Whiskey Tango Foxtrot A Photographers Chronicle Of The Iraq War:

Whiskey Tango Foxtrot Ashley Gilbertson, 2007 An account of the author's experience in Iraq presents photographs and commentary that convey the terror and exhilaration of photojournalism in an age of embedded reporting Killing for Show Julian Stallabrass, 2020-10-30 See firsthand how war photography is used to sway public opinion In the autumn of 2014 the Royal Air Force released blurry video of a missile blowing up a pickup truck which may have had a weapon attached to its flatbed This was a lethal form of gesture politics to send a 9 million bomber from Cyprus to Iraq and back burning 35 000 an hour in fuel to launch a smart missile costing 100 000 to destroy a truck or rather to create a video that shows it being destroyed Some lives are ended it is impossible to tell whose so that the government can pretend that it taking effective action by creating a high budget snuff movie This is killing for show Since the Vietnam War the way we see conflict through film photographs and pixels has had a powerful impact on the political fortunes of the campaign and the way that war has been conducted In this fully illustrated and passionately argued account of war imagery Julian Stallabrass tells the story of post war conflict how it was recorded and remembered through its iconic photography The relationship between war and photograph is constantly in transition forming new perspectives provoking new challenges what is allowed to be seen Does an image have the power to change political opinion How are images used to wage war Stallabrass shows how photographs have become a vital weapon in the modern war as propaganda from close quarters fighting to the drone's electronic vision as well as a witness to the barbarity of events such as the My Lai massacre the violent suppression of insurgent Fallujah or the atrocities in Abu Ghraib Through these accounts Stallabrass maps a comprehensive theoretical re evaluation of the relationship between war politics and visual culture Killing for Show offers 190 photographs encompassing photojournalism artists images photographs by soldiers and amateurs and drones A comprehensive comparison of the role of photography in the Vietnam and Iraq Wars An explanation of the waning power of iconic images in collective memory An analysis of the failure of military PR and the public display of killing A focus on what can and cannot be seen photographed and published An exploration of the power and limits of amateur photography Arguments about how violent images act on democracy This full color book is an essential volume in the history of warfare and photography U.S. Militarism and the Terrain of Memory John Bechtold, 2024-08-01 This book analyzes how the Iraqi city of Fallujah became registered as a setting for military heroics in American memory In 2004 the U S military conducted two disastrous assaults in Fallujah Iraq More than 1 000 citizens were killed and according to the military's own estimate upwards of 200 000 people were displaced because of the violence Yet despite this human catastrophe the kind of information that emerged in the public domain during the battle foregrounded the soldier's experience in war while effacing the destruction of Iraqi bodies This tendency to foreground the soldier body is a direct result of the military's intervention in what they conceptualize as the information environment This book draws from the second assault in Fallujah as a case study to explicate the military's investment in this perspectival space which is a consequence both of the mediatization of contemporary war and of the need to influence knowledge considered unfavorable to military operations In short the military enlists the media in their targeting process to produce information that is then deployed as persuasive force to modify the beliefs of specific target populations When the cultural texts produced by the media are remediated in the public domain after war they can be thought of as martial constructs because they originated during war through the military's systemized attempt to influence knowledge That is these texts trace to a specific battlefield objective This book reframes the notion of propaganda as a generalized public relations strategy into a more acute and coordinated attempt to decontextualize specific knowledge in the information environment This book will be of much interest to students of media and communication studies war studies memory studies and international relations A Companion to American Military History James C. Bradford, 2009-11-03 With more than 60 essays A Companion to American Military History presents a comprehensive analysis of the historiography of United States military history from the colonial era to the present Covers the entire spectrum of US history from the Indian and imperial conflicts of the seventeenth century to the battles in Afghanistan and Iraq Features an unprecedented breadth of coverage from eminent military historians and emerging scholars including little studied topics such as the military and music military ethics care of the dead and sports Surveys and evaluates the best scholarship on every important era and topic Summarizes current debates and identifies areas where conflicting interpretations are in need of further study The Routledge Companion to Photography and Visual Culture

