To combat the deep inequalities that persist across the educational system we need transformative leadership. Yet given rigid institutional rules a legacy of structural barriers and political attacks meant to discredit and defund schools how can educational leaders effectively promote equity and champion the rights of all students? Transforming Educational Leadership sets out to answer this question by examining the lived experiences of leaders from a range of vantages: students, parents, educators, organizational leaders and scholars. Drawing key lessons from their narratives and considering them alongside theory from sociological and leadership studies Anindya Kundu presents tools for emerging and seasoned leaders equipping them to build better systems to address stakeholders' basic needs, apply research to make sense of complex problems, maintain conviction in the face of staunch opposition, promote the agency of everyone served and uphold dignity through educational leadership. Ultimately Transforming Educational Leadership calls us to action to broaden our conceptions around what educational leadership is and should be to become the leaders we can be and to reclaim education as our collective responsibility so we can together learn to root out and heal the inequalities that plague the US education system and its learners.
