Barber, 2023-04-11 How climate influenced the design strategies of modernist architects Modern Architecture and Climate explores how leading architects of the twentieth century incorporated climate mediating strategies into their designs and shows how regional approaches to climate adaptability were essential to the development of modern architecture Focusing on the period surrounding World War II before fossil fuel powered air conditioning became widely available Daniel Barber brings to light a vibrant and dynamic architectural discussion involving design materials and shading systems as means of interior climate control He looks at projects by well known architects such as Richard Neutra Le Corbusier Lcio Costa Mies van der Rohe and Skidmore Owings and Merrill and the work of climate focused architects such as MMM Roberto Olgyay and Olgyay and Cliff May Drawing on the editorial projects of James Marston Fitch Elizabeth Gordon and others he demonstrates how images and diagrams produced by architects helped conceptualize climate knowledge alongside the work of meteorologists physicists engineers and social scientists Barber describes how this novel type of environmental media catalyzed new ways of thinking about climate and architectural design Extensively illustrated with archival material Modern Architecture and Climate provides global perspectives on modern architecture and its evolving relationship with a changing climate showcasing designs from Latin

Waste Works Brenda Chalfin, 2023-03-06 In Waste Works Brenda Chalfin examines Ghana's planned city of Tema theorizing about the formative role of waste infrastructure in urban politics and public life Chalfin argues that at Tema's midcentury founding a prime objective of governing authorities was to cultivate self contained citizens by means of tightly orchestrated domestic infrastructure and centralized control of bodily excrement to both develop and depoliticize the new nation Comparing infrastructural innovations across the city Chalfin excavates how Tema residents pursue novel approaches to urban waste and sanitation built on the ruins of the inherited order profoundly altering the urban public sphere Once decreed a private matter to be guaranteed by state authorities excrement becomes a public issue collectively managed by private persons Pushing self care into public space and extending domestic responsibility for public well being and bodily outputs popularly devised waste infrastructures are a decisive arena to make claims build coalitions and cultivate status Confounding high modernist ideals excremental infrastructures unlock bodily waste's diverse political potentials The History of Architectural Education in the Middle East and North Africa Farhan Karim, Mohammad Gharipour, 2024-12-31 The History of Architectural Education in the Middle East and North Africa explores the varied socio political landscapes within which different architectural programs and schools were established across Middle Eastern and North African countries It addresses a significant gap in our understanding of the diverse strategies and paths through which architectural pedagogy underwent institutionalization and standardization during nineteenth and twentieth centuries This process of modernization was greatly influenced by rapidly evolving socio economic conditions and the interests of the real estate market Concurrently architectural educators and institutions responded to public demands for more inclusive urban environments shaping the social ambitions and expectations of emerging modern cities Karim and Gharipour present an interconnected and parallel history of these institutions through a series of case studies They argue that architectural pedagogy and its stakeholders didn't solely shape the technical discourse of the building industry. Instead, their activism and advocacy collectively ignited epistemological debates concerning the perception of modern urban society and its direction.

Modernism in Late-Mao China Ke Song, 2023-04-28 This book investigates the architectural history of China in the Mao era 1949-1976, focusing on the rise of modernism in the last seven years of the Cultural Revolution from 1969 to 1976. It highlights the new architecture of this period exemplified by three clusters of buildings for foreign affairs: namely buildings for foreign diplomacy in Beijing, buildings for foreign trade in Guangzhou, and China's foreign aid projects overseas. The emergence of new architecture in the early 1970s is closely associated with China's political and diplomatic shift of the time from a radical emphasis on ideological struggle to a dynamic balance between leftist ideology and pragmatic concerns. In this context, China's relations with the West quickly improved, culminating with American president Richard Nixon's visit to China in 1972. The increasing foreign affairs brought new opportunities to Chinese architects who referenced both Western modernism and Chinese architectural traditions to create a new version of Chinese modernism. The book brings dimensions of form, politics, and knowledge to the analysis of architecture to construct an understanding of architectural design as an aesthetic, political, and intellectual practice. Modernism in Late Mao China will be an enriching and useful reference for students and scholars who are interested in the global architectural history of the twentieth century, especially Cold War modernism.

Transcultural Cities Jeffrey Hou, 2013 Transcultural Cities collects case studies of intercultural exchange and the urban transformations that have accompanied it. Jeffrey Hou and a talented team of multidisciplinary scholars argue for a more critical and open view of cities, urban places, and placemaking as vehicles for cross-cultural understanding.

Urban Modernity in the Contemporary Gulf Roberto Fabbri, Sultan Sooud Al-Qassemi, 2021-09-27 Urban Modernity in the Contemporary Gulf offers a timely and engaging discussion on architectural production in the modernization era in the Arabian Peninsula. Focusing on the 20th century as a starting point, the book explores the display of transnational architectural practices resulting in different notions of locality, cosmopolitanism, and modernity. Contextually, with an eye on the present, the book reflects on the initiatives that recently re-engaged with the once ville moderne, which meanwhile lost its pivotal function and meaning. A city within a bigger city, the urban fabric produced during the modernization era has the potential to narrate the social growth, East-West dynamics, and citizens' memories of the recent past. Reading obsolescence as an opportunity, the book looks into this topic from a cross-country perspective. It maps, reads, and analyses the notion of modern heritage in relation to the contemporary city and looks beyond physical transformations to embrace cultural practices and strategies of urban re-appropriation. It interrogates the value of modern architecture in the non-West, examining how academic research is expanding the debate on Gulf urbanism and describes how practices of reuse could foster rethinking neglected areas, also addressing land consumption in the GCC. Presenting a diverse and geographically inclusive authorship which combines established and up-and-coming researchers in the field, this is an important reference for academics and upper level students interested in heritage studies post colonial urbanism and architecture in the non West