Moritz Neumüller, 2018-09-21 The Routledge Companion to Photography and Visual Culture is a seminal reference source for the ever changing field of photography Comprising an impressive range of essays and interviews by experts and scholars from across the globe this book examines the medium's history its central issues and emerging trends and its much discussed future The collected essays and interviews explore the current debates surrounding the photograph as object art document propaganda truth selling tool and universal language the perception of photography archives as burdens rather than treasures the continual technological development reshaping the field photography as a tool of representation and control and more One of the most comprehensive volumes of its kind this companion is essential reading for photographers and historians alike

War Culture and the Contest of Images Dora Apel, 2012-10-19 War Culture and the Contest of Images analyzes the relationships among contemporary war documentary practices and democratic ideals Dora Apel examines a wide variety of images and cultural representations of war in the United States and the Middle East including photography performance art video games reenactment and social media images Simultaneously she explores the merging of photojournalism and artistic practices the effects of visual framing and the construction of both sanctioned and counter hegemonic narratives in a global contest of images As a result of the global visual culture in which anyone may produce as well as consume public imagery the wide variety of visual and documentary practices present realities that would otherwise be invisible or officially off limits In our digital era the prohibition and control of images has become nearly impossible to maintain Using carefully chosen case studies such as Krzysztof Wodiczko's video projections and public works in response to 9/11 and the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan the performance works of Coco Fusco and Regina Galindo and the practices of Israeli and Palestinian artists Apel posits that contemporary war images serve as mediating agents in social relations and as a source of protection or refuge for those robbed of formal or state sanctioned citizenship While never suggesting that documentary practices are objective translations of reality Apel shows that they are powerful polemical tools both for legitimizing war and for making its devastating effects visible In modern warfare and in the accompanying culture of war that capitalism produces as a permanent feature of modern society she asserts that the contest of images is as critical as the war on the ground

From Storm to Freedom John R Ballard, 2010-04-15 From Storm to Freedom analyzes and assesses the strategic interaction between Iraq and the United States from 1990 to 2009 from the perspective of a single if discontinuous conflict With this longer term perspective covering both Operation Desert Storm and Operation Iraqi Freedom the book clarifies the long road of war against Iraq This work recounts presents the evolution of counterinsurgency operations from 2003 to 2009 explains the misunderstanding and miscommunication between government leaders in Iraq and the United States throughout the period and describes the ineffective nature of the UN sanctions the inefficient efforts of the Clinton Administration and the impact of the preemptive strategy of the Bush Administration that led to conflict in 2002 The book first identifies the influence of the Vietnam era on the use of U.S. military power and the decision for war in 1990 The book then outlines the important factors of Iraqi history and culture which dominated relations between the two nations during the 1980s and 1990s In subsequent chapters the 1991 campaign of Desert Storm is analyzed from both the U.S. and Iraqi perspectives then the military economic and diplomatic actions of the period between the two more conventional military parts of the conflict are assessed The final chapters analyze the highly successful 2003 conventional campaign from both perspectives the ineffective post war stabilization operations in Iraq which began with the failure to transition under the Coalition Provisional Authority and the eventual development and implementation of a more effective strategy in Iraq combining new doctrine and a Surge of forces to protect the population in a renewed counterinsurgency campaign In a concluding chapter the key lessons for the future are reviewed including the importance of effective strategic decision making and the mindset required to prosecute modern war

Making War at Fort Hood Kenneth T. MacLeish, 2015-03-01 An intimate look at war through the lives of soldiers and their families at Fort Hood Making War at Fort Hood offers an illuminating look at war through the daily lives of the people whose job it is to produce it Kenneth MacLeish conducted a year of intensive fieldwork among soldiers and their families at and around the U.S. Army's Fort Hood in central Texas He shows how war's reach extends far beyond the battlefield into military communities where violence is as routine boring and normal as it is shocking and traumatic Fort Hood is one of the largest military installations in the world and many of the 55,000 personnel based there have served multiple tours in Iraq and Afghanistan MacLeish provides intimate portraits of Fort Hood s soldiers and those closest to them drawing on numerous in depth interviews and diverse ethnographic material He explores the exceptional position that soldiers occupy in relation to violence not only trained to fight and kill but placed deliberately in harm s way and offered up to die The death and destruction of war happen to soldiers on purpose MacLeish interweaves gripping narrative with critical theory and anthropological analysis to vividly describe this unique condition of vulnerability Along the way he sheds new light on the dynamics of military family life stereotypes of veterans what it means for civilians to say thank you to soldiers and other questions about the sometimes ordinary sometimes agonizing labor of making war Making War at Fort Hood is the first ethnography to examine the everyday lives of the soldiers families and communities who personally bear the burden of America s most recent wars

