International Higher Education's Scholar-Practitioners Bernhard Streitwieser, Anthony C. Ogden, 2016-03-01 The idea of the professional who bridges both research and practice has been largely overlooked and at times even disregarded by the academic and administrative structures that govern activity in higher education today In international higher education the number of students who now engage in mobility and exchange has expanded globally along with the administrative cadre that manages all facets of internationalization and the quickly growing scholarly attention to understanding the phenomenon In this process two distinct professional categories have emerged those who study it and those who do it the scholars and the practitioners Practitioners are seen as those who manage the daily logistical flow of students and personnel around the globe while scholars are seen as those who conduct research collect and analyze data and publish findings to inform improve and justify the activity Yet this dichotomy is overly simplistic outdated and excludes the large and growing class of hybrid scholar practitioners who now engage regularly in both kinds of activity It is this rapidly growing population of bridge builders that are profiled and discussed in this book through critical essays on the notion of the scholar practitioner and its implication for the further development of international higher education The chapters include detailed analyses from university faculty senior international officers and other high level administrators directors of research centers key leaders from influential professional associations and private organizations managers of study abroad and exchange and graduate students This book launches a much needed dialogue about the perception and reality potential and promise of the scholar practitioner in higher education today It will be of relevance to a wide variety of readers from those within universities and organizations to those who are outside observers of higher education Georgetown Journal of International Affairs, Summer/Fall 2014

Medha Raj, Warren Ryan, 2014-09-08 This issue of the Georgetown Journal of International Affairs focuses on the topic of Destabilizing Demographics exploring the opportunities and challenges presented by dynamic population patterns and structures Demographic shifts affect multiple facets of international affairs impacting economies modifying politics and reshaping the fabric of our societies These changes could have catastrophic international consequences if ignored or evaded This edition concludes with articles regarding decidedly twenty first century concerns communication integration and globalization The Georgetown Journal of International Affairs is the official publication of the Edmund A Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University Each issue of the journal provides readers with a diverse array of timely peer reviewed content penned by top policymakers business leaders and academic luminaries Foreign Policy Careers for PhDs James Goldgeier, Tamara Cofman Wittes, 2023 James Goldgeier and Tamara Cofman Wittes provide a wealth of information advice and encouragement to PhDs who are considering a career in the foreign policy ecosystem Through the authors own experience and through interviews with over two dozen practitioners the book offers insights that readers cannot get elsewhere what policy careers can look like the range of organizations that are part of the foreign policy ecosystem how to decide what kind of policy work might fit their passions and skills and how to pursue finding a job in foreign policy The book is also a ready resource for academic advisers whose students express an interest in a non academic career Goldgeier and

Wittes examine the different types of work environments in policy careers in order to help jobseekers explore their motivations and work styles to tailor their job search This book will reveal the wide array of organizations and environments one can be part of when doing foreign policy the executive and legislative branches of the US government think tanks direct service organizations issue advocacy organizations philanthropic foundations corporate consulting and lobbying firms and journalism Finally the book will help job seekers navigate the policy community and better understand how to build their networks and present their skills and expertise The book provides advice about how to apply for jobs in the federal government and has appendices that list fellowships non governmental organizations networking groups and more
