lens of culture If we begin from the premises of justice and believing in a God of justice then hegemonic ways of understating leadership should be null and void Acknowledging that human beings are created in the image and likeness of God demands that we act differently What this has meant is to challenge injustice in leadership by men and women in partnership The circle of concerned African women theologians in Africa where Rev Edith Chemorion is a member has over the years provided safe spaces for mentoring women to research and write about the experiences of women but much more so to call for justice in all areas including the study of theological education and for leadership in the churches This has borne results because of the partnership of men and women Reverend Edith s contributions to the rallying call is that society moves from hegemony to partnership in all fronts but especially in offering leadership by all We are strong when we partner and we image God s will for society in partnership Prof Esther Mombo Lecturer Faculty of Theology St Paul s University Limuru Kenya Discovering Biblical Equality Ronald W. Pierce,Cynthia Long Westfall,Christa L. McKirland,2021-11-02 The conversation about gender roles in Christian life and the church has evolved but the topic continues to inspire debate and disagreement Now in its third edition this fresh positive defense of gender equality brings together scholars firmly committed to the authority of Scripture to explore historical biblical theological cultural and practical aspects of this discussion

Elizabeth Gray,2009-09-10 Women in the Victorian period were acknowledged to be the religious sex but their relationship to the doctrines practices and hierarchies of Christianity was both highly circumscribed which has been well documented and complexly creative which has not Gray visits the importance of the literature of Christian devotion to women's creative lives through an examination of the varied ways in which Victorian women reproduced and recreated traditional Christian texts in their own poetic texts. Investigating how women poets redeployed the discourse of Christianity to uncover the multiple voices of the scriptures to expand identity and gender constructions and to question traditional narratives and processes of authorization, Gray contends that women found in religious poetry unexpected liberating possibilities. Taking into account multiple voices from the best known female poets of the day to some of the most obscure, this study provides a comprehensive account of Victorian women's religious poetic creativity and argues that this body of work helped shape the development of the lyric in the Victorian period.
