Designing Instruction Judith K. March, Karen H. Peters, 2008 A fresh new approach that strengthens the need for teaching with creative thinking strategies for administrative leadership teams Few textbooks have such detailed examples combined with the background study of best practices The authors have great credibility experience resources and abundant research to support their proposal A very well written text offering ample review of the research Sara E Spruce Professor of Education Olivet Nazarene University Use this research based instructional model to meet students achievement goals As the achievement gap between advantaged and disadvantaged students gets wider teachers and administrators need a proven process to help all students meet the requirements of NCLB This practitioner friendly guidebook provides a step by step approach to a complete standards based curriculum and the integration of best practices into the delivery and assessment of instruction in every classroom The authors present three capacity building features of the design process 1 training for building leadership teams to help teachers plan and lead the reform process 2 stewardship training to assist district administrators and principals in supporting and sustaining the implemented reforms and 3 a collaborative observation process to help teachers work together and in partnership with principals to monitor and improve classroom instruction Offering an education model that has been field tested with more than 50 school districts in the U S and Canada this book shows school leaders how to maximize collaborative observation and other team leadership processes to integrate reforms into a school s existing culture Educators will learn ways to Integrate instructional design with successful instructional reform Strengthen the learning culture through standards Develop effective performance indicators Apply curriculum mapping to instructional design Designing Instruction supports teachers and administrators working together to raise student achievement by using proven instructional design and best practices

Building Shared Responsibility for Student Learning Anne Conzemius, Jan O'Neill, 2001 Who is responsible for student learning Walk into an effective school and ask this question of anyone a teacher a student the principal a parent volunteer a secretary and you ll get the same answer I am Shared responsibility is something school communities build from within It s what happens when all school people accept that what they do makes a difference in how all students learn when they have the knowledge they need to make informed decisions about the best way to promote learning and when they have the skills and opportunities to translate their ideas into effective action Anne Conzemius and Jan O'Neill present a practical framework for building shared responsibility within schools and school systems They identify three critical components Focus The common vision mission values and expectations that provide clarity and lead to new levels of performance Reflection The commitment to test assumptions learn from data and adjust practices accordingly Collaboration The process of developing relationships where all work toward the same objectives and rely on each other to achieve their goals Building shared responsibility for student learning is an ongoing activity a journey and not a destination This research based resource provides a map in the form of effective structures systems processes and policies It explains how to set powerful goals and shares inspiring stories of educators who have embarked on this journey toward higher professional competency increased staff satisfaction rising test scores and improved student results
