Wandering Home A Long Walk Across Americas Most Hopeful Landscape:

Wandering Home: A Long Walk Across America's Most Hopeful Landscape Bill McKibben, 2014-04 The bestselling author of The End of Nature walks from his current home in Vermont to his former home in the Adirondacks and reflects on the two landscapes places of diverse human habitation and pure wilderness that share a border

Wandering Home Bill McKibben, 2014-04-01 A marvelous writer who has thought deeply about the environment loves this part of the country and knows how to be a first class traveling companion Entertainment Weekly In Wandering Home one of his most personal books New York Times bestselling author Bill McKibben invites readers to join him on a hike from his current home in Vermont to his former home in the Adirondacks Here he reveals that the motivation for his impassioned environmental activism is not high minded or abstract but as tangible as the lakes and forests he explored in his twenties the same woods where he lives with his family today Over the course of his journey McKibben meets with old friends and kindred spirits including activists writers organic farmers a vintner a beekeeper and environmental studies students all in touch with nature and committed to its preservation For McKibben there is no better place than these woods to work out a balance between the wild and the cultivated the individual and the global community and to discover the answers to the challenges facing our planet today A short lovely chronicle of a long hike during which McKibben meditatively reflects on the relationship between nature and humanity Nature writing at its best Kirkus Reviews starred review An enamoring and discerning look at one man's compiled thoughts and researched knowledge on the Adirondacks as he strolls through its dense forests All Points North McKibben writes with his usual wry approachable power about the Adirondacks his chosen home The book could single handedly spur a rush of tourism to the Adirondack area it's that good Publishers Weekly starred review

This Radical Land Daegan Miller, 2024-05-31 The American people sees itself advance across the wilderness draining swamps straightening rivers peopling the solitude and subduing nature wrote Alexis de Tocqueville in 1835 That's largely how we still think of nineteenth century America today a country expanding unstoppably bending the continent's natural bounty to the national will heedless of consequence A country of slavery and of Indian wars There's much truth in that vision But if you know where to look you can uncover a different history one of vibrant resistance one that's been mostly forgotten This Radical Land recovers that story Daegan Miller is our guide on a beautifully written revelatory trip across the continent during which we encounter radical thinkers settlers and artists who grounded their ideas of freedom justice and progress in the very landscapes around them even as the runaway engine of capitalism sought to steamroll everything in its path Here we meet Thoreau the expert surveyor drawing anticapitalist property maps We visit a black antislavery community in the Adirondack wilderness of upstate New York We discover how seemingly commercial photographs of the transcontinental railroad secretly sent subversive messages and how a band of utopian anarchists among California's sequoias imagined a greener freer future At every turn everyday radicals looked to landscape for the language of their dissent drawing crucial early links between the environment and social justice links we're still struggling to strengthen today Working in a tradition that stretches from Thoreau to Rebecca Solnit Miller offers nothing less than a new way of seeing the American past and of understanding what it can offer us for the present and the future

Washington Schlepped Here Christopher Buckley, 2007-12-18 The father of our country slept with Martha but schlepped in the District Now in the great man's footsteps comes humorist and twenty year Washington resident Christopher Buckley with the real story of the city's founding Well not really We're just trying to get you to buy the book But we can say with justification that there's never been a more enjoyable funny and informative tour guide to the city than Buckley His delight as he points out things of interest is contagious and his frequent digressions about his own adventures as a White House staffer are often hilarious In Washington Schlepped Here Buckley takes us along for several walks around the town and shares with us a bit of his other Washington They include Dante's Paradiso Union Station

the Zero Milestone of American democracy the U S Capitol the Almost Pink House the White House and many other historical and often hysterical journeys Buckley is the sort of wonderful guide who pries loose the abalone like clichés that cling to a place as mythic as D C Wonderfully insightful and eminently practical Washington Schlepped Here shows us that even a city whose chief industry is government bureaucracy is a lot funnier and more surprising than its media ready image might let on From the Hardcover edition

