Understanding Environmental Policy Processes Cases From Africa:

Understanding Environmental Policy Processes James Keeley, 2014-10-14 A critical analysis of the post Rio consensus on environment and development which questions the role of particular forms of internationalized elite scientific expertise It asks why certain understandings of environmental change stick with such tenacity In exploring this the authors unravel the politics of knowledge surrounding policymaking looking particularly at Ethiopia Mali and Zimbabwe and their land and soils management The book also looks at prospects for more inclusive participatory forms of policymaking

Understanding Environmental Policy Processes I. Scoones, J. Keeley, Economic and Social Research Council, 2000

The Policy Process in International Environmental Governance S. Aggarwal-Khan, 2011-11-30 This book questions the practices in the policy processes of international institutions It looks at the formal and informal practices that are routinely undertaken as part of the structure of international policy processes and analyses how people behave and with what outcome for international environmental governance

Environmental Policy Processes Surrounding South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations: Tensions, Debates and Responses in Waste Product Regulation Godwell Nhamo, 2008-01-31 This study was conducted in South Africa South Africa is the first country within the Southern African Development Community to have regulated plastic shopping bags waste through the imposition of both a standard on thickness and a levy Given this scenario the Plastic Bags Regulations present an illustrative case for researching complexity uncertainty and controversies surrounding a new trend in environmental policy making namely waste product regulation The thesis focuses on understanding and investigating tensions debates and responses emerging from the policy process as actors and actor networks put not only the Plastic Bags Regulations into circulation as focal actant token but also other actants and actant networks as well To this end a research question that addressed environmental policies tensions debates and responses that informed the development of South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations was spelt out The research objectives included the need to 1 analyse selected international environmental policy processes surrounding plastic shopping bags litter and waste regulation and how these influenced developments in South Africa 2 identify actors actants and actor actant networks that shaped and were being transformed by South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations and explain the tensions debates and responses arising in the policy processes 3 identify environmental policy outputs and assess outcomes emerging from the formulation and implementation of South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations and 4 establish patterns in environmental policy process reforms around South Africa's Plastic Bags Regulations The language of actors human actants non human and actor actant networks brings to the fore the aspects of processes and relationships that exist around them As such insights from the actor actant network theory AANT were drawn upon to inform the research AANT enquiry framework collapses binaries such as nature society art science structure agency and global local historically associated with a particular type of social theory AANT also denies that purely technical scientific or social relations are possible the notion of quasi objects or token

Data sets were generated following the Plastic Bags Regulations as token actant with time frames ranging from prior to during and after the formulation of the regulations Similarly data analysis drew insights from AANT s four moments of translation namely problematisation interessement enrolment and mobilisation with the intervention theory providing an evaluative perspective that complemented AANT The findings were that after the promulgation of the first draft of the Plastic Bags Regulations in May 2000 tensions emerged around the nature of regulation whether command and control preferred by government or self regulation preferred by industry and labour In this regard the latter group raised concerns about jobs income and equipment loss as well as the need to have a holistic approach to waste management rather than targeting a single product at a time whilst the former maintained that this would not be so As such education awareness and stringent antilitter penalties were proposed by industry and labour as sustainable responses to the problem of plastic shopping bags waste rather than regulation These debates continued and resulted in minor amendments to the original regulations as finalised by Government in May 2002 However industry and labour continued lobbying government resulting in the conclusion of the Plastic Bags Agreement in September 2002 and the ultimate repulsion of the May 2002 regulations in May 2003 As revealed by this research these responses led to broader social responses and further tensions as demand for plastic shopping bags went down by about 80% although an estimated 1000 jobs were lost and a number of companies lost equipment and business with some closing down following the implementation of Sustainable Options J. N. Blignaut, Martin P. De Wit, 2004 This well researched important text argues a case for the use of environmental resource economics ERE as an analytic framework for the conceptualisation and design of sustainable policy options Sustainable options integrates economic theories and concepts on the one hand with social and environmental challenges on the other Applying ERE in a developing context like that of South Africa is critical given the country s dependence on natural and environmental assets The sustainability of the economy and the welfare of the country s people are at stake Environmental management is therefore an economic concern This is illustrated clearly in the first section of the book which examines a broad range of welfare indicators thus providing an overview of the macroeconomic performance of the South African economy Sustainable options is not only for academics and students from the economic political and biophysical sciences The book s hands on approach and explicit linkages to the real world of economic development makes it invaluable for policy makers and environmental practitioners faced with the daunting task of making trade offs between developmental and environmental concerns Engaging Environmental Education ,2010-01-01 As more attention is devoted to the increasing and complex socio ecological issues facing the planet new insights and new ways of thinking are being sought about the learning and agency of children and adults in relation to these environmental concerns The contributors to this book address the critically important dual challenge of making environmental education engaging while engaging individuals institutions and communities Rather than treating students and citizens as passive recipients of other people s knowledge the book highlights the importance of engaging learners as active agents in thinking about and constructing a more sustainable and equitable quality of life. The case studies emphasize socio cultural approaches to environmental learning within and outside formal education in a diverse range of international contexts including Canada, Denmark, Korea, the Netherlands, South Africa, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and the United States. The authors not only illuminate the challenges and complexity of engaging youth and adults in meaningful learning as well as informed action on complex environmental issues but also document and offer important insights into promising ways in which these challenges might be addressed. In addition to the many stimulating ideas and strategies for building the learning capacities of individuals and organizations for creating ecologically sustainable communities and societies, further important questions are raised that educators, policymakers, and researchers might consider.

