Wayfinding People Signs And Architecture:

Wayfinding Paul Arthur, Romedi Passini, 2002-01-01 Wayfinding People Signs and Architecture has been reissued as a special limited edition to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the original publication by McGraw Hill and the death in 2001 of co author Paul Arthur. Authors Paul Arthur and Romedi Passini coined the terms signage and wayfinding the use of pictograms words colours and architecture to help people find their way quickly and easily in a built environment. The book has become a standard on the subject for graphic designers and architects world wide. This attractive hard cover collectors edition contains several hundred illustrations.

Information Design Robert Jacobson, 2000-08-25 The contributors to this book are both cautionary and hopeful as they offer visions of how information design can be practiced diligently and ethically for the benefit of information consumers as well as producers. Information design is the newest of the design disciplines. As a sign of our times when the crafting of messages and meaning is so central to our lives information design is not only important it is essential. Contemporary information designers seek to edify more than to persuade to exchange more than to foist upon. With ever more powerful technologies of communication we have learned that the issuer of designed information is as likely as the intended recipient to be changed by it for better or worse. The contributors to this book are both cautionary and hopeful as they offer visions of how information design can be practiced diligently and ethically for the benefit of information consumers as well as producers. They present various methods that seem to work such as sense making and way finding. They make recommendations and serve as guides to a still young but extraordinarily pervasive and persuasive field.

Visual Pollution Adriana Portella, 2016-02-11 In recent years there has been considerable interest in the problems that public spaces face because of the design of commercial signs. The negative consequences that commercial signs can have on the visual quality of urban areas and further more on people s quality of life has been studied from both architectural planning and psychological perspectives. While the issue of visual pollution as this phenomenon is commonly described has been widely debated there is as yet no clear conclusion as to how best to control commercial signage and whether different urban contexts and people from different backgrounds and cultures have universal or distinct preferences. Several different commercial signage approaches are currently applied to different historic cities but these initiatives are not based on principles derived from the perception and evaluation of users. Drawing on a range of comparative and contrasting empirical studies of historic city centres in the UK and Brazil this book examines questions of commercial signage control management the preservation of historic heritage and user preference and satisfaction The author takes an environment behaviour approach to this research involving theories concepts and methodologies related to environmental psychology architecture planning and urban design In doing so it argues that there are in fact visual preferences common to the majority of people independent of their urban context and that these common views can be useful to the development of a general theory of how to control commercial signage In conclusion the book suggests that the best way of controlling signage is not only to recommend general guidelines related to the operation of commercial signage but also to recommend design principles that can create commercial streetscapes evaluated positively by different users

Design for Inclusivity Magda Mostafa, Ruth Baumeister, Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen, Martin Tamke, 2023-09-02 The book provides new perspectives from leading experts examining the role of architects and urbanists in designing for inclusivity in our built environment By focusing on themes of gender race and ethnicity ability neurodiversity age poverty and socio economy and the non human the book tackles the complex challenges that designers and scholars encounter and need to address in their works The volume offers a diverse compilation of peer reviewed papers related to architecture for inclusivity in various different formats ranging from visual essays argumentative papers and scholastic texts It presents the notion of availability a concept which works to challenge the othering inherent in notions of inclusion and accessibility In its introduction it presents a critical discourse around the challenges and potentials lying in the design for availability targeted towards a systemic change of our societies The book is part of a series of six volumes that explore the agency of the built environment in relation to the SDGs through new research conducted by leading researchers The series is led by editors Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen and Martin Tamke in collaboration with the theme editors Design for Climate Adaptation Billie Faircloth and Maibritt Pedersen Zari Design for Rethinking Resources Carlo Ratti and Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen Eds Design for Resilient Communities Anna Rubbo and Juan Du Eds Design for Health Arif Hasan and Christian Benimana Eds Design for Inclusivity Magda Mostafa and Ruth Baumeister Eds Design for Partnerships for Change Sandi Hilal and Merve Bedir Eds
