David W. Gill, 2020-04-14 During the twentieth century theological and religious perspectives have been marginalized if not utterly excluded in many of our colleges and universities The essays in this book argue in different ways for the critical appreciative inclusion of theological and religious perspectives in higher education The contributors believe that even in our secular religiously disestablished era religion and God continue to occupy an important and dynamic role in personal and social life If our colleges and universities are to fulfill their higher aspirations of educating whole persons for the real world in all of its diversity and challenge we need to go bravely against the flow and give God tenure Encyclopedia of Software Engineering Three-Volume Set (Print) Phillip A. by external sources of innovation and new knowledge Collaborations between firms and between firms and other organizations as well as the mobility of human capital are strategic processes in order to share and circulate knowledge and competencies They are also key determinants in the creation of new knowledge and innovation and ultimately in growth dynamics The circulation and distribution of knowledge is now a key input in the production of knowledge Knowledge and innovation are understood as the result of collective and interactive processes at the system level and less at the micro level In other words new knowledge production is less and less the result of individualistic behaviours of the firms and much more the effect of explicit and pro active interactions and transactions put in place by local networks of innovators In this perspective economic space is much more defined by the quality of the interactions among actors rather than by their mere technological sectoral or geographical proximity This book brings together new conceptual and empirical contributions and blends the analysis of the technological and geographical spaces in which innovation and knowledge are produced
