The American Surfer Kristin Lawler, 2010-10-18 The image of surfing is everywhere in American popular culture films novels television shows magazines newspaper articles music and especially advertisements In this book Kristin Lawler examines the surfer one of the most significant and enduring archetypes in American popular culture from its roots in ancient Hawaii to Waikiki beach at the dawn of the twentieth century continuing through Depression era California cresting during the early sixties persistently present over the next three decades and now more globally popular than ever Throughout Lawler sets the image of the surfer against the backdrop of the negative reactions to it by those groups responsible for enforcing the Puritan discipline pro work anti spontaneity on which capital depends and thereby offers a fresh take on contemporary discussions of the relationship between commercial culture and counterculture and between counterculture and capitalism

Theology and California Fred Sanders, Jason S. Sexton, 2016-02-17 Exploring California as a theological place this book renders critical engagement with significant Californian religious and theological phenomena and the inherent theological impulses within major Californian cultural icons Harnessing conceptual tools inherent to theology through theological reflection assessment and critique the chapters in this volume begin to ascertain the significance of various empirical data and that no other qualitative methodological Californian study has done Many universities are picking up on California literature as a theme that highlights a place of hope wonder and cultural innovation but have neglected the significance of theological instincts flowing through the Californian dynamic Californians Fred Sanders and Jason Sexton assemble leading voices and specialists both from within and without California for engagement with California's influential culture including leading theologians and cultural critics such as Richard J Mouw Paul Louis Metzger and Fred Sanders alongside leading specialists in Film studies and cultural critique theological anthropology missiology sociology and history

Grinding California Konstantin Butz, 2014-03-15 Grinding California provides the first academic analysis of the subculture of skate punk at book length It establishes highly critical evaluations of the discourses that influenced early skateboarding and punk cultures Based on an examination of songs flyers magazines and videos Konstantin Butz revisits American popular cultures of the 1980s and approaches them from a variety of theoretical and methodological angles He introduces contemplations of the rebellious potential that can be located within skate punk's material and corporeal contestations of the site specific locale of suburban Southern California Theoretical recourse to thinkers such as Gilles Deleuze Félix Guattari Jean Baudrillard and Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht are topped off with excerpts from interviews with some of the most influential protagonists of the 1980s skate punk scene

Deep Blue Sylvie Shaw, Andrew Francis, 2014-12-05 Nature religions look to rivers lakes and oceans for inspiration and spiritual transformation Deep Blue brings together the work of influential scholars in the field of nature religion ranging across anthropology mythology sociology and psychology The essays examine the interrelationship between spiritual practice critical thinking and environmental concern Tracing the ancient history of humanity's close relationship with both salt and fresh water the book calls for a sustainable relationship with water in contemporary western culture Deep Blue will be of interest to students of paganism and religion environmental researchers and activists and all those involved in the intersection between religion and ecology

Seascapes: Shaped by the Sea Mike Brown, Barbara Humberstone, 2016-04-01 Despite the fact that the sea covers 70 per cent of the Earth's surface and is integral to the workings of the world it has been largely neglected or perceived as marginal in modern consciousness This edited collection disrupts notions of the sea as other as foreign and featureless through specific situated accounts which highlight the centrality of the sea for the individuals concerned Bringing together academics who combine scholarly expertise with lived experiences on in and with the sea it examines humans relationships with the sea Through the use of auto ethnographic accounting the contributors reflect on how the sea has shaped their sense of identity belonging and connection They examine what it is to be engaged with the sea and narrate their lived sentient corporeal experiences The sea is a cultural seascape just as it is physical reality The sea shapes us and we in turn attempt to shape it as we construct various versions of it that reflect our on going and mutable relationship with it The use of embodied accounts as a way of conveying lived experiences and the integration of relevant theoretical frames for understanding the broader cultural implications provide new opportunities to understand seascapes
