Transforming Knowledge 2Nd Edition Elizabeth Minnich, 2010-06-04 A new edition of a widely influential book engages with contemporary critiques of inequality and with recent global events

Transforming Knowledge and Ways of Knowing for Food Sovereignty Michel P. Pimbert, 2006 In the face of the organised power of science business and mainstream politics the more diffuse but networked power of the growing food sovereignty movement is confronted with many challenges In this book the author focuses on only one of these the need to transform knowledge and ways of knowing to regenerate locally controlled food systems The production of ecologically literate and socially just knowledge implies a radical shift from the existing top down and increasingly corporate controlled research system to an approach which devolves more decision making power to farmers indigenous peoples food workers consumers and citizens for the production of social and ecological knowledge The whole process should lead to the democratisation of research diverse forms of co inquiry based on specialist and non specialist knowledge an expansion of horizontal networks for autonomous learning and action and more transparent oversight This implies 1 nurturing political values that emphasise more direct citizen participation in determining research agendas regulations and policies 2 the adoption of a learning process approach and extended peer review in the production and validation of knowledge and 3 enabling policies that offer citizens adequate material security and time for democratic deliberation in the context of more localised food systems and economies pub website

Transforming Knowledge 2Nd Edition Elizabeth Minnich, 2005 This is a book about how we define knowledge and how we think about moral and political questions It argues that the prevailing systems of knowledge morality and politics are rooted in views that are exclusionary and therefore legitimate injustice patriarchy and violence That is these views divide humans into different kinds along a hierarchy whose elite still defines the systems that shape our lives and misshape our thinking Like the first edition of Transforming Knowledge this substantially revised edition calls upon us to continue to liberate our minds and the systems we live within from concepts that rationalize inequality It engages with the past fifteen years of feminist scholarship and developments in its allied fields such as Cultural Studies African American Studies Queer Studies and Disability Studies to critique the deepest and most vicious of old prejudices This new edition extends Minnich s arguments and connects them with the contemporary academy as well as recent instances of domination genocide and sexualized violence Updated to consider recent scholarship in Gender Multicultural Postcolonial Disability Native American and Queer Studies among other fields of study Revised to include an extended analysis of the conceptual errors that legitimate domination including the construction of kinds genders of human beings Revised to include new materials from a variety of cultures and times and engages with today s contemporary debates about affirmative action postmodernism and religion Back to Holy Church, Experiences and Knowledge Acquired by a Convert Albert von Ruville,1914 History of the German People at the Close of the Middle Ages Johannes Janssen,1909 The Schoolmaster ,1906 Mobilizing for Transformation: How Campuses Are Preparing for the Knowledge Age James L.
