Theory and Method in Religious Studies Frank Whaling, 2012-10-25 This paperback edition contains selected articles from the original clothbound editions of Contemporary Approaches to The Study of Religion Vol I The Humanities Vol II The Social Sciences Religion and Reason 27 28 Theory and Method in the Study of Religion ,2013-09-26 Theory and Method are two words that cause considerable consternation in the academic study of religion Although everyone claims to be aware of and to engage them the fact of the matter is that they remain poorly understood Some see the terms as irritants that get in the way of data interpretation and translation Others may invoke them sporadically to appear in vogue but then return quickly and myopically to their material and with little concern for the larger issues that such terms raise To contribute to these debates the present volume reproduces select articles from Method and Theory in the Study of Religion MTSR from the first 25 volumes of the journal and allows a group of younger scholars to introduce and review them asking if the issues raised are still relevant to the field Contributors include Matt Sheedy Robert A Segal James B Apple Neil McMullin Rebekka King Russell McCutcheon Craig Martin Donal Wiebe Emma Cohen Robert N McCauley E Thomas Lawson Steven Engler Mark Q Gardiner Bruce Lincoln Sarah E Rollens Burton Mack Yasmin Merchant Herb Bergh Jennifer Hall Darlene Juschka Ella Paldam and Armin Geertz Method and Theory in the Study of Religion: Working Papers from Hannover

Steffen Führding, 2017-07-03 Since the downfall of the phenomenology of religion as the leading paradigm in the study of religion in the 1960s theoretical and methodological discussions surrounding the nature and identity of the study of religion as an academic discipline have proliferated The essays included in this volume approach these debates from a variety of angles Based on a series of talks held at the University of Hannover over the last few years the essays are intended to be understood as diagnostic works in progress and thus as working papers all of which strive to point out important problems and perspectives in the field of theories and methodology and to draw attention to the future of the discipline Using developments in Hanover as a launch pad the volume forms the basis for further insights into the direction of the study of religion as a discipline at large Interreligious Comparisons in Religious Studies and Theology Perry

Schmidt-Leukel, Andreas Nehring, 2016-07-14 Can religions be compared For decades the discipline of religious studies was based on the assumption that they can Postmodern and postcolonial reflections however raised significant doubts In social and cultural studies the investigation of the particular often took precedence over a comparative perspective Interreligious Comparisons in Religious Studies and Theology questions whether religious studies can survive if it ceases to be comparative religion Can it do justice to a globalized world if it is limited on the specific and turns a blind eye on the general While comparative approaches have come under strong pressure in religious studies they have started flourishing in Theology Comparative theology practices interfaith dialogue by means of comparative research This volume asks whether theology and religious studies are able to mutually benefit from their critical and constructive reflections Can postcolonial criticism of neutrality and objectivity in religious studies create new links with the decidedly perspectival approach of comparative theology In this collection scholars from theology and religious studies discuss the methodology of interreligious comparison in the light of recent doubts and current objections Together with the contributors Perry Schmidt Leukel and Andreas Nehring argue that after decades of critique interreligious comparison deserves to be reconsidered reconstructed and reintroduced

Key Concepts in the Study of Religions in Contact Knut Martin Stünkel, 2024-12-19 There is no religion lest there are two religions Therefore it is only possible to examine the history of religions by taking the crucial situations of contact into account Contact needs concepts Not only scholars but also participants in situations of contact are forced to conceptualize themselves and the other Taking its point of departure from the contact based approach to the study of religion the present volume examines and reassesses a selection of concepts and models attraction dynamics and stability tradition transcendence immanence senses secret space used to come to terms with the phenomenon of contact as the dynamizing element of the history of religions

Religious Studies, Theology, and the University Linell E. Cady, Delwin Brown, 2002-10-10 This collection explores the highly contested relationship of religious studies and theology and the place of each if any in secular institutions of higher education The founding narrative of religious studies with its sharp distinction between teaching religion and teaching about religion grows less compelling in the face of globalization and the erosion of modernism These essays take up the challenge of thinking through the identity and borders of religious studies and theology for our time Reflecting a broad range of positions the authors explore the religious secular conceptual landscape that has dominated the modern West and in the process address the revision of the academic study of religion and theology now underway

Classical Approaches to the Study of Religion Jacques Waardenburg, 2017-01-23 Waardenburg's magisterial essay traces the rise and development of the academic study of religion from the mid nineteenth to the mid twentieth century outlining the establishment of the discipline its connections with other fields religion as a subject of research and perspectives on a phenomenological study of religion Furthermore a second part comprises an anthology of texts from 41 scholars whose work was programmatic in the evolution of the academic study of religion Each chapter presents a particular approach theory and method relevant to the study of religion The pieces selected for this volume were taken from the discipline of religious studies as well as from related fields such as anthropology sociology and psychology to name a few

Religious Studies and the Goal of Interdisciplinarity Brent Smith, 2019-08-19 This book offers a survey of the development of interdisciplinarity in religious studies within academia and offers ways for it to continue to progress in contemporary universities It examines the use of the term interdisciplinary in the context of the academic study of religion and how it shapes the way scholarly work in this field has developed The text uses two main elements to discuss religious studies as a field Firstly it looks at the history of the development of religious studies in academia as seen through an interdisciplinary critique of the university as an epistemological project It then uses the same interdisciplinary critique to develop a foundation for a 21st century hermeneutic one which uses the classical concepts reprised by that interdisciplinary critique and retools the field for the 21st century Setting out both the objects of religious studies as a subject and the techniques used to employ the study of those objects this book offers an invaluable perspective on the progress of the field It will therefore be of great use to scholars of research methods within religious studies

