Who Is Charlie Xenophobia And The New Middle Class:

Who is Charlie?: Xenophobia and the New Middle Class Emmanuel Todd, 2015-10-02 In the wake of the attack on the offices of Charlie Hebdo in Paris on 7 January 2015 millions took to the streets to demonstrate their revulsion expressing a desire to reaffirm the ideals of the French Republic liberté, égalité, fraternité. But who were the millions of demonstrators who were suddenly united under the single cry of Je suis Charlie? In this probing new book Emmanuel Todd investigates the cartography and sociology of the three to four million who marched in Paris and across France and draws some unsettling conclusions. For while they claimed to support liberal republican values the real middle classes who marched on that day of indignant protest also had a quite different programme in mind one that was far removed from their proclaimed ideal. Their deep values were in fact more reminiscent of the most depressing aspects of France's national history: conservatism, selfishness, domination and inequality. By identifying the anthropological, religious, economic and political forces that brought France to the edge of the abyss Todd reveals the real dangers posed to all western societies when the interests of privileged middle classes work against marginalised and immigrant groups. Should we really continue to mistreat young people, force the children of immigrants to live on the outskirts of our cities, consign the poorer classes to the remoter parts of the country, demonise Islam and allow the growth of an ever more menacing anti-Semitism? While asking uncomfortable questions and offering no easy solutions Todd points to the difficult and uncertain path that might lead to an accommodation with Islam rather than a deepening and divisive confrontation.

Radicalized Loyalties Fabien Truong, 2018-06-11 There is widespread concern today about the radicalization of young muslim men and the deprived areas of Western cities are believed to have become breeding grounds of home grown extremism. But how do young Muslims growing up in the cities of the West really live? This book takes us beyond the rhetoric and into the housing estates on the outskirts of Paris to meet Adama Radouane Hassan Tarik Marley and a shadowy figure whose name suddenly and brutally became known to the world at the time of the Charlie Hebdo shootings: Amadou Coulibaly. Seeing Amadou through the eyes of close friends and other young Muslim men in the neighbourhoods where they grew up Fabien Truong uncovers a network of competing loyalties and maps the road these youths take to resolve the conflicts they face becoming Muslim. For these young men Islam stands often alone as a resource, a gateway as if it were the last route to escape without betrayal and to fight in a meaningful and noble way. Becoming Muslim does not necessarily lead to the radicalized other. It is more like a long distance race, a powerful reconversion of the self that allows for introspection and change. But it can also lead to a belligerent presentation of the self that transforms a dead end into a call to arms.

Islam in a Post-Secular Society Dustin Byrd, 2017-04-11 Islam in the Post Secular Society: Religion, Secularity and the Antagonism of Recalcitrant Faith critically examines the unique challenges facing Muslims in Europe and North America. From the philosophical perspective of the Frankfurt School's Critical Theory this book attempts not only to diagnose the current problems stemming from a marginalization of Islam in the secular West but also to offer a proposal for a Habermasian discourse between the religious and the secular By highlighting historical examples of Islamic and western rapprochement and rejecting the clash of civilization thesis the author attempts to find a common language between the religious and the secular which can serve as a vehicle for a future reconciliation

Global Media Ethics and the Digital Revolution Nouredine Miladi, 2021-11-29 This volume responds to the challenges posed by the rapid developments in satellite TV and digital technologies addressing media ethics from a global perspective to discuss how we can understand journalism practice in its cultural contexts An international team of contributors draw upon global and non Western traditions to discuss the philosophical origins of ethics and the tension that exists between media institutions the media market and political ideological influencers The chapters then unveil the discrepancies among international journalists in abiding by the ethics of the profession and the extent to which media ethics are understood and applied in their local context environment Arguing that the legitimacy of ethics comes not from the definition per se but from the extent to which it leads to social good the book posits this should be the media's raison d'être to abide by globally accepted ethical norms in order to serve the common good Taking a truly global approach to the question of media ethics this volume will be an important resource for scholars and students of journalism communication studies media studies sociology politics and cultural studies

