I talk about how I deal with mental health how to travel with a chronic illness how I keep fit and healthy and I share some of my favourite recipes that taste great are easy to make and are healthy and nutritious But the biggest drive to writing this book is talking about How I Tamed the Wolf How I changed my life around in just one year My quality of life was deteriorating quicker than I could count to ten But now I feel as good as I did pre diagnosis I haven't cured the wolf but I've tamed it to a level where I can live my life once again and I couldn't be happier Now I want to share it with you At the time of writing this book I am shielding at home from COVID 19 due to being in the Clinically Extremely Vulnerable group For anyone who isn't aware of the shielding group the UK Government has put together a list of people who are most vulnerable to and most likely to need hospital treatment if they were to catch COVID 19 Everyone in the shielding group has been asked to isolate at home where it is safest At the start of writing this book I was in the first UK lockdown on week 13 day 91 of shielding I have only left the house for exercise or hospital doctor appointments I am now in the UK's third lockdown and I have given up counting the number of days I have been shielding If I were to tell you things have been plain sailing I would be lying Though I am incredibly grateful to have a system like shielding in place to protect and keep me safe One of the positive things to have come out from me shielding for a long period of time is that it has given me time to focus on writing this book Now grab your cup of tea or whatever you like to drink find a comfy chair sit back and enjoy
