The Sustainable Learning Community The Sustainable Learning Community:

The Sustainable Learning Community John D. Aber, Tom Kelly, Bruce L. Mallory, 2009 Case studies from the University of New Hampshire explore all the dimensions of sustainability in campus life combining frugality and creativity Bringing Your Learning Community to Life Stephen S. Kaagan, Linda Headley, 2010-02-09 How can you take the concept of a professional learning community from theory to the school building This how to guide walks you through the process of establishing a PLC step by step over a flexible timeline of nine to twelve months Sustainable Improvement Coral Mitchell, Larry Sickney, 2019-02-11 Drawing on two decades of research into the nature of schools as learning communities the authors build on a prior model of learning communities that integrated three domains of capacity personal interpersonal and organizational In this text the authors move the capacity building model into practice and elaborate a theory of learning communities This book situates learning communities in living systems and ecological perspectives The fundamental premise is that all of human life and human activity is part of a deep planetary ecology of which mutuality and interdependence are cornerstone properties learning and renewal are key processes and emergent networks are foundational structures The text juxtaposes these conceptions with educational practices in order to understand what makes practice different in learning community schools The authors argue that sustainable educational improvement emerges from a reciprocal process of building people who are constantly learning building commitments to authentic learning and building schools with a relentless focus on learning The authors conclude that building a sustainable learning community requires a profound shift in how learning is understood discussed valued enabled and expressed This shift they argue is essential as schools face the challenges and opportunities in the knowledge society Lesson Study for Learning Community Eisuke Saito, Masatsugu Murase, Atsushi Tsukui, John Yeo, 2014-09-25 Lesson Study has been actively introduced from Japan to various parts of the world starting with the US Such introduction is heavily connected with a focus on mathematics education and there is a strong misconception that Lesson Study is only for mathematics or science The introduction is usually done at the departmental or form level and there has been a strong question about its sustainability in schools This book comprehensively explores the idea of Lesson Study for Learning Community LSLC and suggests that reform for the culture of the school is needed in order to change learning levels among the children teachers and even parents In order for this to happen the ways of management and leadership are also included as objectives of LSLC as are practices at the classroom level It argues that LSLC is a comprehensive vision and framework of school reform and needs to be taken up in a holistic way across disciplines Chapters include How to Create Time How to Build the Team How to Promote Reform How to Reform Daily Lessons How to Conduct a Research Lesson How to Discuss Observed Lessons How to Sustain School Reform based on LSLC Strong interest in LSLC is already prevalent in Asian countries such as Japan China Korea Taiwan Indonesia Vietnam and Singapore and is now being introduced more in the west This book will be of great interest to those involved in education policy and reform and for practitioners of education at all levels

The Creation of a Professional Learning Community for School Leaders Amalia Humada- Ludeke, 2013-09-03 The unwavering culture of continuous improvement efforts to bring about school change has irrevocably changed the role expectations for the school leader The school leader in the 21st century is increasingly perceived as an instructional leader expected to implement whole school reform models that can shape teacher practice and influence student outcomes The significant changes in role expectations for school leaders present considerable challenges to an educational system that was not designed to incorporate these conceptualizations In light of the increased acceptance of changed leadership expectations the elements that are needed for developing supporting and sustaining instructional leaders who can lead systemic change efforts are frequently not present are fragmented or are observed at various developmental stages throughout the PK-20 pipeline This book is centered on the learning and changed behaviors of school leaders who engaged in a sustained job embedded professional learning community facilitated through a university district partnership

The learning from the findings suggested that job embedded learning with their peers can be instrumental for these principals to build the capacity to lead systemic change efforts The findings further suggested that creating conditions for new understanding to occur and sustained opportunities to apply new learning in context to their role entailed a collaborative effort by a partnership involving two separate institutions with different priorities The author makes a case for the educational pipeline to prioritize the support and understanding of complex systemic change efforts and innovations as they are linked to school improvement Green Education Julie Newman,2011-06-28
