Women Filmmakers In Mexico The Country Of Which We Dream:

Women Filmmakers in Mexico Elissa J. Rashkin, 2009-01-27 Women filmmakers in Mexico were rare until the 1980s and 1990s when women began to direct feature films in unprecedented numbers Their films have won acclaim at home and abroad and the filmmakers have become key figures in contemporary Mexican cinema In this book Elissa Rashkin documents how and why women filmmakers have achieved these successes as she explores how the women's movement film studies programs governmental film policy and the transformation of the intellectual sector since the 1960s have all affected women's filmmaking in Mexico After a historical overview of Mexican women's filmmaking from the 1930s onward Rashkin focuses on the work of five contemporary directors Marisa Sistach Busi Cort's Guita Schyfter Mar a Novaro and Dana Rotberg Portraying the filmmakers as intellectuals participating in the public life of the nation Rashkin examines how these directors have addressed questions of national identity through their films replacing the patriarchal images and stereotypes of the classic Mexican cinema with feminist visions of a democratic and tolerant society

Latin American Women Filmmakers Traci Roberts-Camps, 2017-06 This book highlights the voices and stories of Latin American women directors from Brazil Chile Argentina and Mexico

Mexican Cinema Carl J. Mora, 2015-05-07 Mexican filmmaking is traced from its early beginnings in 1896 to the present in this book Of particular interest are the great changes from 1990 to 2004 the confluence of talented and dedicated filmmakers important changes in Mexican cinematic infrastructure and significant social and cultural transformations From Nicolas Echevarria's Cabeza de Vaca 1991 to the 1992 releases of Hellboy director Guillermo del Toro's Cronos and Alfonso Arau's Como agua para chocolate to Alfonso Cuarón's Y tu mamá también 2001 this work provides a close look at Mexican films that received international commercial success and critical acclaim and put Mexico on the cinematic world map Arranged chronologically this edition originally published in 2005 covers the entire scope of Mexican cinema The main films and their directors are discussed together with the political social and economic contexts of the times

Political Animals So Mayer, 2015-10-22 Feminist filmmakers are hitting the headlines The last decade has witnessed the first Best Director Academy Award won by a woman female filmmakers reviving or starting careers via analogue and digital television women filmmakers emerging from Saudi Arabia Palestine Pakistan South Korea Paraguay Peru Burkina Faso Kenya and The Cree Nation a bold emergent trans cinema feminist porn screened at public festivals Sweden's A Markt for films that pass the Bechdel Test and Pussy Riot's online videos sending shockwaves around the world A new generation of feminist filmmakers curators and critics is not only influencing contemporary debates on gender and sexuality but starting to change cinema itself calling for a film world that is intersectional sustainable family friendly and far reaching Political Animals argues that forty years since Laura Mulvey's seminal essay Visual Pleasure and Narrative Cinema identified the urgent need for a feminist counter cinema this promise seems to be on the point of fulfilment Forty years of a transnational trans generational cinema has given rise to conversations between the work of now well established filmmakers such as Abigail Child Sally Potter and Agnes Varda twenty first century auteurs including Kelly Reichardt and Lucretia Martel and emerging directors such as Sandrine Bonnaire Shonali Bose Zeina Daccache and Hana Makhmalbaf A new and diverse generation of British independent filmmakers such as Franny Armstrong Andrea Arnold Amma Asante Clio Barnard Tina Gharavi Sally El Hoseini Carol Morley Samantha Morton Penny Woolcock and Campbell X join a worldwide dialogue between filmmakers and viewers hungry for a new and informed point of view Lovely vigorous and brave the new feminist cinema is a political animal that refuses to be domesticated by the persistence of everyday sexism striking out boldly to claim the public sphere as its own

From Angel to Office Worker Susie S. Porter, 2018-06 2019 Thomas McGann Award for best publication in Latin American Studies In late nineteenth century Mexico a woman's presence in the home was a marker of middle class identity However as economic conditions declined during the Mexican Revolution and jobs traditionally held by women disappeared a growing number of women began to look for work outside the domestic sphere As these angels of the home began to take office jobs middle class identity became more porous To understand how office workers shaped middle class identities in Mexico From Angel to Office Worker examines the material conditions of women's work and analyzes how women themselves reconfigured public debates over their employment At the heart of the women's movement was a labor movement led by secretaries and office workers whose demands included respect for seniority equal pay for equal work and resources to support working mothers both married and unmarried Office workers also developed a critique of gender inequality and sexual exploitation both within and outside the workplace From Angel to Office Worker is a major contribution to modern Mexican history as historians begin to ask new questions about the relationships between labor politics and the cultural and public spheres

