, and the state, finds its most sophisticated and rational expression in early Buddhism. The Mother Wave Andrea O'Reilly, Fiona Joy Green, 2024-09-01 Matricentric feminism seeks to make motherhood the business of feminism by positioning mothers' needs and concerns as the starting point for a theory and political on and for the empowerment of women as mothers. Based on the conviction that mothering is a verb, it understands that becoming and being a mother is not limited to biological mothers or cisgender women but rather to anyone who does the work of mothering as a central part of their life. The Mother Wave, the first ever book on the topic, compellingly explores how mothers need a matricentric mode of feminism organized from and for their particular identity and work as mothers and because mothers remain disempowered despite sixty years of feminism. The anthology makes visible the power of matricentric feminism as it is theorized, enacted, and represented to realize and achieve the subversive potential of mothers and their contributions to feminist theory and activism. Contributors share the impact and influence of matricentric feminism on families and children, culture, art, literature, education, public policy, social media, and workplace practices through personal reflections, scholarly essays, memoir, creative non-fiction, poetry, and photography. The mother wave of matricentric feminism invites conversations with others and offers a praxis of feminism that aims to coexist, overlap, and intersect with others.

Gravett,2025-08-20 Studying Religion and Disability introduces students to the many compelling and influential intersections between religion and disability The early chapters offer introductions to the two fields defining key terms and definitions tracing their origins and evolutions while also demonstrating some of the biases and baggage they bring The organization of the later chapters is inspired by the formal phenomenological or resemblance approach to understanding religion exposing students to different dimensions that all religions seem to have in common such as practices or places regardless of their specific content Featuring examples from a variety of religions this book considers how these religions have intersected with a variety of disabilities across space and time This book provokes thought and discussion around important questions including how different disabilities are perceived represented and constructed in different dimensions of religion how and why people with disabilities engage with religion potential or documented barriers that religions present to disabled people and opportunities and insights that result when each is viewed through the lens of the other It will be essential reading for all students of Religion and Disability
