Womens Bodies As Battlefield Christian Theology And The Global War On Women:

Women's Bodies as Battlefield Susan Brooks Thistlethwaite, 2016-02-05 Christian theology has been complicit in justifying the war on women but it also has resources to help finally declare peace in the war on women War itself has come to resemble the war on women and thus strategies to end the war on women supported by new Christian theological interpretations will also help end today's endless wars

A Theology of Women's Bodies as Battlefield Susan Brooks Thistlethwaite, 2015-07-15 This book demonstrates that the war on women is not a metaphor but rather a global pandemic of violence against women that constitutes an actual war with female bodies serving as places of battle The author shows that of the many societal structures that enable both the violence of literal war and violence against women the three most crucial factors are the desire for power hierarchical authority structures and contempt for the body Not only do war and violence against women have some of the same social cultural and religious roots but these roots are also mutually reinforcing The book critiques paradigms designed to limit or prevent war pacifism just peace and just war from the perspective of violence against women and proposes changes to these paradigms

A Christian Exploration of Women's Bodies and Rebirth in Shin Buddhism Kristin Johnston Largen, 2020-10-05 Jodo Shinshu Buddhism inherited many negative doctrines around women's bodies which in some early Buddhist texts were presented as an obstacle to rebirth and a hindrance to awakening in general Beginning with an examination of these doctrines the book explores Shin teachings and texts as well as the Japanese context in which they developed with a focus on women and rebirth in Amida's Pure Land These doctrines are then compared to similar doctrines in Christianity and used to suggest fruitful avenues of Christian theological reflection

A Transpacific Imagination of Theology, Ethics, and Spiritual Activism Keun-joo Christine Pae, 2023-11-23 Despite prolific feminist voices in Christian ethics transnational perspectives are still underdeveloped Similarly secular transnational feminist scholarship often overlooks religious faith rituals and spirituality crucial to many women's liberation movements across the globe This book aims to fill these gaps in Christian and secular feminist scholarships by constructing a transnational feminist theo-ethics Furthermore by bringing the theological and the transnational together the book offers an alternative tool in analyzing social identities beyond intersectionality i.e. interstitial approach and interstitial integrity and thus renews feminist theological understandings especially of time memories and healing beyond linear approaches A renewed analytical tool would help the readers critically reinterrogate the global power structure buttressed by empire militarized capitalism and heteropatriarchal religious ideologies at the cost of raced sexed and classed bodies At the same time the book would create space where readers create and recreate the ethical visions for global peace and justice constructed upon transnational feminist praxis of solidarity and spiritual activism. Case studies offer concrete sites to inform readers about how to use transnational feminist theories at a micro and macropolitical levels and produce transnational feminist knowledge of God, spiritual activism and solidarity. This book is written for graduate and advanced undergraduate students in religion, gender studies and Asian American studies to critically engage in the political, the theological and the spiritual from transnational perspectives not as observers but as active participants in global politics.

Women's Religious Voices Nadja Furlan Stante, Maja Bjelica, Jadranka Rebeka Anic, 2021. The volume presents theological and religious research that explores women's voices and experiences in the fields of migration, culture and eco peacebuilding with the goal to discuss complex and dynamic questions of women's active participation and engagement in these challenges mainly from the perspective of Central European authors. The chapters address these matters in order to rethink and search for theological and religious responses to the inequalities, prejudices and conflicts that arise from these crises and look for new ethical paths to mitigate them through interreligious dialogue and religious eco peacebuilding.

Planetary Solidarity Grace Ji-Sun Kim, Hilda P. Koster, 2017-08-23. Planetary Solidarity brings together leading Latina womanist, Asian American, Anglican, American, South American, Asian, European and African woman theologians on the issues of doctrine, women and climate justice. Because women make up the majority of the world's poor and tend to be more dependent on natural resources for their livelihoods and survival, they are more vulnerable when it comes to climate-related changes and catastrophes. Representing a subfield of feminist theology that uses doctrine as an interlocutor, this book asks how Christian doctrine might address the interconnected suffering of women and the earth in an age of climate change. While doctrine has often stifled change, it also forms the thread that weaves Christian communities together. Drawing on postcolonial, ecofeminist, womanist analysis and representing different ecclesial and denominational traditions, contributors use doctrine to envision possibilities for a deep solidarity with the earth and one another while addressing the intersection of gender, race, class and ethnicity. The book is organized around the following doctrines: creation, the triune God, anthropology, sin, incarnation, redemption, the Holy Spirit, ecclesiology and eschatology.

Faith, Class, and Labor Jin Young Choi, Joerg Rieger, 2020-12-16. Despite the fact that 99 percent of us work for a living and although work shapes us to the core, class and labor are topics that are underrepresented in the work of scholars of religion, theology and the Bible With this volume an international group of scholars and activists from nine different countries is bringing issues of religion class and labor back into conversation Historians and theologians investigate how new images of God and the world emerge and what difference they can make Biblical critics develop new takes on ancient texts that lead to the reversal of readings that had been seemingly stable settled and taken for granted Activists and organizers identify neglected sources of power and energy returning in new force and point to transformations happening Asking how labor and religion mutually shape each other and how the agency of working people operates in their lives the contributors also employ intersectional approaches that engage race gender sexuality and colonialism This volume presents transdisciplinary transtextual transactional transnational and transgressive work in progress much needed in our time Peacebuilding Paradigms Henry F. Carey, 2020-12-17 Peacebuilding is explained by combining interpretive frameworks paradigms that have evolved from the subfields of international relations and comparative politics
