We Are All Suspects Now Untold Stories From Immigrant Communities After 911:

We Are All Suspects Now Tram Nguyen, 2005-09-15 In an ironic reversal of the American dream a staggering 20 000 members of the immigrant community of Midwood Brooklyn known as Little Pakistan voluntarily left the United States after 9 11 Tram Nguyen reveals the human cost of the domestic war on terror and examines the impact of post 9 11 policies on people targeted because of immigration status nationality and religion Nguyen s evocative narrative reporting about the families detainees local leaders community advocates and others living on the front lines tells the stories of people who witnessed and experienced firsthand the unjust detainment or deportation of family members friends and neighbors We meet Mohammad Butt who died in detention in New Jersey and the Saleems who flee Queens for Canada We even follow a self proclaimed citizen patroller who monitors and detains immigrants on the U S Mexico border We Are All Suspects Now in the words of Mike Davis takes us inside a dark world where the American Dream is fast turning into a nightmare and suggests proactive responses to stop our growing climate of xenophobia intimidation and discrimination Ebony Roots, Northern Soil Charmaine A. Nelson, 2010-10-12 Ebony Roots Northern Soil is a powerful and timely collection of critical essays exploring the experiences histories and cultural engagements of black Canadians Drawing from postcolonial critical race and black feminist theory this innovative anthology brings together an extraordinary set of well recognized and new scholars engaging in the critical debates about the cultural politics of identity and issues of cultural access representation production and reception Emerging from a national conference in 2005 the book records critiques and yet transcends this groundbreaking event Drawn from a range of disciplines including Art History Communication Studies Cultural Studies Education English History and Sociology the chapters examine black contributions to and participation within the realms of popular music television and film the art world museums academia and social activism In the process the burning issues of access to cultural capital the practice of multiculturalism definitions of black Canadianness and the state of Black Canadian Studies are dissected Attentive to issues of sexuality and gender as well as race the book also explores and challenges the dominance of black Americanness in Canada especially in its incarnation as hip hop Acknowledging a differently constituted and heterogeneous black Canadianness it contemplates the possibility of an identity in dialogue with and yet distinct from dominant ideals of African Americanness Ebony Roots also explores the deficit in Black Canadian Studies across the nation s universities drawing a line between the neglect of black Canadian populations histories and experiences in general and the resulting lack of an academic disciplinary infrastructure Poignant blends of the personal and the political the chapters are both scholarly in their critical insights and rigour and daring in their honesty Ebony Roots defiantly foregrounds the often disavowed issues of institutional racism against blacks in Canadian academia education and cultural institutions as well as the injurious effects of everyday racism In so doing the book challenges the myth of Canada as a racially benevolent and tolerant state the great white north free from racism and the legacy of colonialism Instead the very definitions of Canada and black Canadianness are unpacked and explored Ebony Roots is a necessary history lesson a contemporary cultural debate and a call to action It is a momentous and overdue contribution to Black Canadian Studies and a must read for academics students and the general public alike The War of My Generation David Kieran,2015-08-04 Following the 9 11 attacks approximately four million Americans have turned eighteen each year and more than fifty million children have been born These members of the millennial and post millennial generation have come of age in a moment marked by increased anxiety about terrorism two protracted wars and policies that have raised questions about the United States s role abroad and at home Young people have not been shielded from the attacks or from the wars and policy debates that followed Instead they have been active participants as potential military recruits and organizers for social justice amid anti immigration policies as students in schools learning about the attacks or readers of young adult literature about wars The War of My Generation is the first essay collection to focus specifically on how the terrorist attacks and their aftermath have shaped these new generations of Americans Drawing from a variety of disciplines including anthropology sociology cultural studies and literary studies the essays cover a wide range of topics from graphic war images in the classroom to computer games designed to promote military recruitment to emails from parents in the combat zone The collection considers what cultural factors and products have shaped young people s experience of the 9 11 attacks the wars that have followed and their experiences as emerging citizen subjects in that moment Revealing how young people understand the War on Terror and how adults understand the way young people think The War of My Generation offers groundbreaking research on catastrophic events still fresh in our minds Doing Democracy Nancy S. Love,Mark Mattern,2013-10-28 Doing Democracy examines the potential of the arts and popular culture to extend and deepen the experience of democracy Its contributors address the use of photography cartooning memorials monuments poetry literature music theater festivals and parades to open political spaces awaken critical consciousness engage marginalized groups in political activism and create new more democratic societies This volume demonstrates how ordinary people use the creative and visionary capacity of the arts and popular culture to shape alternative futures It is unique in its insistence that democratic theorists and activists should acknowledge and employ affective as well as rational faculties in the ongoing struggle for democracy Detain and Deport Nancy Hiemstra,2019-03-15 Detention and deportation have become keystones of immigration and border enforcement policies around the world The United States has built a massive immigration enforcement system that detains and deports more people than any other country This system is grounded in the assumptions that national borders are territorially fixed and controllable and that detention and deportation bolster security and deter migration Nancy Hiemstra s multisited ethnographic research pairs investigation of enforcement practices in the United States with an exploration into conditions migrants face in one country of origin Ecuador Detain and Deport s transnational approach reveals how the U S immigration enforcement system s chaotic organization and operation distracts from the mismatch between these assumptions and actual outcomes Hiemstra draws on the experiences of detained and deported migrants as well as their families and communities in Ecuador to show convincingly that instead of deterring migrants and improving national security detention and deportation generate insecurities and forge lasting connections across territorial borders At the same time the system s chaos works to curtail rights and maintain detained migrants on a narrow path to deportation Hiemstra argues that in addition to the racialized ideas of national identity and a fluctuating dependence on immigrant labor that have long propelled U S immigration policies the contemporary emphasis on detention and deportation is fueled by the influence of people and entities that profit from them