Knowledge, Policy and Power in International Development Harry Jones, Nicola A. Jones, Louise Shaxson, David Walker, 2012-04-18. This book presents an academically rigorous yet practical guide to efforts to understand how knowledge, policy, and power interact to promote or prevent change. It offers a power analysis perspective on the knowledge policy process, illustrated with rich empirical examples from the field of international development, combined with practical guidance on the implications of such an approach. It provides ways to identify and address problems that have hampered previous attempts to improve the space between knowledge and policy, such as difficulties in analysing political context, persistent asymmetric relationships between actors, ignorance of the contributions of different types of knowledge, and misconceptions of the roles played by intermediary organisations. Most importantly, the book gives readers the ability to develop strategies for negotiating the complexity of the knowledge policy interface more effectively so as to contribute to policy dialogues, influence policy change, and implement policies and programmes more effectively. The authors focus on the dynamics of the knowledge policy interface in international development, offering novel theoretical insights and methodological approaches that are applicable to a broader array of policy arenas and their audiences, including academics, practitioners, and students.

Reference Guide to Africa Alfred Kagan, Atoma Batoma, 2014-10-16. This third edition of the Reference Guide to Africa explains the most important resources for the study of the continent of Africa. It contains a general sources section and a larger disciplinary oriented section. All sources are annotated. A new edition is sorely needed since the last edition was published nine years ago. The previous editions have been successfully used in research libraries worldwide since 1999 and it has been used to teach several African studies research courses. The book provides an orientation for researching almost any topic in the arts, humanities, and social sciences concerning the continent of Africa and all of its countries and ethnic groups. The first part explains and lists portals, databases, bibliographies, indexes, guides, encyclopedias, country sources, biography, primary sources, government publications, and statistics. The second part presents 16 subject oriented chapters, mostly in the arts, humanities, and social sciences, from agriculture and food security to women studies. It covers sources that broadly cover the continent or in some cases only North Africa and the Middle East. It generally excludes sources limited to one country or region of Africa except for North Africa because of the nature of the literature One third of the sources in this edition are new and nearly half of them are available in electronic format There are author title and subject indexes This unique work is intended for students teachers librarians and researchers It likely will be used most by reference librarians and teachers for students in high school through graduate studies It will also be used independently by undergraduate and graduate students It can be used to answer simple reference questions provide the resources for an undergraduate paper or for comprehensive work by advanced students and researchers

Trade-offs in Conservation

Nigel Leader-Williams, William M. Adams, Robert J. Smith, 2011-06-13 This book demonstrates that trade offs can be very important for conservationists Its various chapters show how and why trade offs are made and why conservationists need to think very hard about what if anything to do about them The book argues that conservationists must carefully weigh up and be explicit about the trade offs that they make every day in deciding what to save Key Features Discusses the wider non biological issues that surround making decisions about which species and biogeographic areas to prioritise for conservation Focuses on questions such as What are these wider issues that are influencing the decisions we make What factors need to be included in our assessment of trade offs What package of information and issues do managers need to consider in making a rational decision Who should make such decisions Part of the Conservation Science and Practice book series This volume is of interest to policy makers researchers practitioners and postgraduate students who are concerned about making decisions that include recognition of trade offs in conservation planning

Child Abuse and Neglect in Uganda David

Kaawa-Mafigiri, Eddy Joshua Walakira, 2017-01-20 This book provides a unique perspective on addressing issues of various forms of violence against children from scholars within their own country Bringing together cross disciplinary expertise this volume addresses a vast range of topics related to child abuse and neglect in Uganda Exploring areas from the protection of street children to cultural proverbs related to child maltreatment this volume examines issues both specific to the Ugandan contexts as well as broadly experienced in child maltreatment work in non Euro American countries This book surveys the breadth of the child protection field covering issues of children s universal rights challenges of protection and ethical quandaries in researching and addressing maltreatment
