Course Tania Zittoun, Jaan Valsiner, Dankert Vedeler, João Salgado, Miguel M. Gonçalves, Dieter Ferring, 2013-11-14 Drawing on philosophy the history of psychology and the natural sciences this book proposes a new theoretical foundation for the psychology of the life course It features the study of unique individual life courses in their social and cultural environment combining the perspectives of developmental and sociocultural psychology psychotherapy learning sciences and geronto psychology In particular the book highlights semiotic processes specific to human development that allow us to draw upon past experiences to choose among alternatives and to plan our futures Imagination is an important outcome of semiotic processes and enables us to deal with daily constraints and transitions and promotes the transformation of social representation and symbolic systems giving each person a unique style or melody of living The book concludes by questioning the methodology and epistemology of current life course studies

Social Interactions in Multicultural Settings, 2019-02-11 Multicultural issues are part of the agenda for researchers academics and politicians The new technologies have brought multiculturalism into our professional and personal lives opening new possibilities for social interactions among people from different countries cultures ages and gender Being able to deal with diversity including other cultures is a must in the 21st century This book is an opportunity to read narratives about social interactions in multicultural settings and to discuss the role they play in the construction of school and social achievement It is not only a book on multiculturalism It is also a multicultural book including an introduction and 13 chapters from authors representing 11 countries and many more cultures It is a journey that brings you through different settings situations and scenarios describing them vividly so that the reader can have an authentic taste of them This is a book that researchers academics teachers policy makers and politicians should read It illuminates many of the problems related to multiculturalism But it also reports on educational experiences and forms of interacting that help solving these problems It also illustrates the barriers that still exist and that keep many persons apart from equity Moreover due to its narrative mood the descriptions of what happens in different educational systems and episodes that could happen to us all including our kids this is a book for parents youngsters and all the ones interested in knowing other cultures After all education is an issue that is related to each human being We are all cultural individuals who need to interact with each other Thus this is a book to learn how social interactions in such a demanding multicultural world can help us live in peace and understand each other

The Subjectified and Subjectifying Mind Min Han, Carla Cunha, 2017-01-01 Putting subjectivity back in psychology and in social sciences is the aim of this volume Subjectivity is a core psychological dimension but frequently forgotten Without a full understanding of the uniqueness of each human life our understanding of psychological life fails to reach its aim This book explores precisely the field of subjectivity offering the reader different and innovative views on this challenging theme This book is an asset for all those interested in understanding how the mind operates as a subjectifying process and how this subjectifying mind is simultaneously the product and the content of feeling an unique and unrepeatable subjective life By bringing together renowned and emergent experts in the field it provides a fresh new look on the human mind The reader will find thought provoking and challenging contributions of 26 different scholars from 10 countries It covers a wide range of perspectives and approaches such as dialogical perspectives cultural psychology approaches developmental psychology feminist perspectives semiotics and anthropology This volume will be very much recommended for all sorts of scholars and students in social and human sciences interested in the human mind and in subjectivity It will be adequate for different levels of teaching from undergraduate to master courses It also meant to be understood for all readers interested in the topic

Religious Voices in Self-Narratives Marjo Buitelaar, Hetty Zock, 2013-07-31 In present day pluralistic and individualized societies the question of how individuals appropriate religious traditions has become particularly relevant In this volume psychologists anthropologists and historians examine the presence of religious voices in narrative constructions of the self The focus is on the multiple ways religious stories and practices feature in self narratives about major life transitions The contributions explore the ways in which such voices inform the accommodation and interpretation of these transitions In addition to being inspired by Dan McAdams approach to life stories as personal myths that inform us about the quests of individuals for a satisfactory balance between agency and communion most of the contributors have found the theory of the dialogical self developed by Hubert Hermans particularly useful Thus the contributions explore the ways in which identity formation is shaped by internal dialogues between personal and collective voices in the context of the specific constellations of power in which these voices are embedded The volume is divided into three parts addressing theoretical and methodological considerations religious resources in narratives on life transitions and religious positioning in diaspora

Otherness in Question Livia Mathias Simão, Jaan Valsiner, 2007-01-01 This book brings to social scientists a new look at how human beings are striving towards understanding others and through that effort making sense of themselves It brings together researchers from all over the World who have suggested a set of new approaches to the basic research issue of how human beings are social beings while being unique in their personal ways of being Issues of social representation communication dialogical self and human subjectivity are represented in this book The book contributes to the contemporary epistemological and ethical debate about the question of otherness and would be of interest to educationalists sociologists psychologists and anthropologists It is an invitation to the wide readership to join in this collective effort towards the construction of new conceptions about myself others relationships that allow for innovative understanding of various social practices and problem solving in society

The Catalyzing Mind Kenneth R. Cabell, Jaan Valsiner, 2013-11-11 How do we understand and explain phenomena in psychology What does the concept of causality mean when we discuss higher psychological functions and behavior Is it possible to generate laws in a psychological and behavioral science laws that go beyond statistical regularities frequencies and probabilities An international group of authors compare and contrast the use of a causal model in psychology with a newer model the catalytic model The Catalyzing Mind Beyond Models of Causality proposes an approach to the qualitative nature of psychological phenomena that focuses on the psychological significance and meaning of conditions contexts and situations as well as their sign mediating processes Contributors develop apply and criticize the notion of a catalyzing mind in hopes of achieving conceptual clarity and rigor Disciplines such as philosophy psychology semiotics and biosemiotics are used for an interdisciplinary approach to the book Research topics such as history and national identity immigration and transitions to adulthood are all brought into a dialogue with the concept of the catalyzing mind With a variety of disciplines theoretical concepts and research topics this book is a collective effort at an approach to move beyond models of causality for explaining and understanding psychological phenomena Learning, Social Interaction and Diversity - Exploring Identities in School Practices Eva Hjörne, Geerdina van der Aalsvoort, Guida de Abreu, 2012-09-05 The main idea of the book is to contribute to a broader understanding of learning identity and diversity by presenting actual research findings that were retrieved from classroom settings and related social practices Learning is to a large extent an ongoing social process as both students and their teachers learn by being part of shared social practices through social interactions that facilitate learning gains Sociocultural research shows that the organization of schooling promotes or restricts learning and is a crucial factor to understand how children from a diversity of backgrounds profit from instruction This is a first urgent issue to be considered by teachers and teacher education in our socio and culturally diverse society A second issue is the on going debate about learning as a process that involves the construction of identities in schools and classrooms and in the transitions between school and home practices Last but not least since school practices can be addressed from the perspective of diversity and special educational needs an on going discussion about optimizing pedagogical approaches is of main importance to allow maximum educational effectiveness Our potential audience for this book are researchers post graduate students in education and psychology teachers teacher education other academics and policy makers