Failure and Nerve in the Academic Study of Religion William E. Arnal, Willi Braun, Russell T. McCutcheon, 2014-09-11 Failure and Nerve in the Academic Study of Religion presents a provocative critique of the unwillingness of modern scholars to publically distinguish research into comparative religion from confessional studies written within denominationally affiliated institutions The book offers the 19th Century founders of the study of religion as a bracing corrective to contemporary timidity The issue was analysed and documented by Wiebe a quarter of a century ago Here marking Wiebe s work a wide range of contributors reassess the methodology and ambition of contemporary religious research The book argues that conceptualizing religion as part of the world of human action and experience is the first requirement of the study of religion

International Handbook of Inter-religious Education Kath Engebretson, Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Liam Gearon, 2010-08-17 This Handbook is based on the conviction of its editors and contributing authors that understanding and acceptance of as well as collaboration between religions has essential educational value The development of this Handbook rests on the f ther assumption that interreligious education has an important role in elucidating the global demand for human rights justice and peace Interreligious education reveals that the creeds and holy books of the world s religions teach about sp itual systems that reject violence and the individualistic pursuit of economic and political gain and call their followers to compassion for every human being It also seeks to lead students to an awareness that the followers of religions across the world need to be and to grow in dialogical relationships of respect and understa ing An essential aim of interreligious education is the promotion of understanding and engagement between people of different religions and therefore it has great potential to contribute to the common good of the global community Interreligious education has grown from the interfaith movement whose beg ning is usually identi ed with the World Parliament of Religions held in Chicago in 1893 This was the rst time in history that leaders of the eastern and we ern religions had come together for dialogue and to consider working together for global unity

Why Study Religion? Richard B. Miller, 2021-12-10 Why Study Religion offers an alternative framework Critical Humanism for thinking about the purposes of the discipline Richard B Miller theorizes about the ends rather than the means of humanistic scholarship He argues that the future of religious studies will depend on how well it can articulate its goals as a basis for motivating scholarship in the field

Philosophy and the Study of Religions Kevin Schilbrack, 2014-03-03 Philosophy and the Study of Religions A Manifesto advocates a radical transformation of the discipline from its current narrow focus on questions of God to a fully global form of critical reflection on religions in all their variety and dimensions Opens the discipline of philosophy of religion to the religious diversity that characterizes the world today Builds bridges between philosophy of religion and the other interpretative and explanatory approaches in the field of religious studies Provides a manifesto for a global approach to the subject that is a practice centred rather than a belief centred activity Gives attention to reflexive critical studies of religion as socially constructed and historically located Methodology in Religious Studies Arvind Sharma,2012-02-01 Methodology in Religious Studies assesses the impact of women s studies on the various methods employed in studying religion Since its inception in the 1860s the study of religion as an academic discipline has evolved over time ranging from the classically historical to the boldly hermeneutical The women s studies movement has since the 1980s become part and parcel of the intellectual landscape of our times and the study of religion has become increasingly influenced by it What are the implications of this new development for the methodology of religious studies Leading practitioners of psychological theological sociological anthropological phenomenological historical and hermeneutic approaches examine the mutually enriching interface between religious studies and women s studies as they explore the broader issue of the interaction between method and the nature of the subject itself Exploring Methods and Positions Michael Pye,2013-03-22 These two volumes present Pye s methodological theoretical and field based interests in the study of religions Pye understands the study of religions to be an international enterprise with roots in both European and East Asian culture This relates to his active role in the International Association for the History of Religions IAHR as a former General Secretary and President The work is presented in seven sections which could be used in teaching assignments The first volume begins with a lively introduction on Methodological Strategies followed by East Asian Starting Points a radical attempt to overcome Eurocentrism and Structures and Strategies which tackles globally significant institutional and ideological questions The second volume presents selected strands in the study of religions Comparing and Contrasting is followed by Tradition and Innovation including reference to specific new religions Transplantation and Syncretism is a definitive package on syncretism and includes new materials from South East Asia Finally Contextual Questions explores wider themes of identity plurality dialogue of religions religious education and peace These show how relevant the study of religions can be when it is distinctly and responsibly defined Prophets, Pastors and Public Choices Roger Hutchinson,2006-01-01 The Mackenzie Valley natural gas pipeline debate included many actors This is the first in depth study in comparative religious ethics to examine the debate with a particular focus on the role of the Canadian churches In 1974 twenty seven of the world s largest oil and natural gas companies applied for permission to build a pipeline through the Mackenzie Valley to transport Alaskan and northern Canadian gas to large southern markets Many northern native peoples opposed the proposal and called for a moratorium on major northern development projects until native land claims had been settled The mainline Canadian Christian churches supported the call for a moratorium and through the interchurch coalition Project North campaigned against the pipeline However some native peoples supported the proposal to build the pipeline and many of the pipeline s proponents were members of churches that called for a moratorium on the project This case study in comparative religious ethics though written from a pro moratorium stand attempts to clarify the debate Conflicting responses to the pipeline proposal are assessed in relation to hard facts concerning the need for northern gas in the South social scientific findings regarding the impact of the pipeline on native communities the rights of native peoples to participate in decisions affecting their lives assumptions about the way of life of non native people in the South and the role of religious convictions in public choices This thoroughly researched study reveals the inner workings and influences of the Canadian churches involved and illustrates their commitment on behalf of the northern natives opposed to the project