Wild Spectacle Janisse Ray, 2021-10-26 Looking for adventure and continuing a process of self discovery Janisse Ray has repeatedly set out to immerse herself in wildness to be wild and to learn what wildness can teach us From overwintering with monarch butterflies in Mexico to counting birds in Belize the stories in Wild Spectacle capture her luckiest moments ones of heart pounding amazement discovery of romance and moving toward living more wisely In Ray's worst moments she crosses boundaries to encounter danger and embrace sadness Anchored firmly in two places Ray has called home Montana and southern Georgia the sixteen essays here span a landscape from Alaska to Central America connecting common elements in the ecosystems of people and place One of her abiding griefs is that she has missed the sights of explorers like Bartram Sacagawea and Carver flocks of passenger pigeons routes of wolves herds of bison She craves a wilder world and documents encounters that are rare in a time of disappearing habitat declining biodiversity and a world too slowly coming to terms with climate change In an age of increasingly virtual urban life Ray embraces the intentionality of trying to be a better person balanced with seeking out natural spectacle abundance and less trammelled environments She questions what it means to travel into the wild as a woman speculates on the impacts of ecotourism and travel in general questions assumptions about eating from the land and appeals to future generations to make substantive change Wild Spectacle explores our first home the wild earth and invites us to question its known and unknown beauties and curiosities

A Road Running Southward Dan Chapman, 2022-05-26 Engaging hybrid part lyrical travelogue part investigative journalism and part jeremiad all shot through with droll humor The Atlanta Journal Constitution In 1867 John Muir set out on foot to explore the botanical wonders of the South keeping a detailed journal of his adventures as he traipsed from Kentucky southward to Florida One hundred and fifty years later on a similar whim veteran Atlanta reporter Dan Chapman distressed by sprawl driven environmental ills in a region he loves recreated Muir's journey to see for himself how nature has fared since Muir's time Channeling Muir he uses humor keen observation and a deep love of place to celebrate the South's natural riches But he laments that a treasured way of life for generations of Southerners is endangered as long simmering struggles intensify over misused and dwindling resources Chapman seeks to discover how Southerners might balance surging population growth with protecting the natural beauty Muir found so special Each chapter touches upon a local ecological problem at risk species in Mammoth Cave coal ash in Kingston Tennessee climate change in the Nantahala National Forest water wars in Georgia aquifer depletion in Florida that resonates across the South Chapman delves into the region's natural history moving between John Muir's vivid descriptions of a lush botanical paradise and the myriad environmental problems facing the South today Along the way he talks to locals with deep ties to the land scientists hunters politicians and even a Muir impersonator who describe the changes they've witnessed and what it will take to accommodate a fast growing population without destroying the natural beauty and a cherished connection to nature A Road Running Southward is part travelogue part environmental cri de coeur and paints a picture of a South under siege It is a passionate appeal a call to action to save one of the loveliest and most biodiverse regions of the world by understanding what we have to lose if we do nothing

Unreal City Judith Nies, 2014-04-08 An epic struggle over land water and power is erupting in the American West and the halls of Washington DC It began when a 4 000 square mile area of Arizona desert called Black Mesa was divided between the Hopi and Navajo tribes To the outside world it was a land struggle between two fractious Indian tribes to political insiders and energy corporations it was a divide and conquer play for the 21 billion tons of coal beneath Black Mesa Today that coal powers cheap electricity for Los Angeles a new water aqueduct into Phoenix and the neon dazzle of Las Vegas Journalist and historian Judith Nies has been tracking this story for nearly four decades She follows the money and tells us the true story of wealth and water mendacity and corruption at the highest levels of business and government Amid the backdrop of the breathtaking desert landscape Unreal City shows five cultures colliding Hopi Navajo global energy corporations Mormons and US government agencies resulting in a battle over resources and the future of the West Las Vegas may attract 39 million visitors a year but the tourists mesmerized by the dancing water fountains at the Bellagio don't ask where the water comes from They don't see a city with the nation's highest rates of foreclosure unemployment and suicide They don't see the astonishing drop in the water level of Lake Mead where Sin City gets 90 percent of its water supply Nies shows how the struggle over Black Mesa lands is an example of a global phenomenon in which giant transnational corporations have the power to separate indigenous people from their energy rich lands with the help of host governments Unreal City explores how and why resources have been taken from native lands what it means in an era of climate change and why in this city divorced from nature the only thing more powerful than money is water
