

This ground-breaking, mixed genre memoir journeys from the soil of Texas farmland near Pecosville to the skyscrapers' view of the Gulf Coast, near Manzanita. Three generations of Hispanic families are viewed through the faith-filled lens of the miraculous and the poignancy of dreams never realized. The journey continues to mid-twentieth century Houston, where what is done is as powerful as that which never happened.

SARAH CORTEZ is the author of How to Garden a Day Late (Pittkin Press, 2005) and winner of the RMA Texas Literary Award in Poetry. "There, in words which were refracted through the stained-glass window made up of common words and lived stories with the transcendent, Sarah Cortez offers us insight into those who have shaped her as well as into the complexities of spending most her own childhood without them in her world, illuminated by the light of faith and the rich tradition of her Mexican heritage."

— Fred Moten

"In this mixed genre memoir, Cortez invites us to sit by her side as she shares the joyful, poignant memories of the early years of her life. She argues from one genre to another as reality and memory that the reality occurred poems appear a natural, unforced extension of the business poem."

— Larry R. Thomas
