University North Carolina Civil War:

North Carolina in the Civil War Michael C. Hardy, 2011-08-04 Civil War scholar Michael Hardy delves into the story of North Carolina's Confederate past from civilians to soldiers as these Tar Heels proved they were a force to be reckoned with. First at Bethel, farthest at Gettysburg and Chickamauga and last at Appomattox is a phrase that is often used to encapsulate the role of North Carolina's Confederate soldiers. Tar Heels witnessed the pitched battles of New Bern, Averysboro and Bentonville as well as incursions like Sherman's March and Stoneman's Raid. The state was one of the last to leave the Union but contributed more men and sustained more dead than any other Southern state. This inclusive history of the Old North State is a must read for any Civil War buff. North Carolina Civil War Monuments Douglas J. Butler, 2013-05-11 Monuments honoring leaders and victorious armies have been raised throughout history. Following the American Civil War, however, this tradition expanded and by the early twentieth century the Confederate dead and surviving veterans, although defeated in battle, ranked among the world's most commemorated troops. This memorialization described in North Carolina Civil War Monuments evolved through a challenging and contentious process accomplished over decades. Prompted by the need to rebury wartime dead, memorialization led by women first expressed regional grief and mourning then expanded into a vital aspect of Southern memory. In North Carolina, 109 Civil War monuments, 101 honoring Confederate troops and eight commemorating Union forces, were raised prior to the Civil War centennial. Photographs showcase each memorial while committee records, legal documents and contemporaneous accounts are used to detail the difficult process through which these monuments were erected. Their design, location and funding reflect not only the period's sculptural and cultural milieu but also reveal one state's evolving grief and the forging of public memory. North Carolina Civil War Documentary W. Buck Yearns, John Gilchrist Barrett, 2002-02-01 This collection of primary source material chronicles the Civil War experiences of North Carolinians from the secession crisis to the Confederate surrender at Bennett Place. In contrast to other works on the Civil War, this book focuses not on military events. The 55th North Carolina in the Civil War Jeffrey M. Girvan, 2013-01-25 This comprehensive history tells the story of the men who served in the 55th North Carolina from its formation in 1862 through its dissolution in 1865. Drawing on letters, memoirs, diaries and recollections, it depicts the Civil War through the eyes of the soldiers, showing what it was like to fight for the Confederacy. While providing information on the battles in which the 55th North Carolina took part, including the little-known Suffolk campaign, the main focus of the work is the life of the men, the ever-present influence of politics and religion as well as the effects of disease and combat. Appendices provide a breakdown of the companies in the regiment, the regimental roster, a list of men who died of disease and a record of the men from the 55th who were killed in battle. Contemporary photographs are also included. The Civil War in North Carolina, Volume 2: The Mountains Christopher M. Watford, 2018-02-23 You will perceive by this I am at least in the Confederate service. Since I have been here I have had a severe sickness but am glad to say at present I am well though I fear my sickness would have incapacitated me for active service In all probability our regiment will be stationed here permanently for the winter to guard the bridge across the Watauga River Private John H Phillips Company E 62nd Regiment NC Troops Camp Carter Tennessee October 13 1862 This work presents letters and diary entries and a few other documents that tell the Civil War experiences of soldiers and civilians from the mountain counties of North Carolina Alleghany Ashe Buncombe Burke Caldwell Cherokee Clay Haywood Henderson Jackson McDowell Macon Madison Mitchell Polk Rutherford Surry Transylvania Watauga Wilkes and Yancey The book is arranged chronologically 1861 through 1865 Before each letter or diary entry background information is provided about the writer Gaston County, North Carolina, in the Civil War Robert C. Carpenter, 2016-04-27 Civil War histories typically center on the deeds of generals and sweeping depictions of battle This unique study of one Southern county s war experience tells of ordinary soldiers and their wives mothers and children slaves farmers merchants Unionists and deserters through an examination of tax records The recently discovered 1863 Gaston County North Carolina tax list provides a detailed economic and social picture of a war weary community recording what taxpayers owned cataloging slaves by name age and monetary value and assessing luxury items Contemporary diaries letters and other previously unpublished documents complete the picture describing cotton mill operations the lives of slaves political disagreements rationales for soldiers enlistments and desertions and economic struggles on the home front Civil War in the North Carolina Quaker Belt William T. Auman, 2014-01-22 This is an account of the seven military operations conducted by the Confederacy against deserters and disloyalists and the concomitant internal war between secessionists and those who opposed secession in the Quaker Belt of central North Carolina It explains how the outliers deserters and draft dodgers managed to elude capture and survive despite extensive efforts by Confederate authorities to hunt them down and return them to the army The author discusses the development of the secret underground pro Union organization the Heroes of America and how its members utilized the Underground Railroad dug out caves and an elaborate system of secret signals and communications to elude the hunters Numerous instances of murder rape torture and other brutal acts and many skirmishes between gangs of deserters and Confederate and state troops are recounted In a revisionist interpretation of the Tar Heel wartime peace movement the author argues that William Holden s peace crusade was in fact a Copperhead insurgency in which peace agitators strove for a return of North Carolina and the South to the Union on the Copperhead basis that is with the institution of slavery protected by the Constitution in the returning states The Civil War in North Carolina: The Piedmont Christopher M. Watford, 2003 I think that we can hold our position here against any force that the enemy can bring against us as we have an admirable position are all ready I can give you no idea when the general attack will take place It may be this evening tomorrow or at any moment as both parties are apparently ready we have nothing to do but pitch in Captain Charles C Blacknall Granville Rifles Company G 23rd North Carolina Troops Yorktown Virginia April 22 1862 This work is a compilation of letters and diary entries and a few other documents such as a petition a transfer request
