The woman on the left is smiling, the woman in the middle is smiling, and the woman on the right is looking towards the camera. They are holding a large, rectangular sign with a red border. The sign contains the title 'The Women Who Wrote the War' and the author's name 'by Nancy Caldwell Sorel'.

The Women Who Wrote The War:

The Women Who Wrote the War Nancy Caldwell Sorel, 1999 Like Tom Brokaw's The Greatest Generation Sorel's moving account of the women war correspondents of this century at last brings to light the exploits of more than 100 of this country's unsung heroes of photos. The Women Who Wrote the War Nancy Caldwell Sorel, 2011-05-15 Here's how a hundred brave American women left their families and entered the combat zone to chronicle what they saw Nancy Sorel's portrait pays homage to these unsung heroes They came from Boston New York Milwaukee and St Louis from Yakima Washington Austin Texas and Sioux City Iowa from San Francisco and all points east They left comfortable homes and safe surroundings for combat zone duty As women war correspondents they brought to the battlefields of World War II a fresh optic and reported back home what they witnessed with a new sensibility Their experience was at once wide ranging and intimate devastating at one moment heartwarming the next In their ranks we encounter world famous photojournalist Margaret Bourke White the only Western photographer to cover the Nazi invasion of the USSR Martha Gellhorn writer and wife of Ernest Hemingway who presciently reported on the menace of fascism The New Yorker's Janet Flanner recording the bleak realities of life in post liberation France and Marguerite Higgins who dared enter the concentration camp at Dachau just ahead of the American army In her graphic seamless narrative Nancy Sorel weaves together the lives and times of these gutsy incomparable women assuring them their rightful place in this century's history Women Who Wrote the War Nancy Caldwell Sorel, 2000-01-01 This collection of profiles pays tribute to the groundbreaking female reporters of World War II such as Martha Gellhorn Margaret Bourke White and Lee Miller along with others who brought an original sensibility to the world of war reporting Photos The Woman War Correspondent, the U.S. Military, and the Press Carolyn M. Edy, 2016-12-13 Honorable Mention recipient for the American Journalism Historians Association Book of the Year Award this book outlines the rich history of more than 250 women who worked as war correspondents up through World War II while demonstrating the ways in which the press and the military both promoted and prevented their access to war Despite the continued presence of individual female war correspondents in news accounts if not always in war zones it was not until 1944 that the military recognized these individuals as a group and began formally considering sex as a factor for recruiting and accrediting war correspondents This group identity created obstacles for women who had previously worked alongside men as war correspondents while creating opportunities for many women whom the military recruited to cover woman's angle news as women war correspondents This book also reveals the ways the military and the press as well as women themselves constructed the concepts of woman war correspondent and war correspondent and how these concepts helped and hindered the work of all war correspondents even as they challenged and ultimately expanded the public's understanding of war and of women A Companion to Women's Military History Barton Hacker, Margaret Vining, 2012-08-17 This volume addresses the changing relationships between women and armed forces from antiquity to the present eight chapters review the existing

Glymph, 2019-11-27 Historians of the Civil War often speak of wars within a war the military fight wartime struggles on the home front and the political and moral battle to preserve the Union and end slavery In this broadly conceived book Thavolia Glymph provides a comprehensive new history of women's roles and lives in the Civil War North and South white and black slave and free showing how women were essentially and fully engaged in all three arenas Glymph focuses on the ideas and ideologies that drove women's actions allegiances and politics We encounter women as they stood their ground moved into each other's territory sought and found common ground and fought for vastly different principles Some women used all the tools and powers they could muster to prevent the radical transformations the war increasingly imposed some fought with equal might for the same transformations and other women fought simply to keep the war at bay as they waited for their husbands and sons to return home Glymph shows how the Civil War exposed as never before the nation's fault lines not just along race and class lines but also along the ragged boundaries of gender However Glymph makes clear that women's experiences were not new to the mid nineteenth century rather many of them drew on memories of previous conflicts like the American Revolution and the War of 1812 to make sense of the Civil War's disorder and death
