Purdy, 2019-01-15 Published in 1997 It is well known in Australia that Aboriginal people are currently massively over represented amongst the prison population Although it is not officially acknowledged to the same degree in Trinidad it is also well known that Afro

Trinidadians are over represented in the prisons of that county The disproportionate criminalisation of Aboriginal Australians and Afro Trinidadians is interpreted by the author as a continuation and concretion of the myth of the barbaric uncivilised and ungoverned savage in opposition to which Western legal systems and societies have created their own identities The book departs from much contemporary analysis in this area by drawing strongly upon a historical analysis of the operations of the common law in Trinidad and Western Australia By doing so the book illustrates that race ethnicity and criminalisation are not necessarily contiguous What such analysis does reveal is another and more constant dimension to criminalisation and that is economic basis of many of the legal relations instituted under British derived legal systems with respect to colonised peoples
