Addresses how digital forms of personal writing can be most effectively used by teachers students and other community members At a time when Twitter Facebook blogs Instagram and other social media dominate our interactions with one another and with our world the teaching of writing also necessarily involves the employment of multimodal approaches visual literacies and online learning Given this new digital landscape how do we most effectively teach and create various forms of personal writing within our rhetoric and composition classes our creative writing classes and our community groups Contributors to Getting Personal offer their thoughts about some of the positives and negatives of teaching and using personal writing within digital contexts They also reveal intriguing teaching activities that they have designed to engage their students and other writers In addition they share some of the innovative responses they have received to these assignments Getting Personal is about finding ways to teach and use personal writing in the digital age that can truly empower writing teachers writing students as well as other community members Getting Personal offers an engaging comprehensive view of how and why instructors in both creative and academic writing can integrate contemporary writing and communication practices into their classrooms assignments and curricula Jill Talbot editor of Metawritings Toward a Theory of Nonfiction I am right now rethinking some of my assumptions about what it means to do and to teach personal writing especially in digital environments I m also taken with the fact that while the chapters are clearly academic they are also personal and while several of them explicitly call the false binary between the personal and the academic into question my sense is that they themselves do so implicitly as well Barry M Maid coauthor of The McGraw Hill Guide Writing for College Writing for Life Fourth Edition The Graphic Novel Jan Baetens,Hugo Frey,2015 This book provides both students and scholars with a critical and historical introduction to the graphic novel Jan Baetens and Hugo Frey explore this exciting form of visual and literary communication showing readers how to situate and analyse graphic novels since their rise to prominence half a century ago Several key questions are addressed what is the graphic novel How do we read graphic novels as narrative forms Why is page design and publishing format so significant What theories are developing to explain the genre How is this form blurring the categories of high and popular literature Why are graphic novelists nostalgic for the old comics The authors address these and many other questions raised by the genre Through their analysis of the works of many well known graphic novelists including Bechdel Clowes Spiegelman and Ware Baetens and Frey offer significant insights for future teaching and research on the graphic novel A Proposed Approach to Uncertainty Analysis ,1983

Mapping Generations of Traumatic Memory in American Narratives Dana Mihăilescu,Roxana Oltean,Mihaela Precup,2014-06-12 This volume collects work by several European North American and Australian academics who are interested in examining the performance and transmission of post traumatic memory in the contemporary United States The contributors depart from the interpretation of trauma as a unique exceptional event that shatters all systems of representation as seen in the writing of early trauma theorists like Cathy Caruth Shoshana Felman and Dominick LaCapra

Rather the chapters in this collection are in conversation with more recent readings of trauma such as Michael Rothberg's multidirectional memory 2009 the role of mediation and remediation in the dynamics of cultural memory Astrid Erll 2012 Aleida Assman 2011 and Stef Craps focus on postcolonial witnessing and its cross cultural dimension 2013 The corpus of post traumatic narratives under discussion includes fiction diaries memoirs films visual narratives and oral testimonies A complicated dialogue between various and sometimes conflicting narratives is thus generated and examined along four main lines in this volume trauma in the context of multidirectional memory the representation of trauma in autobiographical texts the dynamic of public forms of national commemoration and the problematic instantiation of 9 11 as a traumatic landmark
