Expect More: Children Can Do Remarkable Things Anne Grall Reichel, Ed.D.,2010-09-22 This book encourages teachers parents grandparents and volunteers who work with children to expect more It focuses on the skills children will need to compete in a highly competitive global economy From systems thinking to interpreting complex visual images to integrative thinking our children need a whole new skill set For too long science and social studies have been moved to the back burner Ironically these subjects hold great interest and opportunity to investigate concepts in depth We need to bring them to center stage Throughout the book the author provides many concrete examples of ways for teachers and parents to engage children in meaningful conversation and problem solving Somewhere along the way we seem to have stopped challenging children and started enabling them instead Perhaps this is through no fault of our own As teachers and parents we genuinely care about children We feel for them when they are sick when they are bullied or when they are struggling Quite simply it is our nature to protect With the best of intentions we tend to try and eliminate the struggle But the struggle is essential to growth and a personal sense of accomplishment As children work their way through challenges they build the confidence and habits of mind needed to embrace the next challenge that comes along This book is an invitation to adults to expect more of themselves and of the children they care about The invitation is yours to accept