Scapegoating Islam Jeffrey L. Thomas,2015-09-15 Exploring the experience of Muslims in America following 9 11 this book assesses how anti Muslim bias within the U S government and the larger society undermines American security and democracy In the aftermath of the events of September 11 2001 Muslims in America have experienced discrimination and intolerance from the U S government and American citizens alike From religious and ethnic profiling to hate crimes intolerance against Muslims is being reinforced on multiple levels undercutting the Muslim community s engagement in American society This text is essential for understanding how the unjust treatment of American Muslims following September 11 has only served to alienate the Muslim community and further divide the United States Authored by an expert analyst of policy for 20 years this book explores the prejudice against Muslims and how the actions of the U S government continue to perpetuate fear and stereotypes within U S citizens The author posits that by respecting the civil rights of Muslims the government will lead by example in the acceptance of American Muslims improving homeland security along with the lives of Muslims living in the United States psychology have received some attention in the literature in the last decade. A number of texts currently address these significant concerns for example Counseling the Culturally Different Sue Handbook of Multicultural Counseling Poterotto et al 2009 and Handbook of Multicultural Counseling Competencies Pope Davis Coleman 2005. In their most recent editions several of these books address more nuanced complexities of diversity for example the intersections of gender or social class with race ethnicity. Meanwhile other texts have addressed gender issues in psychology Handbook of Counseling Women Counseling Men with some attention paid to racial ethnic and other diversity concerns. Clearly the progression of scholarship in this field reflects the importance of incorporating multiple aspects of diversity within psychology. However no book currently exists that fully addresses the complexities of race ethnicity and gender together. Better understanding of the dual impact of race ethnicity and gender on psychological functioning may lead to more effective conceptualizations of a number of mental health issues such as domestic violence addictions health related behaviors and achievement. Exploring the impact of race ethnicity and gender also may provide a broader understanding of self in community as this affects individuals families and other social groups and work and career development. Topics of interest may include identity development worldviews and belief systems parenting styles interventions for promoting resilience and persistence and strategies for enhancing more accurate diagnostic and treatment modalities. Today's world is comprised of multiple and intersecting communities that remain in need of psychological models and interventions that support and promote both individual and collective mental health. We believe that utilizing unidimensional conceptual models e.g. focusing solely on race ethnicity or gender no longer adequately addresses psychological concerns that are dynamic complex and multi faceted. The proposed Handbook will focus on timely topics which historically have been under addressed for a number of diverse populations.

Who We Be Jeff Chang, 2024-06-04 Race A four letter word The greatest social divide in American life a half century ago and today During that time the U S has seen the most dramatic demographic and cultural shifts in its history what can be called the colorization of America But the same nation that elected its first Black president on a wave of hope another four letter word is still plunged into endless culture wars How do Americans see race now How has that changed and not changed over the half century After eras framed by words like multicultural and post racial do we see each other any more clearly Who We Be remixes comic strips and contemporary art campus protests and corporate marketing campaigns Martin Luther King Jr and Trayvon Martin into a powerful unusual and timely cultural history of the idea of racial progress In this follow up to the award winning classic Can t Stop Won t Stop A History of the Hip Hop Generation Jeff Chang brings fresh energy style and sweep to the essential American story

Almost All Aliens Paul Spickard, 2009-05-07 Almost All Aliens offers a unique reinterpretation of immigration in the history of the United States Leaving behind the traditional melting pot model of immigrant assimilation Paul Spickard puts forward a fresh and provocative reconceptualization that embraces the multicultural reality of immigration that has always existed in the United States His astute study illustrates the complex relationship between ethnic identity and race slavery and colonial expansion Examining not only the lives of those who crossed the Atlantic but also those who crossed the Pacific the Caribbean and the North American Borderlands Almost All Aliens provides a distinct inclusive analysis of immigration and identity in the United States from 1600 until the present For additional information and classroom resources please visit the Almost All Aliens companion website at www.routledge.com/textbooks/almostallaliens

