Reconstructing Gender in Middle East Fatma Muge Gocek, Balaghi Shiva, 1995-06-15 Employing a broad interdisciplinary perspective on gender relations Reconstructing Gender in the Middle East questions long standing stereotypes about the traditional subordination of women in the region With essays on gender construction in Iran Turkey Israel Morocco Egypt Lebanon and the Occupied Territories this collection offers a wide ranging exploration of tradition identity and power in different parts of the Middle East Seeking to overcome monolithic Western notions of women's life in the traditional society the essays in Part I reexamine the assumption that such societies leave little room for female participation Part II focuses on the reconstruction of identities by women in Iran Turkey Israel and the Occupied Territories The authors examine the complex variables that contribute to the development of identities including gender class and ethnicity in various Middle Eastern societies questioning whether certain identities are more important to women than others These essays also look at the issue of group identity formation versus the autonomy of the individual Part III looks at the relationship between gender and power in everyday life in Lebanon Israel Egypt and Morocco showing how power relations are constantly contested and renegotiated among family members and members of a community between nations and between men and women With its collection of enlightened and diverse contemporary perspectives on women in the Middle East Reconstructing Gender in the Middle East is an important work that will have significant impact on the way we look at gender in traditional societies

Gender and Violence in the Middle East David Ghanim Ph.D., 2009-03-20 Gender and Violence in the Middle East argues that violence is fundamental to the functioning of the patriarchal gender structure that governs daily life in Middle Eastern societies Ghanim contends that the inherent violence of gender relations in the Middle East feeds the authoritarianism and political violence that plague public life in the region In this societal sense men as well as women may be said to be victims of the structural violence inherent in Middle Eastern gender relations The author shows that the varieties of physical violence against women for which the Middle East is notorious honor killings obligatory beatings female genital mutilation are merely eruptions of an ethos of psychological violence and the threat of physical violence that pervades gender relations in the Middle East Ghanim documents and analyzes the complementary roles of both sexes in sustaining the system of violence and oppressive control that regulates gender relations in Middle Eastern societies He reveals that women are not only victims of violence but welcome the opportunity to become perpetrators of violence in the married female life cycle of subordination followed by domination The mother in law plays a crucial role in supporting the structure of patriarchal control by stoking tensions with her daughter in law and provoking her son to commit sanctioned violence on his wife The author applies his deep analysis of gender and violence in the Middle East to illuminate the motivational profiles of male and female political suicidalists from the Middle East and the martyrological adulation that they are accorded in Middle Eastern societies Women, Power and Politics in 21st Century Iran Tara Povey, 2016-02-17

This book examines the women's movement in Iran and its role in contesting gender relations since the 1979 revolution. Looking at examples from politics, law, employment, environment, media, and religion and the struggle for democracy, this book demonstrates how material conditions have important social and political consequences for the lives of women in Iran and exposes the need to challenge the dominant theoretical perspectives on gender and Islam. A truly fascinating insider's look at the experiences of Iranian women as academics, political and civil society activists, this book counters the often inaccurate and misleading stereotyping of Iranian women to present a vibrant and diverse picture of these women's lives. A welcome and unique addition to the vibrant and growing literature on women, Islam, development, democracy, and feminisms Women and Media in the Middle East Naomi Sakr, 2004-09-24
Is today's changing media landscape in the Middle East empowering women? This is the first book to address the dynamics of media ecology and women's advancement in the contemporary Middle East. The book spans both the region and media forms from Iran's women's press via Maghrebi women filmmakers and Egyptian political films, Palestinian TV, and Hezbollah's TV station Al Manar. It takes as its starting point the diverse experiences and multi-layered identities of women and treats media institutions and practices as part of wider power relations in society. By analysing media production, consumption, and texts, it reveals where and how gender boundaries have been erected or crossed Women, Power, and Ethnicity Patricia S.E. Darlington, Becky Michele Mulvaney, 2014-06-03
Powerful women aren't just men walking around in dresses. As women continue to assume positions of social leadership in increasing numbers, the dynamics of the social construction of power need to be examined. Have women adopted traditionally male patterns of behavior in an effort to gain and maintain power in business, industry, politics, academics, etc. And if not, what kind of power are women practicing? The authors of Women, Power, and Ethnicity: Working Toward Reciprocal Empowerment endeavored to find out by conducting a research study on how women from various racial and ethnic backgrounds compare and contrast the attributes associated with existing power paradigms: traditional empowerment, personal authority, with an alternate model of power: reciprocal empowerment. Reciprocal empowerment is a discursive and behavioral style of interaction grounded in reciprocity initiated by people who feel a sense of personal authority. Reciprocal empowerment enables people with mutual self-interests to rise above obstacles based on social and political structures and to use personal authority to discuss and act on issues openly and honestly in order to effect change. Using a qualitative methodology, Women, Power, and Ethnicity includes the results of surveys and interviews with women from seven different ethnic groups in the United States to determine if the concept of reciprocal empowerment resonates with them. The answer: Yes. Women, Power, and Ethnicity is organized by surveys and interview findings on women from seven cultural groups living in the United States: African, Asian, Caribbean, European, Latin, Middle Eastern, Native American. Each chapter includes analyses of ethnographic findings, surveys, and interviews, concise historical information, effects of immigration where applicable, tables, and diagrams.
