Trees And Shrubs Of The Sahel Their Characteristics And Uses:

Trees and shrubs of the Sahel H. J. von Maydell, 1986 Guide to Standard Floras of the World David G.

Frodin, 2001-06-14 This 2001 book provides a selective annotated bibliography of the principal floras and related works of inventory for vascular plants. The second edition was completely updated and expanded to take into account the substantial literature of the late twentieth century and features a more fully developed review of the history of floristic documentation. The works covered are principally specialist publications such as floras, checklists, distribution atlases, systematic iconographies and enumerations or catalogues, although a relatively few more popularly oriented books are also included. The Guide is organised in ten geographical divisions with these successively divided into regions and units, each of which is prefaced with a historical review of floristic studies. In addition to the bibliography, the book includes general chapters on botanical bibliography, the history of floras and general principles and current trends, plus an appendix on bibliographic searching, a lexicon of serial abbreviations and author and geographical indexes.

Trees and shrubs of the Sahel
Hans-Jurgen von Maydell, 1990 Ethnopharmacological Properties, Biological Activity and Phytochemical Attributes of Medicinal Plants Volume 4 Bharat Singh, 2023-10-24 This book covers the morphological characteristics, ethnopharmacological properties, isolated and identified structurally diverse secondary metabolites, biological and pharmacological activities of medicinal plants. Ethnopharmacology is the systematic study of folklore traditional medicines which continue to provide innovative drugs and lead molecules for the pharmaceutical industry. In fact, plant secondary metabolites used as a single molecule or as a mixture are medicines that can be effective and safe even when synthetic drugs fail. Therefore, the description of these secondary metabolites as well as methods for the targeted expression and purification is of high interest. In addition to surveying the morphological features, ethnopharmacological properties, biological and pharmacological activities and studies of clinical trials, this book offers a comprehensive treatment of 56 plant species. It also presents the cell culture conditions and various methods used for increasing the production of medicinally important secondary metabolites in plant cell cultures. This volume provides the morphological features, habitat and distribution of each species of 56 genera selected from the different regions of the world. Presents ethnopharmacological applications of various species of the 56 genera in this book. Different species of 56 genera are used for ethnomedicinal uses by the people of various countries of the world. Describes structures of various secondary metabolites identified in 56 plant species together with their biological and pharmacological activities. Discusses strategies of secondary metabolites production such as organ culture, pH elicitation, hairy root cultures, light and mutagenesis. Provides a complete overview of each species of 56 genera and the complete information up to 2022. Ethnopharmacological Properties, Biological Activity and Phytochemical Attributes of Medicinal Plants is an important book for undergraduate and postgraduate students, pharmacologists, phytochemists, Ayurvedic practitioners, medical doctors and biotechnologists interested in the ethnopharmacological properties.

phytochemistry biological and pharmacological activities of plants Restoration of Tropical Forest Ecosystems Helmut Lieth, M. Lohmann, 2013-03-09 The destruction of the tropical forests proceeds Nobody at the symposium believed that the rapidly We all know that this has global ecological tropical forest area would remain untouched and economical consequences The problem The population explosion takes care of that argument is of such magnitude that it can only be commented The two main problem areas before us are pared to warfare The destruction of tropical first the wise utilization of that portion of the forests is not only detrimental to the global forest which will be used especially the introduction of ecology but also poses a serious threat to the introduction of planned forestry in such areas and people living in this area Furthermore the over second the development of a good plan for utilization of such a valuable resource poses a nature conservation in the tropics serious threat to the next generations The papers presented at the symposium will Apart from the problem generated for the most certainly not solve all the problems but we people in those regions and on earth in general hope they contribute to the very much needed there is a moral obligation to preserve the vast continued discussion of possible solutions which biological diversity in the tropical forests We must be implemented in the near future Ethnobiology of Uzbekistan Olim K. Khojimatov, Yusufjon Gafforov, Rainer W. Bussmann, 2023-08-25 Natural resources and associated biological diversity provide the basis of livelihood for humans particularly in rural areas and mountain regions around the world Over centuries indigenous peoples traditional societies and local communities have developed their own specific knowledge regarding plant use management and conservation The history of plant use by humans as food and to treat diverse ailments dates back to ancient civilizations Even though the advent of allopathic medicine has somehow minimized the role of medicinal plants in favor of synthetic drugs a number of modern drug discoveries have been based on medicinal plants used by indigenous peoples Ethnobiology is the burgeoning interdisciplinary scientific field which covers all sorts of interactions between plants and people and Central Asia is recognized as a plant diversity hot spot The mountains and valleys of this region are rich in unique medicinal and food plant species Local communities residing in the mountain regions of Central Asia possess unique knowledge of surrounding resources which is the result of many years of interaction with and selection of the most desirable and pervasive plant species present In this context this book provides comprehensive information on cross culture variation in the traditional uses of plants fungi and animal species as food medicine and for cultural purposes among the diverse communities of Uzbekistan The key areas of focus include plant diversity in Uzbekistan cross cultural variation in traditional uses of plant species high value medicinal and food plant species and threats and conservation status of plant species and traditional knowledge The Literature of Forestry and Agroforestry Peter McDonald, J. P. Lassoie, 1996 Discusses the evolution of forestry and agroforestry and presents the core literature in these fields covering both traditional and emerging areas Topics include changes in forest science in the 20th century the development of agroforestry literature the role of professional societies and the US Conserving Biodiversity in Arid Regions J. Lemons, Reginald Victor, Daniel

Schaffer,2012-12-06 On the eve of the World Summit for Sustainable Development WSSD held in autumn 2002 in Johannesburg South Africa United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan recommended five specific areas as focal points of discussion for the global forum Water energy health agriculture and biodiversity In his address Towards a Sustainable Future delivered just four months before the WSSD Secretary General Annan contended that concrete progress in each of these areas often referred to by their acronym WEHAB would be key to improving the quality of life not only in the developing world but across the globe For most people I think it is fair to say that the inclusion of biodiversity in a list that focuses on basic human needs may not be self evident Water energy health and agriculture yes But why biodiversity The truth is that biodiversity is just as critical to global well being as water energy agriculture and health This is because biodiversity both drives and shapes nature s intricate and dynamic structure in an enduring form and force that enables both current and future generations to enjoy its bounty

Land, Investment, and Migration Camilla Toulmin,2020-01-09 How do people survive and thrive in the uncertain and risk prone Sahel Land Investment and Migration seeks to answer this question through a long term study of the people of Dlongu bougou in Central Mali It uses a combination of infographics satellite images interviews and survey data to present the strategies and fortunes of individuals and their families in this region over 35 years In the early 1980s Camilla Toulmin spent two years in Dlongu bougou She has since revisited to explore how climate change population growth new technologies and land grabs have been affecting the livelihoods and prospects of local people since Land Investment and Migration Thirty five Years of Village Life in Mali brings together her findings A trebling in population unpredictable rainfall and the arrival of Chinese investment have forced people into new ways of making ends meet and building up wealth some doing much better than others This book presents the search for new cash incomes the shift of people from village to town and the erosion of collective solidarity at household and village levels Land Investment and Migration presents a mixed picture of a changing society It shows the vibrancy of the village economy rapid uptake of mobile phones and solar panels and increased migration It also shows the persistence of large family structures which offer some protection from the risks that many villagers face
