Sparapani, Pamela L. Ross McClain, 2016-07-29 This book examines the current social political economic and religious climate of the world makes projections for the future and then makes suggestions for what the contributors believe educators need to think about in order to adequately prepare young people to successfully navigate that future We live in a globally connected world and young people as they move into the future need to be prepared to live in that future Schools and teachers tend to focus on the present which is okay however schools and teachers must decide what is important to know in the present in order for young people to be successful in the future The responsibility of education today must be to prepare learners to live in an unknown future that is global and not be so focused on an uncertain present Asian Americans at the Margins H. Roy Kaplan, 2025-02-07 As the United States wrestles with the rising tide of hate crimes Asian Americans have been disproportionately victimized From the infamous Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882 to contemporary attempts to restrict Asian land ownership Asian Americans continue to be regarded as different aliens in their own country Why are they still regarded as outsiders despite their scientific cultural and other contributions to U S society This book exposes the origin and current perceptions of myths and stereotypes about Asian Americans with a look at prospects for their recognition and acceptance by the dominant white society