From Multiculturalism to Democratic Discrimination Alberto Spektorowski, Daphna Elfersy, 2020-12-10 The effect of Islam on Western Europe has been profound Spektorowski and Elfersy argue that it has transformed European democratic values by inspiring an ultra liberalism that now faces an ultra conservative backlash Questions of what to do about Muslim immigration how to deal with burqas how to deal with gender politics have all been influenced by western democracies grappling with ideas of inclusion and most recently exclusion This book examines those forces and ultimately sees not an unbridgeable gap but a future in which Islam and European democracies are compatible rich and evolving

Lineages of Modernity Emmanuel Todd, 2019-06-10 In most developed countries there is a palpable sense of confusion about the contemporary state of the world Much that was taken for granted a decade or two ago is being questioned and there is a widespread urge to try and understand how we reached our present situation and where we are heading In this major new book the leading sociologist historical anthropologist and demographer Emmanuel Todd sheds fresh light on our current predicament by reconstructing the historical dynamics of human societies from the Stone Age to the present Eschewing the tendency to attribute special causal significance to the economy Todd develops an anthropological account of history focusing on the long term dynamics of family systems and their links to religion and ideology what he sees as the slow moving unconscious level of society in contrast to the conscious level of the economy and politics He also analyses the dramatic changes brought about by the spread of education This enables him to explain the different historical trajectories of the advanced nations and the growing divergence between them a divergence that can be observed in such phenomena as the rise of the Anglosphere in the modern period the paradox of a Homo americanus who is both innovative and archaic the startling electoral success of Donald Trump the lack of realism in the will to power shown by Germany and China the emergence of stable authoritarian democracy in Russia the new introversion of Japan and the recent turbulent developments in Europe including Brexit This magisterial account of human history brings into sharp focus the massive transformations taking place in the world today and shows that these transformations have less to do with the supposedly homogenizing effects of globalization and the various reactions to it than with an ethnic diversity that is deeply rooted in the long history of human evolution

Facing Terrorism in France Florence Faucher, G r me Truc, 2022-04-12 From 2015 Europe was hit by a new wave of terrorist attacks coordinated or supported by an international Islamist organization ISIS but sometimes also perpetrated by citizens of the targeted country the attacks on Paris Brussels London Manchester Nice and Barcelona probably attracted most attention but the most dramatic were perpetrated in Paris in January and November 2015 These events shook the foundations of French society not only because of their magnitude but also because of the symbolic nature of the targets Whilst in January the targets were carefully selected as emblematic of France the satirical weekly Charlie Hebdo the police forces the Jewish community and of European liberal values journalists and cartoonists in November the victims ordinary people enjoying music sports and restaurants The book offers a unique interdisciplinary investigation into the complex responses of French society from the individual level survivors of the Bataclan attack emotional citizens paying homage to the victims French Muslims to the meso level of civic association and web communities and the macro level of the State and public opinion

The Anthropological Turn Jacob Collins, 2020-04-24 A close look at post 1968 French thinkers Rgis Debray Emmanuel Todd Marcel Gauchet and Alain de Benoist In The Anthropological Turn Jacob Collins traces the development of what he calls a tradition of political anthropology in France over the course of the 1970s After the social revolution of the 1960s brought new attention to identities and groups that had previously been marginal in French society the country entered a period of stagnation the economy slowed the political system deadlocked and the ideologies of communism and Catholicism lost their appeal In this time of political cultural and economic indeterminacy political anthropology as Collins defines it offered social theorists grand narratives that could give greater definition to the social by anchoring its laws and histories in the deep and sometimes archaic past Political anthropologists sought to answer the most basic of questions what is politics and what constitutes a political community Collins focuses on four influential yet typically overlooked French thinkers Rgis Debray Emmanuel Todd Marcel Gauchet and Alain de Benoist who from Left to far Right represent different political leanings in France Through a close and comprehensive reading of their work he explores how key issues of religion identity citizenship and the state have been conceptualized and debated across a wide spectrum of opinion in contemporary France Collins argues that the stakes have not changed since the 1970s and rival conceptions of the republic continue to vie for dominance Political and cultural issues of the moment the burkini for example become magnified and take on the character of an anthropological threat In this respect he shows how the anthropological turn as it figures in
