Man-Machine-Environment System Engineering Shengzhao Long, Balbir S. Dhillon, 2023-09-04 Man Machine Environment System Engineering Proceedings of the 23rd Conference on MMESE are an academic showcase of the best papers selected from more than 500 submissions introducing readers to the top research topics and the latest developmental trends in the theory and application of MMESE. These proceedings are interdisciplinary studies on the concepts and methods of physiology, psychology, system engineering, computer science, environment science, management, education and other related disciplines. Researchers and professionals who study an interdisciplinary subject crossing above disciplines or researchers on MMESE subject will be mainly benefited from this proceedings. MMESE primarily focuses on the relationship between Man, Machine and Environment, studying the optimum combination of man-machine-environment systems. In this system, Man refers to working people as the subject in the workplace, e.g. operators, decision makers. Machine is the general name for any object controlled by Man, including tools, machinery, computers, systems and technologies. Environment describes the specific working conditions under which Man and Machine interact, e.g. temperature, noise, vibration, hazardous gases, etc. The three goals of optimization of the man-machine-environment systems are to ensure safety, efficiency and economy. The integrated and advanced science research topic, Man-Machine-Environment System Engineering (MMESE), was first established in China by Professor Shengzhao Long in 1981 with direct support from one of the greatest modern Chinese scientists, Xuesen Qian. In a letter to Shengzhao Long from October 22nd 1993, Xuesen Qian wrote: "You have created a very important modern science and technology in China." Contemporary Ergonomics 2002, Paul T.

McCabe, 2003-09-02. The broad and developing scope of ergonomics, the application of scientific knowledge to improve people's interaction with products, systems and environments, has been illustrated over the past sixteen years by the books that make up the Contemporary Ergonomics series. Presenting the proceedings of the Ergonomics Society's Annual Conference, the series embraces the wide range of topics covered by ergonomics. Chapters provide an insight into the current practice, present new research findings and form an invaluable reference source. Among the most interesting topics covered in this volume are rail safety, the development and applications of virtual reality and hospital ergonomics. Contemporary Ergonomics 2002 will appeal to all those who have an interest in people's interactions with their working and leisure environment, including designers, manufacturing and production engineers, health and safety specialists, occupational, applied and industrial psychologists and applied physiologists. Handbook of Systems Thinking Methods, Paul M. Rapid Modelling for Increasing Competitiveness Gerald Reiner, 2009-06-13 A Perspective on Two Decades of Rapid Modeling It is an honor for me to be asked to write a foreword to the Proceedings of the 1st Rapid Modeling Conference In 1987 when I coined the term Rapid Modeling to denote queuing modeling of manufacturing systems I never imagined that two decades later there would be an international conference devoted to this topic I am delighted to see that there will be around 40 presentations at the conference by leading researchers from around the world and about half of these presentations are represented by written papers published in this book I congratulate the conference organizers and program committee on the success of their efforts to hold the first ever conference on Rapid Modeling Attendees at this conference might find it interesting to learn about the history of the term Rapid Modeling in the context it is used here During the fall of 1986 I was invited to a meeting at the Headquarters of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers SME in Dearborn Michigan By that time I had successfully demonstrated several industry applications of queuing network models at leading manufacturers in the USA Although in principle the use of queuing networks to model manufacturing systems was well known in the OR/MS community and many papers had been published the actual use of such models by manufacturing professionals was almost nonexistent
