proliferation regime The Closed World Paul N. Edwards, 1996 The Closed World offers a radically new alternative to the canonical histories of computers and cognitive science Arguing that we can make sense of computers as tools only when we simultaneously grasp their roles as metaphors and political icons Paul Edwards shows how Cold War social and cultural contexts shaped emerging computer technology and were transformed in turn by information machines The Closed World explores three apparently disparate histories the history of American global power the history of computing machines and the history of subjectivity in science and culture through the lens of the American political imagination In the process it reveals intimate links between the military projects of the Cold War the evolution of digital computers and the origins of cybernetics cognitive psychology and artificial intelligence Edwards begins by describing the emergence of a closed world discourse of global surveillance and control through high technology military power The Cold War political goal of containment led to the SAGE continental air defense system Rand Corporation studies of nuclear strategy and the advanced technologies of the Vietnam War These and other centralized computerized military command and control projects for containing world scale conflicts helped closed world discourse dominate Cold War political decisions Their apotheosis was the Reagan era plan for a Star Wars space based ballistic missile defense Edwards then shows how these military projects helped computers become axial metaphors in psychological theory Analyzing the Macy Conferences on cybernetics the Harvard Psycho Acoustic Laboratory and the early history of artificial intelligence he describes the formation of a cyborg discourse By constructing both human minds and artificial intelligences as information machines cyborg discourse assisted in integrating people into the hyper complex technological systems of the closed world Finally Edwards explores the cyborg as political identity in science fiction from the disembodied panoptic AI of 2001 A Space Odyssey to the mechanical robots of Star Wars and the engineered biological androids of Blade Runner where Information Age culture and subjectivity were both reflected and constructed Inside Technology series Road to Iraq Muhammad Idrees Ahmad, 2014-06-30 The Iraq war its causes agency and execution has been shrouded in an ideological mist Now Muhammad Idrees Ahmad dispels the myths surrounding the war taking a sociological approach to establish the war's causes identify its agents and describe how it was sold Ahmad presents a social history of the war's leading agents the neoconservatives and shows how this ideologically coherent group of determined political agents used the contingency of 9 11 to overwhelm a sceptical foreign policy establishment military brass and intelligence apparatus propelling the US into a war that a significant portion of the public opposed The book includes an historical exploration of American militarism and of the increased post WWII US role in the Middle East as well as a reconsideration of the debates that John Mearsheimer and Stephen Walt sparked after the publication of The Israel lobby and US Foreign Policy Engaging the Enemy Kimberly Marten Zisk, 1993-05-17 Did a doctrine race exist alongside the much publicized arms competition between East and West Using recent insights from organization theory Kimberly Marten Zisk answers this question in the affirmative Zisk challenges the standard portrayal of

Soviet military officers as bureaucratic actors wedded to the status quo she maintains that when they were confronted by a changing external security environment they reacted by producing innovative doctrine The author s extensive evidence is drawn from newly declassified Soviet military journals and from her interviews with retired high ranking Soviet General Staff officers and highly placed Soviet Russian civilian defense experts According to Zisk the Cold War in Europe was powerfully influenced by the reactions of Soviet military officers and civilian defense experts to modifications in U S and NATO military doctrine Zisk also asserts that contrary to the expectations of many analysts civilian intervention in military policy making need not provoke pitched civil military conflict Under Gorbachev s leadership for instance great efforts were made to ensure that defensive defense policies reflected military officers input and expertise Engaging the Enemy makes an important contribution not only to the theory of military organizations and the history of Soviet military policy but also to current policy debates on East West security issues Kimberly Marten Zisk is Assistant Professor of Political Science and Faculty Associate of the Mershon Center at the Ohio State University

Desiring the Bomb Calum Lister Matheson, 2018-11-13 A timely interdisciplinary study that applies psychoanalysis and the rhetorical tradition of the sublime to examine the cultural aftermath of the Atomic Age Every culture throughout history has obsessed over various end of the world scenarios The dawn of the Atomic Age marked a new twist in this tale For the first time our species became aware of its capacity to deliberately destroy itself Since that time the Bomb has served as an organizing metaphor a symbol of human annihilation a stand in for the unspeakable void of extinction and a discursive construct that challenges the limits of communication itself The parallel fascination with and abhorrence of nuclear weapons has metastasized into a host of other end of the world scenarios from global pandemics and climate change to zombie uprisings and asteroid collisions Desiring the Bomb Communication Psychoanalysis and the Atomic Age explores these world ending fantasies through the lens of psychoanalysis to reveal their implications for both contemporary apocalyptic culture and the operations of language itself What accounts for the enduring power of the Bomb as a symbol What does the prospect of annihilation suggest about language and its limits Thoroughly researched and accessibly written this study expands on the theories of Kenneth Burke Jacques Lacan Sigmund Freud and many others from a variety of disciplines to arrive at some answers to these questions Calum L Matheson undertakes a series of case studies including the Trinity test site nuclear war games urban shelter schemes and contemporary survivalism and argues that contending with the anxieties individual social cultural and political born of the Atomic Age depends on rhetorical conceptions of the real an order of experience that cannot be easily negotiated in language Using aspects of media studies rhetorical theory and psychoanalysis the author deftly engages the topics of Atomic Age survival extinction religion and fantasy along with their enduring cultural legacies to develop an account of the Bomb as a signifier and to explore why some Americans have become fascinated with fantasies of nuclear warfare and narratives of postapocalyptic rebirth
