Space Design and Social Cohesion Patricia Aelbrecht, Quentin Stevens, 2019-01-22 Social cohesion is often perceived as being under threat from the increasing cultural and economic differences in contemporary cities and the increasing intensity of urban life Public space in its role as the main stage for social interactions between strangers clearly plays a role in facilitating or limiting opportunities for social cohesion But what exactly is social cohesion how is it experienced in the public realm and what role can the design of city spaces have in supporting or promoting it There are significant knowledge gaps between the social sciences and design disciplines and between academia and practice and thus a dispersed knowledge base that currently lacks nuanced insight into how urban design contributes to social integration or segregation This book brings together scholarly knowledge at the intersection of public space design and social cohesion It is based on original scholarly research and a depth of urban design practice and analyses case studies from a variety of cities and cultures across the Global North and Global South Its interdisciplinary cross cultural analysis will be of interest to academics students policymakers and practitioners engaged with a range of subject areas including urban design urban planning architecture landscape cultural studies human geography social policy sociology and anthropology It will also have significant appeal to a wider non academic readership given its topical subject matter Adaptive Strategies for Water Heritage Carola

Hein, 2019-10-18 This Open Access book building on research initiated by scholars from the Leiden Delft Erasmus Centre for Global Heritage and Development CHGD and ICOMOS Netherlands presents multidisciplinary research that connects water to heritage Through twenty one chapters it explores landscapes cities engineering structures and buildings from around the world It describes how people have actively shaped the course form and function of water for human settlement and the development of civilizations establishing socio economic structures policies and cultures a rich world of narratives laws and practices and an extensive network of infrastructure buildings and urban form The book is organized in five thematic sections that link practices of the past to the design of the present and visions of the future part I discusses drinking water management part II addresses water use in agriculture part III explores water management for land reclamation and defense part IV examines river and coastal planning and part V focuses on port cities and waterfront regeneration Today the many complex systems of the past are necessarily the basis for new systems that both preserve the past and manage water today policy makers and designers can work together to recognize and build on the traditional knowledge and skills that old structure embody This book argues that there is a need for a common agenda and an integrated policy that addresses the preservation transformation and adaptive reuse of historic water related structures Throughout it imagines how such efforts will help us develop sustainable futures for cities landscapes and bodies of water
