Women In Europe Since 1750:

Women in Europe since 1750 Patricia Branca, 2013-05-02 In dealing with the common experience of women in modern society this book provides a deeper insight into European women at work at home at leisure and in their political and educational functions Particular emphasis is placed upon the significant cultural differences between women of various classes and nationalities The first chapters of the book trace the growing importance of women's work in the economic sector and for modernisation in general Data from a wide variety of sources including census figures government and labour reports and personal accounts illustrate that women have integrated work roles into a complex life style The new image of women in society is analysed in the light of the numerous educational political and legal reforms which took place in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century and the impact of feminist ideology is discussed in relation to this In its overall presentation this book first published in 1978 illustrates the importance of the history of women not only for an understanding of the female experience but also the process of modernisation in Western Europe in general The Routledge History of Women in Europe Since 1700 Deborah Simonton, 2006-04-27 This landmark publication collects the essays of the leading women's historians and provides the most coherent overview of women's role and place in Western Europe from the beginning of the eighteenth century to the twentieth century Histories of Sexuality Stephen Garton, 2014-12-18 This book presents the first assessment of one of the most rapidly expanding fields of research the history of sexuality From the early efforts of historians to work out a model for sexual history to the extraordinary impact of French philosopher Michel Foucault to the vigorous debates about essentialism and social constructionism to the emergence of contemporary debates about historicism queer theory embodiment gender and cultural history we now have vast and diverse historical scholarship on sex and sexuality Histories of Sexuality highlights the key historical moments and issues pederasty and cultures of male passivity in ancient Greece and Rome the impact of early Christianity and ideals of renunciation on the sexual cultures of late antiquity the sustained existence of homosexual cultures in medieval and renaissance Europe the invention of homosexuality and heterosexuality in eighteenth century Europe and America the truth behind Victorian sexual repression the work of reformers and scientists such as Havelock Ellis Marie Stopes Stella Browne Margaret Sanger Alfred Kinsey William Masters and Virginia Johnson The German Family (Routledge Revivals) Richard J. Evans, W. R. Lee, 2015-06-11 This book surveys the history of the German family in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The contributions deal with the influence of industrialisation on family life in town and country with rural families and communities under the impact of social and economic change and with the role and influence of the family in the lives of men and women in the newly emerged working class Research on the history of the family had so far at the point of this book's publication in 1981 concentrated on England and France this book adds an important comparative dimension by extending the discussion into Central Europe and bringing fresh evidence and interpretation to bear on the wider debate about the effects of industrialisation on family structure and family life as a whole The authors approach the subject from a variety of perspectives including social anthropology oral history economic history and feminist studies This book is ideal for students of history particularly the history of Germany Contemporary Western European Feminism (RLE Feminist Theory) Gisela Kaplan,2012-11-12 Contemporary Western European Feminism is a ground breaking history of feminism Gisela Kaplan invites a critical analysis of current ideas terms and assumptions about our modern world Written confidently and with compassion this is the story of a long revolution that has set out to change predominant attitudes and transform value hierarchies and human lifestyles By outlining the postwar histories of individual countries Kaplan contextualises women s movements and documents a significant chapter of European social history She poses questions about the interrelationship between the new movements and the parliamentary democracies in which they occurred while analysing the contradictions of living in modern capitalist countries Contemporary Western European Feminism also tackles important contradictions such as those between the welfare state and the free market economy industrialisation and religious value systems social engineering and the production of wealth and dissent and patrimonial systems of democracy For those wanting to know more about Europe without the intimidating barriers of language and for those already experts in its social history Contemporary Western European Feminism is essential reading Irish Migration, Networks and Ethnic Identities since 1750 Dr Enda Delaney,Donald M. MacRaild,2007-08-29 This collection of essays demonstrates in vivid detail how a range of formal and informal networks shaped the Irish experience of emigration settlement and the construction of ethnic identity in a variety of geographical contexts since 1750 It examines topics as diverse as the associational culture of the Orange Order in the nineteenth century to The Routledge History Handbook of Gender and the Urban Experience Deborah Simonton,2017-02-03 Challenging current perspectives of urbanisation The Routledge History Handbook of Gender and the Urban Experience explores how our towns and cities have shaped and been shaped by cultural spatial and gendered influences This volume discusses gender in an urban context in European North American and colonial towns from the fourteenth to the twentieth century casting new light on the development of medieval and modern settlements across the globe Organised into six thematic parts covering economy space civic identity material culture emotions and the colonial world this book comprises 36 chapters by key scholars in the field It covers a wide range of topics from women and citizenship in medieval York to gender and tradition in nineteenth and twentieth century South African cities reframing our understanding of the role of gender in constructing the spaces and places that form our urban environment Interdisciplinary and transnational in scope this volume analyses the individual dynamics of each case study while also examining the complex relationships and exchanges between urban cultures It is a valuable resource for all researchers and students interested in gender urban history and their intersection and interaction throughout the past five centuries Informal Marriage, Cohabitation and the Law 1750-1989 Stephen Parker,1990-06-18 By the author of Cohabitees this book traces the boundaries of legal marriage since the Industrial Revolution from informal marriage practices to modern cohabitation. Changes are placed in their economic, political and social contexts seen to be the product of class and gender conflict.

A History of European Women's Work Deborah Simonton, 2002-09-11. The work patterns of European women from 1700 onwards fluctuate in relation to ideological, demographic, economic and familial changes. In A History of European Women's Work, Deborah Simonton draws together recent research and methodological developments to take an overview of trends in women's work across Europe from the so-called pre-industrial period to the present. Taking the role of gender and class in defining women's labour as a central theme, Deborah Simonton compares and contrasts the pace of change between European countries, distinguishing between Europe-wide issues and local developments.

Women's Work, Markets and Economic Development in Nineteenth-Century Ontario Marjorie Griffin Cohen, 1988-12-15. Cohen focuses on the productive relations in the family and the significance of women's labour to the process of capital accumulation in both the capitalist sphere and independent commodity production. In this study, Marjorie Griffin Cohen argues that in research into Ontario's economic history, the emphasis on market activity has obscured the most prevalent type of productive relations in the staple exporting economy: the patriarchal relations of production within the family economy. Cohen focuses on the productive relations in the family and the significance of women's labour to the process of capital accumulation in both the capitalist sphere and independent commodity production. She shows that while the family economy was based on the mutual dependence of male and female labour, there was not equality in productive relations. The male ownership of capital in the context of the family economy had significant implications for the control over female labour. Among countries which experience industrial development, there are common patterns in the impact of change on women's work; there are also significant differences. One of the most important of these is the fact that economic development did not result in women's labour being withdrawn from the social sphere of production. Rather, economic growth has steadily brought women's productive efforts more directly into the market sphere. In exploring the roots of this development, Cohen adds a new dimension to the study of women's labour history.
