Writing Back Sylvia Plath And Cold War Politics:

Writing Back Robin Peel,2002 Writing Back Sylvia Plath and Cold War Politics explores the relationship between Plath's writing and Cold War discourses and argues that the time 1960-1963 the place England and the global politics are important factors for us to consider when we consider the rhetoric of Plath's later poetry and fiction Based on fresh readings arising from new research this study argues that Plath should not be depoliticized and examines her writing alongside the discourses of the period as expressed in newspaper reporting magazines and BBC radio In contrasting her relationship with institutions in America in the 1950s with her responses in England to church the American arms industry the National Health Service and the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament it becomes clear that the process of cultural defamiliarization causes Plath to question the model of the individual artist divorced from society a model of the writer that had previously seemed so attractive

Literary Cold War, 1945 to Vietnam Adam Piette,2009-05-25 This is a ground breaking study of the psychological and cultural impact of the Cold War on the imaginations of citizens in the UK and US The Literary Cold War examines writers working at the hazy borders between aesthetic project and political allegory with specific attention being paid to Vladimir Nabokov and Graham Greene as Cold War writers The book looks at the special relationship as a form of paranoid plotline governing key Anglo American texts from Storm Jameson to Sylvia Plath and Ted Hughes as well as examining the figure of the non aligned neutral observer caught up in the sacrificial triangles structuring cold war fantasy The book aims to consolidate and define a new emergent field in literary studies the literary Cold War following the lead of prominent historians of the period
