Wat Is Antisemitisme Een Benadering Vanuit Vier Disciplines:

The Holocaust, Israel and 'the Jew' Evelien Gans, Remco Ensel, 2025-10-01 This book is the first comprehensive study of postwar antisemitism in the Netherlands. It focuses on the way stereotypes are passed on from one decade to the next as reflected in public debates, the mass media, protests and commemorations, and everyday interactions. The Holocaust, Israel and the Jew explores the ways in which old stories and phrases relating to the stereotypical Jew are recycled and modified for new uses, linking the antisemitism of the early postwar years to its enduring manifestations in today's world. The Dutch case is interesting because of the apparent contrast between the Netherlands' famous tradition of tolerance and the large numbers of Jews who were deported and murdered in the Second World War. The book sheds light on the dark side of this so-called Dutch paradox in manifestations of aversion and guilt after 1945. In this context, the abusive taunt 'They forgot to gas you' can be seen as the first radical expression of postwar antisemitism, as well as an indication of how the Holocaust came to be turned against the Jews. The identification of the Jew with the gas chamber spread from the streets to football stadiums and from verbal abuse to pamphlet and protest. The slogan 'Hamas, Hamas! All the Jews to the gas' indicates that Israel became a second marker of postwar antisemitism. The chapters cover themes including soccer-related antisemitism, Jewish responses, philosemitism, antisemitism in Dutch Moroccan and Dutch Turkish communities, contentious acts of remembrance, the neo-Nazi tradition, and the legacy of Theo van Gogh. The book concludes with a lengthy epilogue on the Jew in the politics of the radical right, the attacks in Paris in 2015, and the refugee crisis. The stereotype of the Jew appears to be transferable to other minorities.

Ethnic Minorities and Inter-ethnic Relations in Context Karen Phaet, Antal Orkeny, 2017-10-19 This volume is based on papers presented on ethnic minorities and inter-ethnic relations in Hungary and The Netherlands, which were presented and discussed in three conferences and a series of meetings from 1997-1999. This work builds on comparative studies of the rise of a radical right and the mobilization of anti-immigrant feelings. It presents cross-national comparative research due to the credence that shifting national angles is a powerful strategic tool with which to correct national bias and to uncover submerged or overlooked aspects of specific national cases. The book brings together contributions from Hungarian and Dutch scholars in the field of ethnic minorities and inter-ethnic relations. The two countries are used as exemplary cases of distinct ethno-political patterns in Central and Western Europe. Combining complementary configurational and dimensional approaches to cross-national comparison, the diverse forms of ethnic relations in Hungary and The Netherlands are analyzed, and competing explanations of ethno-political conflict or coordination are tested in both national contexts.

Globalization in Southeast Asia Shinji Yamashita, Jeremy Seymour Eades, 2003 The rapid postwar economic growth in the Southeast Asia region has led to a transformation of many of the societies there, together with the development of new types of anthropological research in the region. Local societies with originally quite different cultures have been incorporated into multi-ethnic states with their own projects of nation building based on the creation of national cultures using these indigenous elements At the same time the expansion of international capitalism has led to increasing flows of money people languages and cultures across national boundaries resulting in new hybrid social structures and cultural forms This book examines the nature of these processes in contemporary Southeast Asia with detailed case studies drawn from countries across the region including Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand At the macro level these include studies of nation building and the incorporation of minorities At the micro level they range from studies of popular cultural forms such as music and textiles to the impact of new sects and the world religions on local religious practice Moving between the global and the local are the various streams of migrants within the region including labor migrants responding to the changing distribution of economic opportunities and ethnic minorities moving in response to natural disaster

Antisemitism Susan Sarah Cohen,1998 Changing Prejudice in Hungary Koos André Postma,Koos Postma,1996 Based on sociological surveys conducted in Hungary in 1987 1992 and 1993 tests a theory which attributes the growth of ethnic prejudices against Gypsies and Jews in the post communist period to the impact of economic transformations in the 1990s which brought about a deterioration in the quality of life Hypothesizes that an individual faced with uncompensated deterioration of social production functions will blame a minority group scapegoat as well as find an alternative source of social approval which leads him to overestimate his ingroup Hungarians and underestimate outgroups Gypsies Jews However the survey data do not support this hypothesis The level of the respondents social losses does not correlate significantly with the extent of their prejudice against Jews Concludes that national identity is not used in Hungary as a vehicle to enhance social identity or produce alternative social approval Also groups other than Jews and Gypsies are victims of scapegoating Therefore the hypothesis must be rejected and other studies be taken up to account for the phenomenon of prejudice
