Widow to Widow Genevieve Davis Ginsburg, 1997 Death and Dying John F. Szabo, 2009-11-02 While it can be traced to the 1700s the term thanatology has gained traction in recent decades to refer to the study of death Because of the breadth of the published material and the challenges of discovery in large bibliographic databases and catalogs finding and identifying monographic material on death dying grief and bereavement can be extremely challenging Although there have been several bibliographical resources published on thanatology those titles were incomplete limited in scope or leaned heavily toward one area of the field In Death and Dying An Annotated Bibliography of the Thanatological Literature John F Szabo provides more than 2 200 citations of monographs on the science and study of death and dying Among the areas this volume addresses are the psychological philosophical and attitudinal aspects coping and dealing with the burdens of caregiving and working in the helping professions instructional and educational topics for practitioners primarily health care providers cultural differences in bereavement rituals and grief mourning and loss In addition notable titles on or relating to death and dying in popular culture death themes in literature methods of death or specific ethical policy or public issues are also included when they contribute important information to subject areas on which the book focuses This book will be helpful to students researchers academics caregivers health care professionals psychologists social workers and anyone with an interest in death dying bereavement or the care of the terminally ill

Helping Those Experiencing Loss Robert J. Grover Professor Emeritus, Susan G. Fowler, 2011-07-13 This book provides a guide for grieving youth and adults as well as extensive descriptive lists of recommended professional literature resources Grief caused by loss is both a very common human experience and a highly individualized one For example children experience a number of losses that are unique to their young age such as sibling and parent death adoption or divorce and should be given special consideration by professionals and parents helping them in these situations For gay lesbian or cohabiting heterosexual couples that suffer the loss of a partner societal standards often deny the survivors in these relationships the right to grieve Helping Those Experiencing Loss A Guide to Grieving Resources is a book like no other supplying compassionate information for navigating the emotional distress that every man and woman will experience in their lifetime as well as a comprehensive guide to the literature of bereavement and grieving It explains the grieving process interpreting the results of research on the topic in plain language and addressing specific groups children young adults parents who have lost a child adults who have lost spouses and the aging population CUT LOOSE Nan

Bauer-Maglin,2006-06-14 Although breakups whether celebrity or everyday are a constant source of fascination surprisingly little attention has been given to women who are cut loose in their later years This is a book about mostly long term relationships that have come apart Each woman involved the majority of whom are over sixty tells of her experience through journal entries essays poetry or stories Although in many senses they have been abandoned they have also been set free untethered and for some liberated sexually mentally or emotionally The book is divided into two major sections The pieces in the first part are personal narratives Among the varied voices we hear from women in both heterosexual and same sex relationships who have been left by their partners or who have decided to leave them In the second section the contributors look at being left and leaving from psychological sociological economic sexual medical anthropological and literary perspectives Other essays explore the shared experiences of specific classes of women such as single women widows or abandoned daughters On Your Own Alexandra Armstrong,Mary R.
