Translation Adaptation And Transformation Bloomsbury Advances In Translation:

Translation, Adaptation and Transformation Laurence Raw, 2012-01-12 Examines what adaptation and translation are and moves towards theorizing both as coherent disciplines Translation, Adaptation and Transformation Laurence Raw, 2012-01-12 In recent years adaptation studies has established itself as a discipline in its own right separate from translation studies The bulk of its activity to date has been restricted to literature and film departments focussing on questions of textual transfer and adaptation of text to film It is however much more interdisciplinary and is not simply a case of transferring content from one medium to another This collection furthers the research into exactly what the act of adaptation involves and whether it differs from other acts of textual rewriting In addition the cultural turn in translation studies has prompted many scholars to consider adaptation as a form of inter semiotic translation But what does this mean and how can we best theorize it What are the semiotic systems that underlie translation and adaptation Containing theoretical chapters and personal accounts of actual adaptations and translations this is an original contribution to translation and adaptation studies which will appeal to researchers and graduate students Music, Text and Translation Helen Julia Minors, 2013-05-23 Explores the roles that translation plays in a musical context questioning the transference of sense between music and text Community Translation Mustapha Taibi, Uldis Ozolins, 2016-02-25 Investigating an important field within translation studies Community Translation addresses the specific context characteristics and needs of translation in and for communities Traditional classifications in the fields of discourse and genre are of limited use to the field of translation studies as they overlook the social functions of translation Instead this book argues for a classification that cuts across traditional lines based on the social dimensions of translation and the relationships between text producers and audiences Community Translation discusses the different types of texts produced by public authorities services and individuals for communities that need to be translated into minority languages and the socio cultural issues that surround them In this way this book demonstrates the vital role that community translation plays in ensuring communication with all citizens and in the empowerment of minority language speakers by giving them access to information enabling them to participate fully in society Celebrity Translation in British Theatre Robert Stock, 2020-07-23 This book explores the impact that high profile and well known translators have on audience reception of translated theatre Using Relevance Theory as a framework the book demonstrates how prior knowledge of a celebrity translator's contextual background can affect the spectator's cognitive state and influence their interpretation of the play Three canonical plays adapted for the British stage are analysed Mark Ravenhill's translation of Life of Galileo by Bertolt Brecht Roger McGough's translation of Tartuffe by Molière and Simon Stephens translation of A Doll's House by Henrik Ibsen Drawing on interviews audience feedback reviews blogs and social media posts Stock examines the extent to which audiences infer the celebrity translator's own voice from their translations In doing so he adds new perspectives to the long standing debate on the visibility of the translator in both the process of translating and the reception of the translation Celebrity Translation in British Theatre offers an original approach to theatre translation that sheds light on the culture of celebrity and its capacity to attract new audiences to plays in translation

Retranslation Sharon Deane-Cox, 2014-08-28 Retranslation is a phenomenon which gives rise to multiple translations of a particular work But theoretical engagement with the motivations and outcomes of retranslation often falls short of acknowledging the complex nature of this repetitive process and reasoning has so far been limited to considerations of progress updating and challenge there is even less in the way of empirical study This book seeks to redress the balance through its case studies on the initial translations and retranslations of Flaubert's Madame Bovary and Sand's pastoral tale La Mare au diable within the British literary context What emerges is a detailed exposition of how and why these works have been retold alongside a critical re-evaluation of existing lines of enquiry into retranslation A flexible methodology for the study of retranslations is also proposed which draws on Systemic Functional Grammar narratology narrative theory and genetic criticism

Translating the Poetry of the Holocaust Jean Boase-Beier, 2015-05-24 Taking a cognitive approach this book asks what poetry and in particular Holocaust poetry does to the reader and to what extent the translation of this poetry can have the same effects It is informed by current theoretical discussion and features many practical examples Holocaust poetry differs from other genres of writing about the Holocaust in that it is not so much concerned to document facts as to document feelings and the sense of an experience It shares the potential of all poetry to have profound effects on the thoughts and feelings of the reader This book examines how the openness to engagement that Holocaust poetry can engender achieved through stylistic means needs to be preserved in translation if the translated poem is to function as a Holocaust poem in any meaningful sense This is especially true when historical and cultural distance intervenes The first book of its kind and by a world renowned scholar and translator this is required reading

The Pragmatic Translator Massimiliano Morini, 2013-01-01 Showcases a descriptive theory of translation based on pragmatics describing all processes and products of translation on the performative interpersonal and locative axes

Quality In Professional Translation Joanna Drugan, 2013-02-28 How do translation companies multilingual international organizations and individual translators measure and improve the quality of their translations This book reports on the range of approaches to quality assurance across the translation industry from Norway to China from the individual freelance working in a home office to the largest translation supplier in the world Best practice is outlined for a range of translation scenarios enabling readers to learn from others experience and mistakes The author also draws on over a decade's experience to outline the potential to improve quality by exploiting modern technological support tools such as translation memory software New and experienced translators will gain understanding of what employers expect and reward translation companies can learn how their peers and rivals manage this sensitive area of their work clients will find out what levels of quality they can expect and academics are provided with an illuminating insight into how quality is assessed and guaranteed in the profession today

Telling the

Story of Translation Judith Woodsworth, 2017-08-10 Scholars have long highlighted the links between translating and re writing increasingly blurring the line between translations and so called original works Less emphasis has been placed on the work of writers who translate and the ways in which they conceptualize or even fictionalize the task of translation This book fills that gap and thus will be of interest to scholars in linguistics translation studies and literary studies Scrutinizing translation through a new lens Judith Woodsworth reveals the sometimes problematic relations between author and translator along with the evolution of the translator s voice and visibility The book investigates the uses and abuses of translation at the hands of George Bernard Shaw Gertrude Stein and Paul Auster prominent writers who bring into play assorted fictions as they tell their stories of translations Each case is interesting in itself because of the new material analysed and the conclusions reached Translation is seen not only as an exercise and fruitful starting point it is also a way of paying tribute repaying a debt and cementing a friendship Taken together the case studies point the way to a teleology of translation and raise the question what is translation for Shaw Stein and Auster adopt an authorial posture that distinguishes them from other translators They stretch the boundaries of the translation proper their words spilling over into the liminal space of the text in some cases they hijack the act of translation to serve their own ends Through their tales of loss counterfeit and hard labour they cast an occasionally bleak glance at what it means to be a translator Yet they also pay homage to translation and provide fresh insights that continue to manifest themselves in current works of literature By engaging with translation as a literary act in its own right these eminent writers confer greater prestige on what has traditionally been viewed as a subservient art
