the problem is that conventional development approaches that work have in fact not truly been followed to the letter and hence the quagmire. All this is ironic since everything we do about our world is development. So how come there is difficult knowledge when it comes to learning from what we know i.e. what local peoples do and have done for centuries as a starting point to reconstructing and reframing development. In getting our heads around this paradox we are tempted to ask more questions. How do we as African scholars and researchers begin to develop home grown solutions to our problems. How do we pioneer new analytical systems for understanding our communities and offer a pathway to genuine African development i.e. Indigenist African development see also Yankah 2004. How do we speak of Indigenist development mindful of global developments and entanglements around us. Can we afford to pursue development still mired in a catch up scenario.