Afterimages

Liam Kennedy, 2016-03 Liam Kennedy here takes as his focus the ways in which selected photographers have sought to frame the activities and effects of American foreign policy often with a critical perspective and how their work engages the dynamics of power and knowledge that attend the American worldview What is at issue in this book is understanding relations between the geopolitical conditions of visibility and the particulars of the image Conditions of visibility for Kennedy are the ideologies that determine certain ways of seeing that support actions and representations which establish in visibilities and which police the relationship between seeing and believing the American worldview The individual photographers whose work Kennedy so insightfully dissects are those who have pushed the boundaries of photographic practice and who reflect critically on the contexts and scenery of war Larry Burrows and Philip Jones Griffiths in Vietnam Gilles Peress covering the Iranian Revolution Susan Meiselas in El Salvador and Nicaragua Ron Haviv and Gary Knight in the Balkans Ashley Gilbertson and Chris Hondros in Iraq and Tim Hetherington and Lynsey Addario in Afghanistan These individuals expanded the conception and technical repertoire of photojournalism receiving critical acclaim provoking public and professional controversy and often incurring great personal cost to themselves Afterimages presents us with a revisionary understanding of the art of conflict photography The images are often searing they sometimes demonize and dehumanize the enemy but also humanize friend or victim a focus on the human roots the range of feeling in such imagery from horror to pity Representations of Pain in Art and Visual Culture Maria Pia Di Bella, James Elkins, 2013-06-26

 The presentation of bodies in pain has been a major concern in Western art since the time of the Greeks. The Christian tradition is closely entwined with such themes from the central images of the Passion to the representations of bloody martyrdoms. The remnants of this tradition are evident in contemporary images from Abu Ghraib. In the last forty years the body in pain has also emerged as a recurring theme in performance art. Recently authors such as Elaine Scarry, Susan Sontag and Giorgio Agamben have written about these themes. The scholars in this volume add to the discussion analyzing representations of pain in art and the media. Their essays are firmly anchored on consideration of the images, not on whatever actual pain the subjects suffered. At issue is representation before and often apart from events in the world. Part One concerns practices in which the appearance of pain is understood as expressive. Topics discussed include the strange dynamics of faked pain and real pain, contemporary performance art, international photojournalism, surrealism and Renaissance and Baroque art. Part Two concerns representations that cannot be readily assigned to that genealogy: the Chinese form of execution known as lingchi, popularly the death of a thousand cuts, whippings in the Belgian Congo, American lynching photographs, Boer War concentration camp photographs and recent American capital punishment. These examples do not comprise a single alternate genealogy but are united by the absence of an intention to represent pain. The book concludes with a roundtable discussion where the authors discuss the ethical implications of viewing such images.

 In The Migrant Image T. J. Demos examines the ways contemporary artists have reinvented documentary practices in their representations of mobile lives: refugees, migrants, the stateless and the politically dispossessed. He presents a sophisticated analysis of how artists from the United States, Europe, North Africa and the Middle East depict the often ignored effects of globalization and the ways their works connect viewers to the lived experiences of political and economic crisis. Demos investigates the cinematic approaches Steve McQueen, the Otolith Group and Hito Steyerl employ to blur the real and imaginary in their films confronting geopolitical conflicts between North and South. He analyzes how Emily Jacir and Ahlam Shibli use blurs, lacuna and blind spots in their photographs, performances and conceptual strategies to directly address the dire circumstances of dislocated Palestinian people. He discusses the disparate interventions of Walid Raad in Lebanon, Ursula Biemann in North Africa and Ayreen Anastas and Rene Gabri in the United States and traces how their works offer images of conflict as much as a conflict of images. Throughout Demos shows the ways these artists creatively propose new possibilities for a politics of equality, social justice and historical consciousness from within the aesthetic domain. The Snares Rav Grewal-Kök, 2025-04-01