Women Made Visible Gabriela Aceves Sepúlveda, 2019-04-01 2020 Canadian Association for Latin American and Caribbean Studies CALACS Book Prize In post 1968 Mexico a group of artists and feminist activists began to question how feminine bodies were visually constructed and politicized across media Participation of women was increasing in the public sphere and the exclusive emphasis on written culture was giving way to audio visual communications Motivated by a desire for self representation both visually and in politics female artists and activists transformed existing regimes of media and visibility Women Made Visible by Gabriela Aceves Sepúlveda uses a transnational and interdisciplinary lens to analyze the fundamental and overlooked role played by artists and feminist activists in changing the ways female bodies were viewed and appropriated Through their concern for self representation both visually and in formal politics these women played a crucial role in transforming existing regimes of media and visibility increasingly important intellectual spheres of action Foregrounding the work of female artists and their performative and visual rather than written interventions in urban space in Mexico City Aceves Sepúlveda demonstrates that these women feminized Mexico's mediascapes and shaped the debates over the female body gender difference and sexual violence during the last decades of the twentieth century Weaving together the practices of activists filmmakers visual artists videographers and photographers Women Made Visible questions the disciplinary boundaries that have historically undermined the practices of female artists and activists and locates the development of Mexican second wave feminism as a meaningful actor in the contested political spaces of the era both in Mexico City and internationally

The Lost Cinema of Mexico Olivia Cosentino, Brian Price, 2022-02-08 This volume challenges the dismissal of Mexican filmmaking during the 1960s through 1980s an era long considered a low budget departure from the nation's earlier Golden Age examining the critical implications of discovering uncovering and recovering forgotten or ignored films

Cinesonidos Jacqueline Avila, 2019 During Mexico's silent 1896-1930 and early sound 1931-52 periods cinema saw the development of five significant genres the prostitute melodrama including the cabaretera subgenre the indigenista film on indigenous themes or topics the cine de a oranza porfiriana films of Porfirian nostalgia the Revolution film and the comedia ranchera ranch comedy In this book author Jacqueline Avila looks at examples from all genres exploring the ways that the popular regional and orchestral music in these films contributed to the creation of tropes and archetypes now central to Mexican cultural nationalism Integrating primary source material including newspaper articles advertisements films with film music studies sound studies and Mexican film and cultural history Avila examines how these tropes and archetypes mirrored changing perceptions of mexicanidad manufactured by the State and popular and transnational culture As she shows several social and political agencies were heavily invested in creating a unified national identity in an attempt to merge the previously fragmented populace as a result of the Revolution The commercial medium of film became an important tool to acquaint a diverse urban audience with the nuances of Mexican national identity and music played an essential and persuasive role in the process In this heterogeneous environment cinema and its music continuously reshaped the contested fluctuating space of Mexican identity functioning both as a sign and symptom of social and political change

Celluloid Nationalism and Other Melodramas Susan Dever, 2012-02-01 Celluloid Nationalism and Other Melodramas looks at representation and rebellion in times of national uncertainty Moving from mid century Mexican cinema to recent films staged in Los Angeles and Mexico City Susan Dever analyzes melodrama's double function as a genre and as a sensibility revealing coincidences between movie morals and political pieties in the civic minded films of Emilio Fernandez Matilde Landeta Allison Anders and Marcela Fernandez Violante These filmmakers rationally and emotionally engaged cinema offering representations of indigenous peoples and poor urban women who alternately endorsed civilizing projects and voiced resistance to such totalization both interrupts and sustains fictions of national coherence in an increasingly transnational world

Celluloid Ceiling Gabrielle Kelly, Cheryl Robson, 2014-05-27 An extensive overview of female film directors worldwide showing how they are breaking through the Celluloid Ceiling and succeeding in a still very male dominated industry The book contains exclusive interviews with women film directors explores the impact of digital technology and reaches some surprising conclusions Now that Kathryn Bigelow has made history as the first woman to win an Oscar for directing we ask whether this is a new era for women filmmakers

This unique international overview highlights emerging women directors and groundbreaking pioneers and provides a one stop guide to the leading film directors of the 21st century and the people who inspired them From the blockbusters of the Hollywood studios to emerging voices from Saudi Arabia Pakistan and Laos we learn of women making films in traditionally male dominated areas such as action fantasy and horror There are contributions from countries with film industries in every state from nascent to mature and this book demonstrates how economic and technological change is creating new opportunities for women film directors everywhere BEST BOOK ON WOMEN DIRECTORS DUE TO ITS GLOBAL OVERVIEW Diane Amazon Gabrielle Kelly and Cheryl Robson have crafted a watershed work CELLULOID CEILING is essential reading for anyone who wants to know how women directors are helping reshape filmmaking D A Morris Amazon This book is an essential resource for anyone tracking the inspiring work being done by women film directors from around the world UCF Film The level of public consciousness about the barriers faced by female filmmakers is higher than it has ever been Despite this the discussion more often than not centres around North America and to a lesser extent Europe Australia and New Zealand and I am guilty as charged This is perfectly understandable but clearly women do make films outside of these countries and it can be illuminating to consider how their experiences reflect or differ from those with which we are more familiar To this end the arrival of a new book The Celluloid Ceiling could not be more timely Edited by Gabrielle Kelly and Cheryl Robson it takes a purposefully global overview of the status quo and in doing so provides some fascinating stories and insights reminding us of what is lost when we limit the discussion to Anglophone directors Matthew Hammett Knott indiewire