Dreamland Carly Goodman, 2023-03-13 In a world of border walls and obstacles to migration a lottery where winners can gain permanent residency in the United States sounds too good to be true Just as unlikely is the idea that the United States would make such visas available to foster diversity within a country where systemic racism endures But in 1990 the United States Diversity Visa Lottery was created to do just that Dreamland tells the surprising story of this unlikely government program and its role in American life as well as the global story of migration Historian Carly Goodman takes readers from Washington D C where proponents deployed a colorblind narrative about our nation of immigrants to secure visas for white immigrants to the African countries where it flourished and fostered dreams of going to America From the post office to the internet aspiring emigrants visa agents and others embraced the lottery and tried their luck in a time of austerity and limits Rising African immigration to the United States has enriched American life created opportunities for mobility and nourished imagined possibilities But the promise of the American dream has been threatened by the United States embrace of anti immigrant policies and persistent anti Black racism

Islamophobia John L. Esposito, Ibrahim Kalin, 2011-03-30 Islamophobia has been on the rise since September 11 as seen in countless cases of discrimination racism hate speeches physical attacks and anti Muslim campaigns This collection of essays takes a multidisciplinary approach to the problem bringing together the expertise and experience of Muslim American and European scholars Contributors discuss and evaluate good practices already in place and offer new methods for dealing with discrimination hatred and racism

Muslim American City Alisa Perkins, 2020-07-07 Explores how Muslim Americans test the boundaries of American pluralism In 2004 the al Islah Islamic Center in Hamtramck Michigan set off a contentious controversy when it requested permission to use loudspeakers to broadcast the adh n or Islamic call to prayer The issue gained international notoriety when media outlets from around the world flocked to the city to report on what had become a civil battle between religious tolerance and Islamophobic sentiment The Hamtramck council voted unanimously to allow mosques to broadcast the adh n making it one of the few US cities to officially permit it through specific legislation Muslim American City explores how debates over Muslim Americans use of both public and political space have challenged and ultimately reshaped the boundaries of urban belonging Drawing on more than ten years of ethnographic research in Hamtramck which boasts one of the largest concentrations of Muslim residents of any American city Alisa Perkins shows how the Muslim American population has grown and asserted itself in public life She explores for example the efforts of Muslim American women to maintain gender norms in neighborhoods mosques and schools as well as Muslim Americans efforts to organize public responses to municipal initiatives Her in depth fieldwork incorporates the perspectives of both Muslims and non Muslims including Polish Catholics African American Protestants and other city residents Drawing particular attention to Muslim American expressions of religious and cultural identity in civil life particularly in response to discrimination and stereotyping Perkins questions the popular assumption that the religiosity of Muslim minorities hinders their capacity for full citizenship in secular societies She shows how Muslims and non Muslims have through their negotiations over the issues over the use of space together invested Muslim practice with new forms of social capital and challenged nationalist and secularist notions of belonging

Transnational Narratives from the Caribbean Elvira Pulitano, 2016-03-10

This book offers a timely intervention in current debates on diaspora and diasporic identity by affirming the importance of narrative as a discursive mode to understand the human face of contemporary migrations and dislocations. Focusing on the Caribbean double diaspora, Pulitano offers a close reading of a range of popular works by four well-known writers currently living in the United States: Jamaica Kincaid, Michelle Cliff, Edwidge Danticat, and Caryl Phillips. Navigating the map of fictional characters, testimonial accounts, and autobiographical experiences, Pulitano draws attention to the lived experience of contemporary diasporic formations. The book offers a provocative rethinking of socio-scientific analyses of diaspora by discussing the embodied experience of contemporary diasporic communities, drawing on disciplines such as Caribbean Postcolonial Diaspora and Indigenous Studies, along with theories on border thinking and coloniality/modernity. Contesting restrictive national and linguistic boundaries when discussing literature originating from the Caribbean, Pulitano situates the transnational location of Caribbean-born writers within current debates of Transnational American Studies and investigates the role of immigrant writers in discourses of race, ethnicity, citizenship, and belonging. Exploring the multifarious intersections between home, exile, migration, and displacement, the book makes a significant contribution to memory and trauma studies, human rights debates, and international law, aiming at a wide range of scholars and specialized agents beyond the strictly literary circle. This volume affirms the humanity of personal stories and experiences against the invisibility of immigrant subjects in most theoretical accounts of diaspora and migration.
