city-region: a principal component analysis approach Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities

Structuring Mass Higher Education David Palfreyman,Ted Tapper,2012-10-12 Undoubtedly the most important development in higher education in recent years has been the seemingly inexorable expansion of national systems In a comparatively short time period many countries have moved from an elite to a mass model Furthermore expansion has invariably changed the whole experience of higher education for all the interested parties from presidents rectors and vice chancellors to first term undergraduates Structuring Mass Higher Education examines the impact of this change upon the existing national structures of higher education It also defines and highlights what makes an elite university something which institutions must strive for in order to gain their position as global players With case studies and contributions from a wide range of international authors the book explores questions such as Do higher education institutions retain a national significance even though the vestiges of an international reputation have long faded Has expansion undermined the quality of higher education because governments sought to expand on the cheap Is the elite institutional response to mass higher education perceived as a threat to be responded to with purposeful action that sustains their elite status Does the emergence of the international league tables pose a challenge to those responsible for governing elite institutions These are critical issues with which both policy makers and institutional leaders will have to grapple over the next ten years making Structuring Mass Higher Education a timely relevant and much needed text It will appeal to policy makers and practitioners within higher education as well as student and scholars worldwide
