Phenomenology of Film Shawn Loht, 2017-08-25 Phenomenology of Film A Heideggerian Account of the Film Experience uses the philosophy of Martin Heidegger as a framework for addressing key issues in the philosophy of film This study grapples with the question of how we can reconcile film as a popular entertainment medium with Heidegger's own various critiques of popular media and culture throughout his career Shawn Loht also explores topics such as the ontology of film and moving images the phenomenological character of the viewer experience film conceived as an art medium and the function of films as vehicles for philosophical thought He further discusses important concepts from Heidegger s philosophy Dasein existentiality world art and poetry and the nature of philosophy The first four chapters take up these issues from a theoretical perspective The remaining chapters provide robust application of the theoretical material to the films of three contemporary filmmakers Terrence Malick Michael Haneke and David Gordon Green As the first single author monograph that takes up Heidegger s relevance to film Phenomenology of Film will be of particular interest to philosophers of film and specialists of film and media studies working in the intersection of phenomenology and film or phenomenological approaches to issues in popular culture

Exercising Human Rights Robin Redhead,2014-09-25 Exercising Human Rights investigates why human rights are not universally empowering and why this damages people attempting to exercise rights It takes a new approach in looking at humans as the subject of human rights rather than the object and exposes the gendered and ethnocentric aspects of violence and human subjectivity in the context of human rights Using an innovative visual methodology Redhead shines a new critical light on human rights campaigns in practice She examines two cases in depth First she shows how Amnesty International depicts women negatively in their 2004 Stop Violence against Women Campaign revealing the political implications of how images deny women their agency because violence is gendered She also analyses the Oka conflict between indigenous people and the Canadian state She explains how the Canadian state defined the Mohawk people in such a way as to deny their human subjectivity By looking at how the Mohawk used visual media to communicate their plight beyond state boundaries she delves into the disjuncture between state sovereignty and human rights This book is useful for anyone with an interest in human rights campaigns and in the study of political images

Anaphora and Conceptual Structure Karen van Hoek,1997-09-02 Karen van Hoek presents a cogent analysis of the classic problem of constraints on pronominal anaphora within the framework of Cognitive Grammar Van Hoek proceeds from the position that grammatical structure can be characterized in terms of semantic and phonological representations without autonomous syntactic structures or principles such as tree structures or c command She argues that constraints on anaphora can be explained in terms of semantic interactions between nominals and the contexts in which they are embedded Integrating the results of previous work Van Hoek develops a model in which some nominals function as conceptual reference points that dominate over stretches defined by the semantic relations among elements When a full noun is in the domain of a reference point coreference is ruled out since the speaker would be sending contradictory messages about the salience of the noun s referent With profound implications for the nature of syntax this book will interest theoretical linguists of all persuasions
