Understanding Domestic Homicide Northeastern Series On Gender Crime And Law:

Understanding Domestic Homicide Neil Websdale,1999-05-28 Case histories of some 300 homicides involving family members framed within their interpersonal familial cultural and situational contexts In the Company of Men James Gruber,Phoebe Morgan,2005 Despite over twenty years of discussion and study sexual harassment remains a significant problem in the workplace Current research focusing on organizational policy and women s career development often ignores the reality of male dominance prevalent in areas such as the military the police and firefighting occupations that see not only more frequent but also more severe harassment even sexual assault Meanwhile new evidence points to the fact that men are largely responsible not only for the harassment of women but for most harassment of other men as well This landmark collection of original essays investigates the links between male dominance and sexual harassment in light of new research and more complex understandings of masculinity Treated not merely as a matter of worker sex ratios but as an inherent element of workplace culture male dominance is observed from a variety of quantitative and qualitative approaches ranging from criminology and sociology to psychology and gender studies Integrating both men s and women s viewpoints research across occupational groups and studies from both the United States and Europe the chapters provide an invaluable international perspective into two inextricably intertwined problems rooted in cultural constructions of gender and institutional roles and processes IBSS: Sociology: 1999 ,2000-12-07 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge on the social sciences The Future of Batterer Programs Edward W. Gondolf,2012-04-10 A critical assessment of the research related to batterer programs with recommendations for heightened engagement of men ongoing risk management and better coordination of courts and services Sex Offenses and the Men who Commit Them Michelle L. Meloy,2006 A surprising and provocative reevaluation of community efforts to police sex offenders on probation Gendered Hate Jessica P. Hodge,2011 A unique analysis of hate crime law through the lens of gender Victim Advocacy in the Courtroom Mary Lay Schuster,Amy D. Proppen,2011 This volume examines sentencing hearings in criminal court and the presentation of victim impact statements as well as child protection cases in juvenile court and the recommendations of guardians ad litem GALs Through interviews observations and textual analysis all deeply grounded in an innovative court watch program the authors illuminate the most effective persuasive practices of victim advocates and GALs as they help protect the rights and needs of victims of domestic violence sexual assault and child abuse Mary Lay Schuster and Amy D Proppen offer nuanced interpretations of these strategies in the courtroom setting and provide an understanding of how to develop successful advocacy for vulnerable parties in the legal arena Gender And Community Policing Susan L. Miller,1999-11-04 A look at the contradictions that emerge when a traditional paramilitary institution is challenged to expand its ideology and practice Out in the Storm Gail A. Caputo,2008 Out in the Storm examines thirty

eight drug addicted women in the Philadelphia area who have taken up shoplifting and sex work to finance their habits and their lives Back cover Neither Angels nor Demons Kathleen Ferraro, 2015-12-01 She is a victim of intimate partner violence a woman who has been harmed She is a criminal offender a woman who has harmed others Superficially it seems she is two separate women Victim and offender are binary categories used within law social science and public discourse to describe social experiences with a moral dimension Such terms draw upon cultural narratives of good and bad people and have influenced scholarship public policy and activism The duality of good and bad women separated into mutually exclusive extremes of angels and demons has helped segregate thinking about and responses to each group In this groundbreaking study Kathleen J Ferraro exposes the limits of such thinking by exploring the link between victimization and offending from the perspective of the women charged with the crimes Interviewing forty five women charged with criminal offenses more than half of whom killed their abusers the others participated in a range of violent crimes related to domestic violence Ferraro uses their stories to illuminate complex interactions with violent partners their children and the legal system She shows that these women are neither stereotypical angels nor demons but rather human beings whose complicated lives belie the abstract categorizations of researchers legal advocates and the criminal justice system Ferraro begins with a general discussion of blurred boundaries and the complexity of experience and moves from there to discuss women s interactions with the criminal processing system In the course of her study she reexamines and finds wanting many standard ways of evaluating women s violent behavior including mutual combat battered woman syndrome and cycle of violence She argues that a more complex nuanced understanding of intimate partner violence and how it contributes to women s offending will contribute to public policy less focused on control and accountability of individuals than on developing social conditions that promote everyone s safety and well being and foster a sense of hope
